BIG STRIKE IS ORDERED

Structural Men Begin Battle Against Iron League.

THIS CITY AFFECTED

Parks Element Overruled Conservative Offers of President Buchanan.

THOUSANDS WILL BE IDLE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

New York, Oct. 29.—The threat of a national strike by the International association of Bridge and Structural Iron workers to force recognition of Local No. 2 by the Iron league and Employers' association, culminated today at a meeting of the international and local committee of the association held in this city in a resolution being passed ordering a strike over the country, to go into effect Saturday, in all cities where members of the Iron league of the Building Trades Employers' association have contracts.

President Buchanan was in favor of exhausting all efforts to bring about a peaceable settlement, but the Parks element thought this too slow and carried the majority with them. Efforts are to be made to bring the new Housesmiths' union of New York into line.

Notification will be sent tomorrow to all the locals in cities where the members of the Iron league or the employers have contracts for iron work.

The strike will also affect the inside iron work. The cities which will be affected include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Easton, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

The international executive committee estimates that 10,000 iron workers will be directly affected. This would mean the throwing out of work of from 100,000 to 150,000, and possibly more workmen in other grades. President Buchanan would not talk of the national strike today. All he would say was:

"We have made every effort to bring about an amicable settlement. We have won every other fight, and I believe we will win this one."

WEDDING ANNOUNCED AFTER SEVEN MONTHS

New York Rector Tells About Marriage of May Harrington Hanna and E. K. Stallo.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Edmund K. Stallo, who was Mrs. May Harrington Hanna, daughter-in-law of Senator Hanna, has been married seven months. She has proved she is as skilful in arranging affairs matrimonial as she was in planning to defeat Dan Hanna and taking her two boys to Europe in defiance of a court order.

Attired in old clothes the prospective bride and bridegroom went to St. James' church, their carriage being an old cab that has done all-night service for many a year, their chaperon a pewholder of the church. The rector did not know them. When they explained for family reasons they wanted their marriage kept secret and no notification sent to the board of health, the rector protested that he would be fined $100 if he made no return. But the witness said he would pay the fine.

When the rector, who never marries divorced persons, learned today that the wedding had been announced in the newspapers he said:

"I had not the slightest idea of the identity of the couple. When one of my pewholders said it was all right I believed him. I kept the secret all right. They can find no fault on that score. None except their own witness, Dr. May, knew what was transpiring, so it was an easy matter to keep their friends from knowing that they were man and wife.

"If they do not pay the fine, and the board of health gets after me, my wife will have to do without her sealskin coat. Of course, I will have to pay it. I supposed they would tell me when they were ready to announce the fact that they were married."

The wedding was about 11 o'clock in the morning of April 27. Not till May 23 did the first intimation reach the pulpit that Mr. Stallo's attentions to the widow were serious. Then the statement went out from Cincinnati that they were engaged. The next day Mrs. Hanna admitted the engagement. In August Mr. Stallo further confirmed the engagement.

We have no fault to find with the situation."

SUICIDE SOLVES GIRL'S MURDER

Brother of Mabel Bechtel Kills Himself in His Prison Cell.

CLEARS THE MYSTERY

Allentown Police Believe the Dead Prisoner Caused His Sister's Death.

SUFFERED AGONY OF MIND

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 29.—The mystery of the murder of Mabel H. Bechtel, the pretty silk mill girl, who was found dead Tuesday morning in a passageway underneath her residence in the northern end of this city, has been solved beyond all doubt, the police declare. The solution of the crime came in a most sensational and startling manner through the suicide of one of the suspects, Thomas H. Bechtel, former policeman and brother of the murdered girl. Only a short time before Bechtel ended his life, in his cell at the police station, Mayor Lewis received an anonymous letter from Philadelphia saying the girl had been murdered by her brother.

The suicide of Bechtel was a tragic climax to this sensational crime, and the man's self-destruction is accepted by the police as conclusive evidence that he killed his sister. The police say that they have all along believed Bechtel to be guilty, and for that reason they made his bail so high that it was practically impossible for him to secure his release.

Bechtel killed himself between 5 and 6 p. m., using a pocket knife. He and Alfred Eckstein, the murdered girl's fiance, who was also held for the coroner's inquest tonight, were in adjoining cells and were in charge of Sergt. Frank Roth, whose duty it was to see them every two hours. They had been locked up since Tuesday afternoon, when they gave stories to the police that were not regarded as altogether clear. Both protested their innocence, but the police resolved to hold them.

Had Proclaimed Innocence.

Bechtel declared that he knew absolutely nothing about the tragedy, and Eckstein said that although he called at the girl's house on Monday evening he went home early and was in bed at 9 o'clock.

The police now believe that the girl was murdered on Sunday night after her return home, after she had spent a part of the evening with Eckstein and later on with Wiesenberger. She and Eckstein had a quarrel and she then left him and met Wiesenberger, who spent several hours with her. He took her home shortly before midnight, but did not enter the house, as he was not on good terms with the family. She then had a quarrel with her brother Thomas about Wiesenberger and it culminated, the police believe, in her being choked to death by him. After she was dead, say the police, he hit her on the head with the hatchet which was found concealed in the attic.

Sergt. Roth last saw Bechtel in his cell shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was then suffering from great distress of mind, and only a short time before he told Eckstein that he was suffering the agonies of hell. Sergt. Roth had other duties to perform, and he missed the 4:30 visit to Bechtel's cell.

Crowds at Girl's Funeral.

The police cannot account for Thomas' possession of the knife. The funeral of the murdered girl took place this afternoon, the services being held at her late home. It was the family's intention to have the service and interment private but when the undertaker took the remains from his morgue to the Bechtel residence this morning many neighbors, relatives, silk mill associates and other friends called at the home and a stream of people entered the house and filed past the casket.

The inquest on Mabel Bechtel's death began in the mayor's court room this evening.

Miss Ella Heiser testified that Eckstein had tried to strike Miss Bechtel with a castor one evening at the Hotel Allen because he was annoyed over her being in company with another man. One night last winter after attending church together, Eckstein beat Miss Bechtel during a quarrel. Miss Bechtel complained of her mother's bad treatment of her at home. She wanted to come to my place to live because of her love for Weisenberg. Both Mabel Bechtel and Eckstein told witness that they were to have been married October 26, and Mabel said that Eckstein had told her that she would never marry any man but him.

Compared to Virginius.

Police Sergeant Keck testified to finding the hatchet and handle in different drawers of closets on the third floor and to removing a blood stained piece of plaster and wall paper from the wall of the second floor of the front room.

Mayor Lewis received by mail tonight from Philadelphia a typewritten anonymous letter mailed today reading as follows:

She was killed by her brother. The body was taken downstairs with the assistance of the mother and laid in the passageway. The story was then made up between them about the carriage. The struggle with the girl to release herself from the Jew, Weisenberg, who was dragging her down to infamy, culminated that night in a terrible scene, in which the brother, wrought up to madness, killed her. It is the same story, Virginius and his daughter, to save her from Tarquin, with the same result. Tarquin not killed but the child, by Virginius, and so the cursed Jew, Weisenberg, escaped and the girl paid the penalty of her crime.

GARLAND ARRAIGNS JOHNSON'S LABOR RECORD

Former President of Amalgamated Talks of Cleveland Mayor's Mills.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 29.—Tom L. Johnson was thoroughly arraigned tonight on his labor record by M. M. Garland of Pittsburgh, formerly president of the Amalgamated association, and the charge was made that Johnson was in no way the friend of the labor unions of the country. In both the Johnstown and Lorain plants, it was claimed by Mr. Garland, it was found impossible to organize the men.

"Mr. Johnson declared a few weeks ago here that he was in favor of union labor, and encouraged unions in his works," said Mr. Garland. "This was said in answer to questions put to him by President James McMahan of the Blast Furnace Workers' union. Where we find a man who is a friend of the unions, we generally find that unions are organized in his plants. It was not so at Johnstown or at Lorain. We sent organizers there and I went myself. But the association could not be gotten into the plants. Men were discharged for suggesting it.

"I have in my possession the names of many who were thrown out of work on that account. One man at Johnstown was discharged because he spoke to me, when I went there to organize the men, and he got back only when he declared that he had not met me. I have the names of these men who will bear me out in what I say. Mr. Johnson claimed in letters to discharged men, that he was not in charge and could not interfere in the management. That is the old story. At Lorain he himself discharged bricklayers because they would not violate the rules of the union and work ten instead of nine hours a day."

ANDREW CARNEGIE ARRIVES ON CEDRIC

Steamship Reached Quarantine in New York Harbor Last Midnight.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Among the passengers on the White Star line steamer Cedric, which arrived at quarantine at midnight, are Andrew Carnegie and United States Senator Lodge and former Senator Turner, both members of the Alaskan boundary tribunal.

Mr. Carnegie and his family sailed for Europe on July 24 and since his departure many matters connected with his public gifts have arisen. Within a week Philadelphia has accepted his offer of $1,500,000 to establish 35 libraries throughout the city.

Since Mr. Carnegie went abroad he donated $2,520,000 to the town of Dunfermline, Scotland, his birthplace, to be used to better the condition of the inhabitants.

Through government officials of Holland Mr. Carnegie has made the offer of $1,500,000 to build a temple of peace for the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

TURKS BURN FORESTS TO DESTROY REFUGEES

5,000 Children in Scanty Attire at Mercy of Macedonian Winter.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

SOFIA, Oct. 29.—Madame Bakhmeteff, who has returned from Bourgas, reports the fugitives there in terrible condition. There are 5,000 children in the scantiest clothing. The weather is bitter. Government relief means only supplying brown bread. An epidemic is imminent.

A frightful condition of Turkish oppression continues in Adrianople vilayet. Turkish villagers are now joining the Turkish troops in a campaign of extermination, preventing the Macedonian inhabitants quitting the villages and thus preventing news of the outrages leaking from remote villages.

In several places it is reported the Turks are burning the forests where refugees are hiding.

SALONICA, MACEDONIA, Oct. 29.—Further small fights are reported to have occurred in different sections of Macedonia. The Turkish troops were victorious in every case over the insurgents. Chief Denicho and 12 men were killed in the district of Seres, and another insurgent chief was captured in the Nevrokop district.

BRYAN CHASED OFF POSTOFFICE STEPS

Speech at the Toledo Federal Building Interrupted by the Janitor.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 29.—William Jennings Bryan was tonight ordered off the steps of the Toledo postoffice by the watchman in charge of the building. Bryan, who was on his way home from the east, stopped over for the night and late this afternoon a meeting was arranged and he was to speak from the steps of the postoffice.

Two thousand people had gathered and he was about to open the meeting when the watchman quietly went to Frank Niles, candidate for lieutenant governor, and informed him that Bryan could not speak from the steps and he would have to get down on the curb. Mr. Niles at once made the announcement that the meeting would be held on the corner and the crowd followed Col. Bryan and his escort to the new stand.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 29.—Two men were killed and one seriously injured this morning when a local freight, eastbound, collided head-on with a fast freight, westbound, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, six miles east of here.

THE KILLED.

FREDERICK MORGAN of Morgantown, engineer, crushed under locomotive.

GEORGE MOATS of Parkersburg, fireman, crushed.

THE INJURED.

SAMUEL PROUDFOOT, brakeman, of Webster, both legs broken.

The cause was a misunderstanding of orders, the westbound train crew claiming to have seen a signal east of the place indicating a clear track, while the agent says he had out a danger signal. Twelve cars were wrecked.

HOME OF THE BLAIRS BEING DISMANTLED

Household Effects of Stricken Attorney Being Shipped to New York.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—The Blair mansion is being dismantled, packing boxes and many trunks are being sent to St. Louis for shipment, and Mr. and Mrs. Blair and Percy M. Blair will, as soon as Mr. Blair has sufficiently recovered, leave for a temporary residence elsewhere.

The cases are addressed to Mrs. C. M. Alexander, St. Paul apartments, No. 219 West Eightieth street, New York. They are believed to contain such valuable and strictly personal household ornaments and other belongings that Mrs. Blair desires to keep after she shall have broken up at Stanoote.

Marked improvement in Mr. Blair's condition was apparent today. The grand jury resumed investigation of the Blair story this afternoon. E. B. Graham of the Graham Paper Company, a brother-in-law, was examined. Circuit Attorney Folk today stated positively that Blair can be indicted if the forgeries with which he is charged can be proved against him.

Evans R. Dick of the firm of Dick Bros. & Co., New York and Philadelphia, and Attorney Graham of Philadelphia, have been requested by Circuit Attorney Folk to appear in St. Louis.

REPUBLICAN MAJORITY SHOULD BE 300,000

Gov. Pennypacker Gives Forecast on Election Result. Takes Automobile Ride.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

READING, PA., Oct. 29.—Gov. Pennypacker, Private Secretary Brumley Wharton, Speaker Walton, George A. Castor and E. A. Maltby, of Philadelphia, arrived in Reading today from Harrisburg in Mr. Maltby's automobile touring car. A half hour was spent here during which the machine was refilled and overhauled, and the journey was continued to Allentown, where the state fish hatcheries were inspected, and from there to Pennypacker's Mills. The governor looked well and declared his health was excellent.

"Is there anything new politically, governor?" was asked.

"No, except we will have an election next Tuesday."

"Will the usual Republican majority be given the ticket?"

"I see no reason why it should not be nearly 300,000."

PATENTS RUN TO 1909.

The Bradley Aluminum Smelting Process Is Protected for Ten Years Yet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Alfred H. Cowles, president of the Electric Smelting & Aluminum Company of Cleveland and of the Cowles Electric Smelting & Aluminum Company, says:

"The decision of the court in upholding the validity of the Bradley patent for smelting by the use of electricity will extend for about three years the patent monopoly of the manufacture of aluminum, as the Bradley patents do not expire until 1909, while the patents owned by the Pittsburgh Reduction Company expire in 1906.

"The decision is a recognition by the courts of the Bradley patent being the fundamental patent in the enlarging field of electric smelting. This view of these patents was taken by the United States court of appeals of Ohio in 1897.

"In 1892 the Cowles Electric Smelting & Aluminum Company first sold aluminum in the world's markets as low as $1 per pound, but was enjoined by the courts through an action brought by the Pittsburgh Reduction Company for infringement of the Hall patent."

HANNA DRAWS GREAT CROWDS

10,000 Ohio Voters Greet Republican Leaders at Cincinnati.

BRYAN IS DISCUSSED

Cleveland Senator Says Nebraskan's Presence in Ohio Helps Cause of Republicanism.

JOHNSONISM IS DANGEROUS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cincinnati, Oct. 29.—Senators Hanna and Foraker and the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, Warren G. Harding, were the speakers tonight at the first rally held in this city or Hamilton county. No demonstration in the campaign has been more satisfying or more remarkable in enthusiasm. Nearly 10,000 people jammed into Music hall and thousands more were outside. Mayor Julius Fleischmann presented the speakers and each received a tremendous ovation. Senator Hanna was first introduced and in his talk said:

"What means this outpouring of the people? I choose to believe that it shows the voters of Ohio to be fully alive to the importance of this campaign and when they are alive the result is never in doubt. It shows that they are not to be led astray by the teachings of Johnson and his propaganda—a propaganda filled with dangerous teachings, which, if adopted, would wreck the splendid institutions it has taken a hundred years to build. There is not a thinking man in this audience tonight who does not know his own prosperity depends upon the success of the Republican ticket. The outcome is equally important to the business man and the man who labors with his hands. It is no one-sided affair. All enjoy prosperity alike."

Bryan Is Taken Up.

Senator Hanna again took up Bryan. "This man from Nebraska has recently been back in the state shouting out against the Republican party and increasing Republican majorities. He has been in the state several times before and has made me the paramount issue. I wish he could have been kept here until election—so far as I am personally concerned.

"Where are the great leaders of the party this year? Why are they not in the state shouting for Johnson and free silver? They have refused to come here and assist him in his campaign, that man who is controlled by a morbid and selfish ambition. Johnson admits he is a single-taxer, a disciple of Henry George. Do the people of Ohio wish that this doctrine shall come here and find a lodging place? I cannot believe it."

The senator next turned his attention to Clarke, the Democratic aspirant for his seat: "Clarke is here," he said, "this man Clarke, who says that I am a good man in private life but that my public record is very bad—a sort of Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Let me say that I have never yet played a double role and I don't propose to begin now. How about Clarke?

"In 1896, in public, he declared in a notable speech, that the election of Bryan would be public dishonor. This year he is preaching against those things for which he formerly stood. Ah, what the desire for office will do. Do you want to send such a man to the United States senate? If I know my state and its people, he will be allowed to remain at home. Johnson says he is willing to leave it in the hands of the voters. So am I."

Harding on the Issues.

Senator Harding, candidate for lieutenant governor, said: "There are but three issues in this campaign, the issue real, the issue paramount and the issues mountebank. The real issue is continued prosperity, the paramount issue is the re-election of Mark Hanna, and the mountebank issues are equal taxation, 2-cent fare and home rule.

The Democratic party is too busy about trivialities, with its ear adjusted to the crowing of the cock and missing the glorious flight of the great American eagle, it traces the struggling growler, belated on the highway, and is blind to the glorious sunrise at the dawn of majestic day. It growls at a ship subsidy that would add new splendor to American achievement, figuring on the cost without contemplating results. If we spent $6,000,000 a year in subsidizing a merchant marine, it would cost every man, woman and child in America the enormous sum of 10 cents a year, the price of a cigar or an ice cream soda. I wonder if there is a man or woman or boy so deficient in American pride that a little dime would not be yielded annually to make America ships traverse the highways of the seas, manned by American sailors and carrying American products and conveying American messages of peace and good will to all the marts of the world. I wonder if there is one who would not give a dime to see or know that on all the seas dear Old Glory, undimmed and unstained, is unfurled to the sun-kissed breezes, the proud banner of our peaceful commercial conquest of the world. If there is such a one, he ought to vote for Tom L. Johnson and John H. Clarke."

Senator Foraker closed the meeting. His reception was a flattering testimonial of appreciation from his fellow townsmen. He brought new names to both Johnson and Clarke, the former being referred to as the John A. Dowie of the Ohio Democracy and the latter as the unkissed son.

"Mr. Clarke says I have been saying unkind things about him. I have gone over my speeches and I have no recollection of it. I called him a gentleman and a man of good reputation. That ought to do him no harm, except among his Democratic associates. Your attention has been called to the wonderful prosperity of the country. I want to impress this upon you in order that you may so vote as to insure its continuance."

The meeting was preceded by a parade, having in line the famous Blaine club with 2,000 members. After the meeting a dinner was tendered the guests at the Queen City club.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, consul of the Salvation Army in America and one of the greatest friends of suffering humanity that the world has ever known, passed from the scene of her earthly labors at 11:30 o'clock last evening in Marceline, Mo., as the result of injuries received in a train wreck on the Santa Fe railroad in Deans Lake, Mo., shortly after 9 o'clock last night. She died after uttering a prayer in which she asked for divine blessing upon the world.

In the train crash in which this woman, known the world over as the great uplifter of the weak and oppressed of her sex, lost her life, nearly a score of persons were injured, among them being Col. Thomas C. Holland, in charge of the Salvation Army headquarters in Amity, Cal., whose injuries are expected to prove fatal.

The wrecked train was the eastbound California No. 2, which left Kansas City last evening at 6 o'clock for Chicago. The train ran into an open switch, striking a steel water tank, and all save the mail, express and day coaches were wrecked. Consul Booth-Tucker and Col. Holland were in one of the Pullmans.

Pathetic were the scenes surrounding the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker. Suffering intense agony from the awful injuries which the iron beams and splintered wood had inflicted upon her body, she yet restrained almost every [illegible] of pain. It is reported that as she died she uttered this prayer:

Her Dying Prayer.

"Dear Jesus, help me to die bravely, like a Christian woman. God, be merciful and forgive all my sins. Bless the whole world, and bless me, a dying woman."

As she uttered this prayer the divine Providence which she had so faithfully served on earth took to its eternal resting place the noble soul which had been the guide to great good in this world.

It is believed that Mrs. Booth-Tucker was the only one to meet death in the crash, but many were injured more or less seriously. Those who escaped serious injury at once began the rescue of the wounded who were screaming from beneath the mountain of wreckage, piled up against the great steel water tank. Willing hands fought with heavy wooden beams and lengths of twisted steel until the work was finished.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker was found by her screams, the rescuers trying to console her with the aid of flaming torches brought from the engine cab. It took almost half an hour before the wreckage could be torn aside and the mutilated body carried to the pile of boards near the station shed.

After the train bearing the injured had finally started it was delayed by the breaking of a truck and did not reach Marceline until nearly five hours after the wreck occurred. Mrs. Booth-Tucker, who was on her way home from a visit to the farm colony of the army in Amity, Col., had stopped in Kansas a few hours yesterday to inspect the Workingmen's home, a work in which she was particularly interested and a branch of which is to be opened in this city by the army.

MRS. EMMA BOOTH-TUCKER.

The Story of Her Death.

Miss H. Dammes, a Salvation Army member, who was with Mrs. Booth-Tucker and making arrangements for a transfer to a Pullman car when the accident occurred, tells the following story of her death:

"When we left Amity we secured berths in the tourist car, but last evening we concluded to change to a standard Pullman sleeper. We had made our arrangements to this effect. When the accident occurred I had gone back into the Pullman, leaving Mrs. Booth-Tucker and Col. Holland in a tourist sleeper, which was being run unoccupied, they being busily engaged in conversation. I had been talking with them, but went to arrange our baggage in the Pullman. I had left them but a few moments when the crash came.

"Although thrown violently about, I was not hurt. All of us who were uninjured went at once to the aid of those who were hurt. It was a terrible shock to me when we found Mrs. Booth-Tucker and learned that she was fatally injured. When extricated from the wreck she was taken into the waiting room of the station in Deans Lake, where she was placed upon a mattress and surgical aid given her by Dr. Hunter of Pittsburg, Kan., who was a fellow passenger on the train.

"Aid was of no avail, however, her skull being fractured, and she died at 11:30 o'clock, two hours after the accident occurred. She was unconscious nearly all the time. She moaned pitifully for a short time and uttered a few words, but her moanings ceased when her clothes were loosened. The fracture was in her left forehead."

Decision Cost Her Life.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker's decision to leave here on a train Wednesday instead of Thursday morning, as had been arranged for, cost her her life in a wreck at Dean Lake, on the Santa Fe railroad, 85 miles east of here.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker arrived in Kansas City on the California train at 5 o'clock. She had intended remaining in Kansas City this morning, and sleeping reservations had been made for her on the train leaving this morning. But after arriving in Kansas City, Mrs. Booth-Tucker decided to continue on her journey on the train in which she arrived in Kansas City. Mrs. Booth-Tucker could not secure a berth in either of the standard sleepers. The suggestion was made that she take a berth in the tourist sleeping car. She at first objected, with the remark that she had never traveled second-class excepting in India. But after an inspection of the car she accepted a lower berth in the tourist car. Col. Holland also took a berth in the same car.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Booth-Tucker's body reached Chicago tonight, on a Santa Fe train. Several hundred members of the army were at the depot when the train arrived and escorted the body to an undertaking establishment. Tomorrow the body will be removed to the Princess rink, one of the Chicago branch headquarters of the army, where it will lie in state until tomorrow night, when it will be removed to New York. Later, it is stated, the remains may be sent to London for burial.

MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER AN ACCOMPLISHED WOMAN

Qualities Led to Her Being Given Charge of the Work in America.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Booth-Tucker, consul of the Salvation Army in the United States, who was killed in a railroad wreck on the Santa Fe road near Mareeline, Mo., was the most noted and the ablest of the children of Gen. Booth, the commander-in-chief of the army.

She was Miss Emma Booth, and was married to Frederick St. George de Latour Tucker in 1888. He assumed her name as the first part of his own. He was born in India and lived there several years after the marriage. He was commissioner of the Salvation Army in India. Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker were appointed to command the army in America in March, 1896, succeeding Eva C. Booth, who had supplanted her brother, Ballington Booth, who had been removed by Gen. William Booth.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker was born in Gateshead, England, January 8, 1860. For eight years before her marriage she was in charge of the international training home of the army. After the wedding she went to India with her husband, came to America afterward with him and had joint and equal authority with him in the army.

She was known as one of the best orators in the Salvation Army. She had an abundance of enthusiasm for her work, but it was tempered with cool judgment and executive ability. It was these qualities in his second daughter which induced Gen. Booth to send Booth-Tuckers to the United States to try bring about harmony in the American branch of the army.

In 1897, shortly after Ballington Booth and his wife left the Salvation Army and had established its well known rival, the American Volunteers, Mrs. Ballington Booth was taken seriously ill, and the illness, it was stated by her husband, was due to persecution at the hands of members of the Salvation Army. Besides Mrs. Booth-Tucker was in constant communication with the hospital and Commander Ballington Booth, proffering any assistance within her power.

The Booth children were: William Bramwell, chief of staff for many years; Catharine, Mrs. Booth-Clibborn, the eldest daughter, known as the "Marechale"; Emma, who became Mrs. Booth-Tucker; Herbert Booth, born in 1862; Marion, the fourth of the family; Evangeline, the fourth daughter, and Lucy, the eighth child. The latter was married to Col. Heberd of the army. The mother of these children died in 1890.

The following characterization was made of Mrs. Booth-Tucker when she came to this country in 1896: "She has that rare quality of perfect sympathy. She is a well-educated woman in the sense that she can think and write clear, good English. She had no class prejudices, and is just as much at home in the parlors of a house in Fifth avenue as in the one and only room of a squalid family. But it is in the public meeting that her real power shows itself. As an orator she ranks with less than half a dozen Americans of both sexes."

Col. Thomas C. Holland, who was injured in the wreck, was born in Liverpool in 1867. He was sent from England to Canada as chief secretary of the Salvation Army in 1889 and held that post two years. He was then made national social secretary for the United States and in that position had charge of all the social and colonizing work. These duties stood him for the guardianship of the Colorado colony established five years ago. Its great success has been due largely to the business ability of Col. Holland, who was a convincing speaker, a skillful organizer, and was looked upon as one of the strongest men in the army. He has a wife and three children in Amity.

SAD NEWS BROKEN TO BEREAVED CHILDREN

Salvation Army Officer Tells Forlorn Little Ones of Their Mother's Death.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MOUNT VERNON, KY., Oct. 29.—The news of the death of Consul Emma Tucker, wife of Gen. Booth-Tucker, which was first received in Mount Vernon, where she resided, came as a great shock to the colony of Salvation Army officers who make their home in this city.

The consul was well known in Mount Vernon, where she was called the "Good Angel" by the poor. Her death has caused much sorrow.

Mrs. Tucker leaves six small children and an adopted child and there was a pathetic scene in their home when the oldest ones were told that their mother was dead. They wept for hours and efforts to console them were in vain. Lincoln, the six-year-old favorite son of Mrs. Tucker was so affected that he cried himself ill. The other children are Frederick, 9 years old; Catherine, 12 years old; Mina, 9 years old; Eva, an adopted child, who was picked up by the consul during one of her western trips; John Myron, 2 years old and Muriel, a five months' old baby. The children are being cared for by Major Carr, who nursed Mrs. Gen. Booth in her illness and who has been with the Tucker family for 20 years.

"This is a terrible blow," said Miss Carr, "but I believe it was God's will."

"The saddest part of it all is the seven little children who are left motherless and whom I am caring for. I have been in the family so long, that I have really been a mother to them all, while Mrs. Tucker was away. Now I suppose I shall have to look after them as though I were their real mother. The consul was so kind, gentle and loving, and her loss is irreparable. She thought the world of her little darlings and it will be impossible to fill her place in their hearts." All day long Salvation Army officers called at the Tucker residence.

Most touching was the scene when the news was carried to the children. Gathering all about her, Miss Carr told them that their mother had gone away to another world; that their father was sad and heartsick far away and needed their sympathy and love.

When their eyes were dried Frederick and Catherine wrote in their own childish way a telegram to their father telling him of the deep grief in the home and of the love of his children.

NINE DAMSELS OF WAMPUM APPEAR IN BASEBALL ATTIRE.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The prank of nine damsels of Wampum, this county, has been retained by the watchful eye of the camera, whose work gives the impression that that thriving town is represented on the baseball diamond by a feminine team. When the Wampum Independents disbanded for the season the uniforms were washed and neatly laid away until next season, as their men owners fondly imagined. However, the sisters and sweethearts of the players decided to see how they themselves would look in baseball costume. Accordingly they secretly took the uniforms to the home of a friend, where the girls donned the baseball attire and posed while another girl stood behind the camera. The result was so pleasing that the girls are beginning to believe they could beat "really" ball players, if they only tried, although they are not quite decided to make the venture, and with many blushes refuse to have their names on the photograph, in the togs of the diamond.

VOLUNTEERS CLOSED ANNUAL FIELD COUNCIL

Death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker Hastened End—Kind Words for Deceased Woman.

The eighth annual grand field council of the Volunteers of America was brought to a sudden close yesterday by the news of the death of Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, sister of Gen. Ballington Booth, commander of the Volunteers of America. The unfinished business of the council was concluded as quickly as possible.

The grand field council sent a telegram to the headquarters of the Salvation Army in New York expressing the sincerest sympathy of each member of the Volunteers of America. Gen. Booth, in speaking of his sister's death, said:

"I have been asked several times if I would attend my sister's funeral. I certainly will. She was my sister, and a very dear sister. The body probably will be in New York a short time before being sent to England, and I shall attend the obsequies unofficially of course. Regardless of a different code of church and government, we are brother and sister."

Gen. Booth declared that any talk of consolidation of the Salvation Army and Volunteers of America was unofficial and without any authentic foundation. He said further: "The council has been the most profitable the Volunteers have ever enjoyed. The work accomplished is considerable and the work laid out is expansive. I am encouraged by the prospects."

Gen. Booth showed a telegram from his wife replying to the news of his sister's death and stating that she had sent a telegram expressing her sympathy and that of their children. He had not been officially notified of Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker's death. Before the council adjourned yesterday afternoon the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

"Resolved, By the grand field council at the close of its sessions in the East End board of trade rooms, Pittsburgh, that we tender our sincere gratitude to the clergymen of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Wilkinsburg for the opening of their pulpits to our representatives, and to the friends and citizens of these cities for the kind consideration they have shown the Volunteers; also, to the press for its courtesy and the comprehensive reports it has made of the council and its gathering; also, be it

"Resolved, That we tender to Col. and Mrs. Christopher C. Herron of Pittsburgh our appreciation of their successful efforts in arranging the public gatherings and their thought in providing for our personal comfort during our visit to Pittsburgh."

The board of directors, which consists of Gen. Booth and 11 field officers, will convene this morning and ratify the actions of the field council during the last week. Gen. Booth will leave for home this afternoon. The field officers will also leave today and tomorrow. A farewell reception was tendered Gen. Booth and the visitors last night at the home of Col. C. C. Herron, No. 5417 Black street.

GENERAL BOOTH BEARS AFFLICTION BRAVELY

Issues Proclamation to Salvation Army Counseling Them to Be Courageous.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Gen. Booth has issued the following message to his people:

I suddenly am prostrated with grief. In the presence of what appears at the moment to be an indescribable calamity and unfathomable mystery, I can only look up and say to my heavenly father, "Thy will be done." My daughter was, after her mother, first among many noble consecrated women. I have been permitted to know during my 50 years of public life. Her loss is irreparable, but so much more need for me, for you, for us all to go on with our work and the blessing of our fellow-men. This, however my heart may bleed, is my purpose so long as He is pleased to prolong my life. The blow will fall with intense severity upon Commander Booth-Tucker, my officers and soldiers in America, for whom my daughter fought and toiled so long.

In the midst of my own sorrow my heart goes up to God in their behalf. Pray for them. Meanwhile, I am trusting for strength to continue my own duties and grasping that our great army for alleviating the sorrows of a suffering world may not be hindered by this visitation.

PROPHET DENOUNCES DOCTOR PARKHURST

Says Surgery Is a Hit-and-Miss Butchery and Derides Medicine.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Doctors, clergymen and politicians were attacked by Dowie at his meetings today and the Zion host, who formed the larger part of the audience, signified their approval.

"Elijah" scored the doctors for giving drugs, the clergymen for permitting their flocks to stray as they pleased and the politicians for confusing a municipal campaign by dragging in national and state issues.

At the noon meeting, Dowie said these things about the doctors: "Surgery is a hit and miss butchery. There never has been a theory as to the treatment of diseases that has not been challenged. Medical students are a set of rascals and liars. Medical colleges ruin thousands of young men."

Dr. Parkhurst he attacked in these words: "There is that miserable Parkhurst. He toils over his sermons and his hearers roll while listening to them. I have made up my mind that Parkhurst is not worth the powder and shot. I never heard that Parkhurst had to get the police to keep people out of his church, as they have to do at my meetings."

There were about two acres of empty seats in the garden while Dowie was speaking. Dowie's subject this evening was "Babel and Bethel. Which?" He said that much of the babel in this country is due to the giving the freedom to men who cannot read the English language and who do not understand the word of God.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. Emmaretta McCurren Falls Down Cellar Stairs With Lighted Lamp—Two Die of Fractured Skull Received While Driving.

Nichola Michella, an Italian, died last night at the Homeopathic hospital from three bullet wounds inflicted, it is alleged, by Tony Delossa, a fellow countryman, at Morgan, a mining settlement near Bridgeville. Delossa escaped and Assistant County Detective R. L. McMillen with a posse spent the night searching for the murderer.

According to the information given the detectives, Michella and several of his neighbors were intoxicated and on Wednesday night attempted to enter the house of Delossa. The latter drove the men out and later they made another effort to gain admittance. This time, it is alleged, Delossa went to a second story window and fired at the crowd. Three bullets took effect, two penetrating Michella's lungs, while another mangled his hip. The wounded man was carried to an outhouse, where he lay in agony through the night. Delossa disappeared.

Yesterday morning Michella was found and taken to the Homeopathic hospital. He was conscious, but refused to talk about the shooting. At 6:30 o'clock he died of exhaustion.

Jacob Lanenski, aged 38 years, a laborer, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train at Twenty-ninth street yesterday afternoon and died at the West Penn Hospital soon after. Lanenski was married and lived at No. 2620 Downing street.

While on the way to the basement of her home with a lighted lamp, Mrs. Emmaretta McCurren, 62 years old, a widow, fell from the head of the steps into the basement and was rendered unconscious by her head striking a pole. The lamp exploded and she was badly burned all over her clothing. Her daughter, Mrs. Elmer H. Hattas, wife of the watchman at the Park building, heard the sound of the fall, and rushing to the steps, found her mother lying at the bottom in flames. Extinguishing the fire the Mrs. Hattas was badly burned about the hands and arms.

Her cries for assistance brought several neighbors into the house, but by the time the flames were extinguished Mrs. McCurren was dead, her body having been burned to a crisp. The fire slightly damaged the house, but by the time the firemen arrived the flames had been extinguished.

Arbogast, Jr., one of the best known young men of Allegheny, died last night at the home of his father, No. 515 Diamond street, of injuries received Tuesday night, when he as thrown from a buggy at Robinson and Craig streets. Arbogast, who was 23 years old, had been out driving with a friend on Tuesday night, when the horse took fright and ran away. At Craig and Robinson streets, the buggy collided with a pole, and the young men were thrown out. Arbogast's skull was fractured and he died without again. He was a son of William Arbogast, Sr., who for years has been a prominent politician in Allegheny. He is survived by his widow and his father.

Mary E. Setter, of No. 17 East Jacook street, Allegheny, died of a fractured skull at the Allegheny General hospital last night a short time after being admitted to the institution. While driving near the Five Mile house in Perrysville avenue late yesterday afternoon, the horses attached to the carriage became frightened and ran away. Miss Setter was thrown out and alighted on her head and was rendered unconscious. After receiving medical attention she failed to recover consciousness and was sent to the hospital.

SHAW TALKS ON LOST CHANCES

Our Protection Policy Needs Broadening by a Big Far Eastern Commerce.

GREAT TRADE UNTOUCHED

Points of Benefit to Be Gained by Ship Subsidy to Encourage Commerce With Foreign Markets of Which United States Gets Meager Share.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Fremont Temple was packed to the doors tonight, the occasion being the biggest political meeting held by the Republican party in this city during the present state campaign. The principal speakers were Gov. Bates and Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. United States Senator Foraker of Ohio, who was expected, was unable to be present.

Congressman George P. Lawrence of North Adams presided over the meeting. He said in closing his address:

"Let Massachusetts Republicans by their votes on November 3 show that they are aggressive and enthusiastic and can be depended upon to contribute materially to the triumphant election of that friend of good government, that champion of equal rights—President Roosevelt."

Secretary Shaw followed Gov. Bates. He said:

England's Loss Our Gain.

While the importance of foreign markets is apparent to all, it is more important still that we do not lose sight of the value of our own markets. I submit that it would be unwise for us to adopt the Democratic contention and surrender what we now have in the hope of getting a larger share of what we do not now have. England has proceeded upon the democratic theory for many years. She has given us free access to her markets, and we annually sell to Great Britain $600,000,000. We have protected our markets, and Great Britain annually sells to us about $155,000,000.

Our policy of protecting our markets, and thus keeping them for ourselves, has resulted in a balance of trade in our favor of $500,000,000 per annum. The policy pursued by Great Britain and advocated by the Democratic party has resulted in a balance of trade against her of $1,000,000,000 per annum. Our Democratic friends during all these years have urged us to try the English policy of a tariff for revenue only.

But conceding the importance of more markets, my belief is that there is open to us a yet more excellent way to secure them. We are selling 10 per cent of our products to South America, of South Africa and of the countries washed by the Pacific ocean. This trade is worth more than a thousand million dollars a year, and it is growing 10 per cent. Other countries secure the balance. Why? They avail themselves of every natural advantage and pay the price of others. They have, or they do not have, direct and regular steamship communications with these countries.

Favors Subsidy Plan.

We created the commerce of the interior and of the Pacific slope by means of subsidized railroads. We now subsidize rivers and harbors in the hope of aiding commerce. Last winter a bill was introduced offering a subsidy for constructed ships from American raw material, taken from American mines and American forests. Then had ships enough been constructed it might have cost us $9,000,000 per annum. But the bill provided that there should be no expenditure more than $6,000,000 in any one year. We annually pay $200,000,000 to foreign subsidized ships to get our foreign commerce carried.

Senator Hanna said he there were three companies ready if the bill was passed, to make contracts to build the ships and establish and maintain regular lines in three directions. Ships were to be built. The bill was practically every Democrat voted against it, not because of its provisions, but on principle. I recognize that the term "subsidy" has a bogey sound. It is a good scare word.

All Europe is establishing commercial colonies, warehouses, branch offices and banks on many of these shores. No man can now say how soon complications may arise similar to those that recently existed in Venezuela, and no man can now predict to what extent and in what manner the United States may become interested in the result of these complications. It is my judgment that we should use all reasonable means to be early on the ground.

SUES TO RECOVER COIN LOST IN SPECULATION

Society Leader of Washington Recounts Ventures in Stocks and Horses.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Hunter Doll, formerly widow of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota, has been playing the races and the stock market. That was developed today in testimony in a suit by Mrs. Doll to recover certain moneys from Mrs. Kate Osborne. Mrs. Doll alleges that she advanced Mrs. Osborne $100 which Mrs. Osborne said she would invest for a turn in the market. Mrs. Osborne agreed to return the money in case the market went wrong and if there was a profit it was to be divided equally. The deal turned out badly and most of the money was lost. Later Mrs. Doll says that Mrs. Osborne $60 with the understanding that it should be used by Mrs. Osborne in backing certain horses at the Bennings track under similar conditions. The money was lost.

Mrs. Doll again advanced $100 to be invested by Mrs. Osborne in stocks under the same conditions. Mrs. Osborne thought she could invest this sum to yield a profit of $100 a month. That investment was also a failure. Then Mrs. Osborne gave Mrs. Doll promissory notes for the amount she had advanced. These notes were not paid and Mrs. Doll entered suit.

Mrs. Doll is well known in Minneapolis and St. Paul as well as in Washington. After her marriage to Senator Davis she became conspicuous in Washington society. She accompanied Senator Davis when he went to Paris as one of the United States commissioners appointed to negotiate a treaty of peace with Spain and received much social recognition from the former Empress Eugenie and other noted French people. She continued to live in Washington after Senator Davis' death and last summer was married to a Mr. Doll of Tennessee and many years younger than she. Mrs. Osborne was formerly a clerk in the pension bureau.

CHRISTIAN UNION MEETS.

Will Finish Its Annual Convention in Allegheny Today.

The joint fall convention of the Young People's Christian union of the Allegheny and Monongahela presbyteries of the United Presbyterian church was begun last night in the First United Presbyterian church in Oakland. Afternoon and morning sessions will be held in the First U. P. church in Allegheny today.

Last night's meeting was presided over by R. L. Thompson of Allegheny. The services were opened by congregational singing. Miss Grace Rheidaffer sang a solo, Stephen H. Leyshon played the organ and Burr H. McKnight the cornet.

The Rev. Wayland Hoyt of Philadelphia spoke on "Crowning Solomon." He told the story of the crowning of Solomon by David and compared Solomon's kingdom to the Book of work of the Young People's union. A scripture lesson was read by Mr. Thompson and J. A. Gregg of Leetsdale led in prayer.

CITIZENS WILL LOSE THE WARD

Big Fourteenth Is Certain to Give a Republican Majority This Fall.

CITIZENS ARE GOING OVER

Bigelow Machine Finds a Heavy Frost at South Side Turner Hall—Monster Republican Gathering Is Held in Braddock.

The Fourteenth ward will return a Republican majority next Tuesday. The men who have charge of the contest for the Republicans have numerous reasons for firmly believing that they have their fight won. The Citizens lines are broken all through the ward and many of the best workers are assisting the Republicans.

The Fourteenth ward is the home of W. H. Stevenson and Controller John B. Larkin, the leaders of the "orphans." They have a strong personal following, and their friends will not vote the Citizens ticket. A number of the men who have worked with Stevenson in the ward are openly assisting the Republican committee.

In the Thirteenth district of the Fourteenth ward the entire Citizens organization, with the exception of one man, has gone over to the Republicans. This occurred after John C. Henry flopped to the Citizens. Henry is an old Republican office holder and for some reason has enlisted with the Bigelow machine. He was not even a member of the Republican organization in his district. Some years ago he was secretary of the ward committee, but of late has not been in good standing with the Republicans of the ward.

Big Meeting in Soho.

There was an old-fashioned Republican rally in the Soho school house last night. The big auditorium was crowded. The gathering was presided over by E. B. Smith. The speakers were A. J. Edwards, E. E. Cotton, James F. Burke and H. L. Riley. Ward Chairman Alexander McKnight in calling the meeting together said that he was absolutely certain that the Republicans would carry the ward.

B. Trimbur of the Tenth district of the Fourteenth is certain of Republican victory. This is also the home of Timothy O'Leary, one of the managers of the Bigelow Democracy. Trimbus says that he will bet O'Leary $50 that the district will go Republican.

The Republican workers of the Twenty-eighth ward held a meeting last night. There were 125 men there. The reports showed that the ward will be carried by the Republicans.

The Citizens tried to hold a meeting in the South Side Turner hall last night. Very few persons attended, and the stage were chairs for 50 vice presidents. There was only one occupied, and its occupant is on the city payroll. The Bigelow machine is finding much difficulty in getting South Siders to attend their meetings.

Meetings to Be Held Tonight.

The interest taken in the present campaign is shown by the demands upon Chairman Wasson of the Republican committee on meetings and speakers. The meetings scheduled for this evening are as follows:

Frankstown Avenue school, Sterrett township, Edward Steuer, Charles Joseph, B. C. Christy, E. C. Chalfant, Edward Mills; Zimmerman's hall, Fifteenth ward, Allegheny; Burchfield, James F. Burke, Joseph C. Watson; Nortsend school, Fifteenth ward, Allegheny; L. C. Beatie, Daniel Ashworth, Charles A. O'Brien, John Timblin; Fifth Ward Republican's hall, Mifflin township, H. H. Negley, John Campbell; Wickersham school, Carson and South Thirtieth streets, Dr. A. J. Bareh; Odd Fellows' hall, Fifth ward, Mc. W. Posey; Meade Street school, Twelfth ward, Allegheny; Mad. J. B. Hamilton, A. C. Spicer, C. S. Theobald, T. D. McCloskey, M. Hoke Gosschill, Robert Hodgkiss; Fifth Ward Republican's hall, Peebles and Holmes streets, James Francis Burke, J. L. Adams, H. L. Riley, Charles A. O'Brien; Wiley hall, Elizabeth; John W. Moreland, J. A. Reed, Col. A. M. Hay, H. A. W. Posey, Armory hall, Oakdale, L. L. Davis, A. S. Miller, Capt. H. E. Oursler; Moorehead school, Eleventh ward, H. I. Riley, E. E. Cotten, Walter S. Brown, Col. Thomas Hunter, Capt. Burke; East McKeesport schoolhouse, George O. Calder, John McP. Carpenter, George W. Hosack, J. E. McAdoo, Marquette hall, Forty-third ward, Alex Frazier, Williams Griffiths, John W. Moreland, John F. Cox, A. J. Edwards.

Braddock Republicans closed their campaign in that borough last evening with a big street parade and overflow meeting at the Braddock Carnegie library hall. The meeting was the largest political gathering seen in the borough for over 10 years, and several hundred persons were unable to gain admission to the hall owing to the big crowd.

Several hundred voters participated in the parade, and the candidates on the Republican county ticket rode in open carriages. The paraders marched over the principal streets of Braddock, and along the route the streets were lined with people and much red fire was burned.

Library hall was packed, it being estimated that fully 1,500 people were present, including a large number of women. The speakers were James Francis Burke, Mrs. E. E. Cotton, Mrs. Frank T. Redman, Miss Lukas, daughter of Democratic attorney; Dr. James W. Dickson, candidate for sheriff; Frank T. Redman, candidate for poor director, and J. A. Reed, John Harvey and John Francies.

In the parade and in the hall four brass bands furnished the music and the Duell Republican club and the Braddock Colored Republican club turned out in large numbers.

The Republicans closed their campaign in Cornopolis last night with a well-attended meeting in Barker's hall. The meeting was preceded by a parade headed by the Cornopolis band. About 500 men marched over the principal streets and disbanded at the hall. The speakers were M. C. Atcheson, A. T. Bruton, Walter Billows and J. F. Shallenberger.

A largely-attended Republican mass meeting was held at Fraternal hall, McKees Rocks, last night. Addresses were made by John F. Cox, Stephen Boyle, B. Dougherty, Harrison W. Bock and H. H. Negley.

The leaders of the Bigelow machine are expected today to give their solemn pledge that they will pass the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances through select council immediately after the election. This promise will be made in the hope of quieting the indignation caused by the holding up of this legislation. Their solemn pledges have not been kept in the past.

BOYS' BRIGADE EVENINGS.

Series of Receptions Arranged by the Ward-Mackey Baking Company.

The new model bakery of the Ward-Mackey company at Liberty avenue and Thirty-first street has become quite an object of interest to all those who have not already been initiated into the science and art of bread making by patented machinery. Since this new plant has been opened for public inspection scarcely an evening passes but a large party of visitors are shown through the building from top to basement and entertained with a delightful luncheon in the spacious dining room.

Friday evening, commencing with this evening, has been set apart for visits of the Boys' brigade, one company being entertained each Friday evening until every company in the brigade has been initiated into the mysteries of making "Mother's Bread."

Special arrangements have been made for a reception to the Ushers' association and their wives and families to the number of 50 or more, on Thursday, November 5, and on Tuesday, November 10, 25 members of the high school class of the Woodlair school will be entertained and instructed in the art of bread making.

LEAGUERS CLOSE WITH ENTHUSIASM

Epworthites Spend a Busy Day Discussing Subjects Pertinent to Their Work.

BIBLE STUDY AND MISSIONS

They Were the Chief Subjects Discussed—Vandergrift Chosen as the Place in Which to Hold the Next Meeting—Funds Raised.

The annual convention of the Epworth league of the Pittsburgh Methodist conference closed last night. The South Avenue church in Wilkinsburg was packed at the final meeting, a deficiency of $300 reported by the program committee was raised in a few moments, and altogether the young people displayed the greatest enthusiasm.

At the morning session 172 delegates were present. It was opened with prayer by the Rev. George Grant of Madison. The Rev. W. W. Youngson of Crafton presided. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Rev. W. W. Youngson, Crafton, Pa.; first vice president, J. A. Rosenstiel, Sewickley; second vice president, J. P. Johnson, Jeannette; third vice president, Rev. Calvin E. Miller, Boston, Pa.; fourth vice president, Homer Renton, Homewood; fifth vice president, B. C. McGrew, Washington, Pa. (all re-elected); secretary and treasurer, Miss Beatie H. Brooker, Bellevue; conference junior superintendent, Miss Agnes Mullen, Apollo, Pa. (re-elected); conference missionary secretary, Miss Elizabeth Hunter, Wellsburg, W. Va.

It was decided to hold the next convention at Vandergrift.

The regular program was taken up at 10 a. m. "Bible Study" was the general subject, and the Rev. John W. Hoffman of Allegheny was the leader. The Rev. W. B. Berger of Dayton spoke on "Studies in Old Testament," and Prof. A. C. Kindson of Meadville on "An Illustrated Study of the Gospel of Mark."

At 11 a. m. the topic of "Christian Stewardship" was taken up, under the leadership of the Rev. Joseph H. Brison of Dawson. The subject was divided into sub-heads. Prof. George H. Lamb spoke on "Talents," the Rev. M. B. Lytle of Dravosburg on "Time," the Rev. H. P. Johnson on "Means," and William S. Horner of Crafton on "Service." The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. J. J. McIlvar, and the meeting adjourned until 1:30 p. m. Charles T. Beggs of Pittsburgh took the chair.

The afternoon opened with praise service conducted by the Rev. W. J. Lawson of Banksville. Miss Bessie H. Brooks of Bethel read the discussion of "World's Evangelism." Mrs. Emma C. Lindsay discussed "Monthly Missionary Work." Miss Elizabeth Hunter talked on the "Station Plan at Work." Miss Helen Pershing of Wilkinsburg discussed "The Missionary Study," and the Rev. M. W. Eames of Umtali, Africa, spoke on "The Model Study Class."

The Rev. T. N. Bovie presided at the night meeting, and in the pulpit with him were the Rev. G. W. Terbush, presiding elder of the Allegheny district; the Rev. W. J. Mechem of the Wilkinsburg district; the Rev. J. K. Murray of the McKeesport district and the Rev. James Mitchell of the Blairsville district. The devotional exercises were led by F. W. Coats of Pittsburgh. Miss Mary Taylor, field secretary of the Methodist Missionary society, addressed the meetings on the work of his organization and said that in various foreign countries the force of missionaries ought to be increased.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Dr. Y. K. Eaton and the members of the South Avenue, Mifflin and Hamilton avenue churches for their entertainment and courtesies, condemning the liquor traffic and pledging the league to the cause of temperance. Dr. Boswell of Philadelphia led a pentecostal meeting and the convention adjourned.

CONFERENCE FAVORS SUFFRAGAN BISHOPS

Pan-American Conference of Episcopalian Prelates Discusses Missions.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The missionary council of the Episcopal church today voted unanimously in favor of the appointment of suffragan bishops, who, subject to the presiding bishop, shall take charge of the work among the non-American races in this country. This matter will be brought to the attention of the general convention at the next meeting. Addresses were made at the morning session by Bishop Dumoulin of Niagara and Bishop Hare of South Dakota on the responsibilities of missionary bishops.

The next subject considered was "Why the Church Should Make Efforts on Behalf of the White People of the West and Southwest; the Negroes, the Indians and the New Possessions." A resolution was passed calling on the general convention at its next session to make itself the board of missions and thereby make missionary work the great work of the entire church.

Tonight several addresses were delivered on the general subject of The Church and the Evangelization of the World." The Rev. H. H. Putt, president of St. John's College of Shanghai, spoke on "How the Church is Doing Her Work in China," and Bishop Dudley spoke on "Foreign Missions as the Church's Inspiration." The latter expressed his gratification that the church was awakening to its sense of responsibility for missionary work and gradually developing into one great missionary society.

Bishop Tuttle of Missouri, who presided at the closing meeting, in a final speech expressed the belief that the council had accomplished a vast amount of real good and had aroused interest in missions. Final adjournment then was taken.

Death From Smallpox.

Charles Jones, colored, of No. 94 Elm street, died at the Pittsburgh municipal hospital yesterday from smallpox. He had been at the institution but one day. He was 35 years old. Four new cases were reported during the day. They were Walter Harty, rear No. 27 Somers street; Helma Anderson, No. 4916 Forbes street; Steven Gerry, No. 223 Edmund street, and Hannah Bramscher, No. 2309 Center avenue.

LOOKING AFTER THE NEW NIXON THEATER

Theatrical Manager in This City. Alvin to Be Run the Same as Before.

S. F. Nixon of Philadelphia, of Nixon & Zimmerman, owners of the new Nixon theater in Sixth avenue, has been in this city during the last three days. His fine new playhouse is approaching completion so rapidly it requires almost his whole attention. Mr. Nixon is a busy man, his attention being taken up among seven theaters in Philadelphia, two in Pittsburgh, one each in Chicago and Baltimore, and a dozen of dramatic productions now on tour in various parts of the country.

"This is a great city," said Mr. Nixon. "From a theatrical point of view, it is one of the best in the country. For some reason or other the impression has got abroad that after the opening of the new Nixon theater the Alvin will be relegated to the class of popular-priced houses, with attractions accordingly. Now, I don't know how that idea started. It is not founded on any utterance of mine or any of my representatives, because such a move has never been even contemplated.

"Pittsburgh as a theatrical city ranks close to New York, Chicago or Boston. Considering its population, it is the equal of Philadelphia, and is certainly superior to Baltimore or Cincinnati. Following the opening of the Nixon there will be no material deviation in the policy of the Alvin. The house still will be devoted to high-class shows, possibly a leaning to those of the musical order.

"My interests in the new Nixon and the Alvin are both solidly booked up for the season, the former until May 1 and the latter until June 1. It is among the possibilities that the Nixon theater may be continued throughout next summer, some thought of offering the New York, Atlantic City and other big productions at this house during the warm months being now under consideration.

Mr. Nixon does not think the financial situation so serious as some persons make it out to be. He says he is hopeful as to the outcome, being satisfied that the worst has been reached, and from this time on there will be a steady improvement.

RULES BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Verner Seeks Privacy of Throne Room, Ford Transacts Business in the Office.

REGISTRY LISTS ARE PURGED

Bigelow Machine Boss Says Rolls Are Not Padded and the Same Day the Courts Order 366 Names Stricken From the Poll Books.

In the seclusion of the throne room, protected by guards who carefully inspect all persons desirous of communicating with the acting boss of the Bigelow machine, sits Murty A. Verner, county chairman of the Citizens party.

There is a different scene at the offices of the Republican county committee. With the doors thrown open and in plain view of the countless hundreds that daily pass along Smithfield street, sits Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the county committee. Any man can see him and consult with him. He finds no necessity for secrecy or seclusion. There is no guard to challenge the right of any citizen to enter these headquarters.

It may be that Chairman Verner's method of conducting a campaign is so different from that of Chairman Ford that secrecy is an absolute necessity. For the most part the people who desire to hold converse with the acting boss of the Bigelow machine have their names written on the city and county pay rolls. The head of the machine doubtless believes that he has a proprietory interest in them and is privileged to decline to mingle with these servitors. If they refuse to do his bidding, a note from the throne room to the mayor's office would cause their banishment from the pay roll.

Different Class of Men.

The hundreds of men who daily frequent Republican headquarters are of a different class. They hurry in, transact their business and hurry out. Save for the officials, there is constant change of face. At Bigelow headquarters, the same crowd lolls about the place day after day. The taxpayers of the city and county are paying for their time and the king on his throne likes to have a throng about the building to give the impression that there is wild interest in the cause of "reform."

Almost daily the public hears from the throne room in the form of a denial of some "Republican lie." Every fact which the Republican papers print is promptly branded as a "lie." Verner finds this an easier method than attempting to prove that the matter complained of is false. Yesterday morning the Diamond alley organ of the throne room contained its usual installment of denials. Of course, there was no denial of the few remarks made by Johns McCleave before the citizens of the Twenty-third ward. That was passed by, but there was a denial about padded registry lists.

In common pleas court No. 3 yesterday orders were made by the judges purging the registry lists of six election districts, controlled by the Bigelow machine, of 366 names. The courts still have a number of districts to pass upon.

Registry List Padded.

These are the districts where the court found that the registry lists had been padded:

| | Names Stricken Off. |
|---|---|
| Second district, Fifth Ward | 41 |
| First district, Seventh ward | 51 |
| Second district, Seventh ward | 90 |
| Third district, Seventh ward | 142 |
| Second district, Thirteenth ward | 25 |
| Sixth district, Thirteenth ward | 17 |
| Total | 366 |

While the Bigelow machine pretends that it does not mind the action of the political "Orphans," every effort is being made by its agents to offset the effect of the statement issued by these men who refused to longer assist in bunooing the public. The published statement yesterday of Thomas M. Brown, Bigelow's personally selected candidate for sheriff and ready defender of sham ballots, is causing much amusement. He devoted over a column of space to mourning over the fact that the "Orphans" had turned against him. He thinks that they should have dodged with him.

Effect of the McCleave Speech.

The McCleave speech was another sorry blow to the "pretenders." They have all their experts at work trying to figure out some way of counteracting it. The address was the talk of the town yesterday and many people were convinced that it would be wise to put forward a plea that it is so-intent on holding up public improvements.

The speech also caused some confusion in the ranks of the members of the select council combine. They see that their disloyalty to their constituents and the Republican party will cause their defeat in February. A couple of them were hunting cover yesterday and also inquiring as to the probability of either McCleave or General Agent Robert Pitney of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company delving deeper into the history of the throttled ordinances. They discovered that additional matter concerning the "hold-up" would be explained to their constituents in February.

The "Orphans" have received many congratulatory letters on their stand. Among the writers is M. F. Tighe, assistant secretary of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. Another letter writer of yesterday on a political subject was D. J. Driscoll, a McKeesport Democrat. He informed Democratic County Chairman Thomas B. Alcorn to stop sending fusion literature to him. He is disgusted with the leading Democracy and will support the Republican ticket.

STREET CAR COMPANY HARD AFTER A BAD GANG

Motorman Hit in Eye With Stone and Collision Resulted in Avalon.

Detectives of the Pittsburgh Railways Company have been put to work in the Bellevue and Avalon districts to run down the boys and young men who for months have been giving the company trouble. The culmination came last night, when Motorman Charles Stewart had his left eye so badly injured that he will probably lose the sight of it. In addition, two of the Avalon cars collided at the time Stewart was injured, and both cars were badly smashed.

Cars Nos. 172 and 156 of the Avalon line, both empty, were coming from Avalon to the Taggart street barns. Motorman Thomas Laffey of No. 156, which was running ahead, saw a log on the track at Home avenue and Lincoln avenue, Avalon, and stopped his car. Car No. 172 was trailing at a safe distance and Motorman Stewart applied the brakes to avoid a collision. As he was doing this a stone struck him in the left eye. He threw up his hand to his eye and the instant he took his hand from the brake lever the car shot forward and crashed into the one ahead. Stewart was taken home.

Inspector Harry Baldwin made a report of the accident to Superintendent John Murphy. The latter declares the gang in Avalon several times has endangered the lives of the patrons of the road and said that had the cars not been stopped so quickly by the motormen last night a serious accident would have resulted. It is expected a number of arrests will be made today.

IMPERIAL OIL AND GAS COMPANY FORMED HERE

Local Men Charter $500,000 Concern to Operate in This State and West Virginia.

A charter was granted at Charleston, W. Va., yesterday to the Imperial Oil & Gas Co. of Pittsburgh to develop oil and gas lands. The capital stock is $500,000, and the incorporators are John M. Patterson, M. C. Rogers, W. M. Patterson, John R. Patterson and R. L. Jones, all of Pittsburgh.

The new company has leased about 1000 acres of oil and gas land and proposes to go ahead as soon as possible in its work. The property obtained already possesses some producing wells. The various properties are in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. One lease is near Imperial, Allegheny county. Another is near Parker, in Armstrong county, and a third near Foxburg, Clarion county.

The formation of this company is the result of an amalgamation of a number of interests. The formal organization will be completed in a couple of days. The offices are in the Ferguson building.

NEW CORSET DISPLAY.

Women Crowd Around Rosenbaum's Window to Study Figure Building.

Women who know the value of a good figure in perfecting the fit of their gowns yesterday gathered in throngs around the show window of Rosenbaum & Co., Fifth avenue and Market street, where they enjoyed an exhibition of the famous Nemo corset. The display was opened on Tuesday and will continue through the week.

The new corset differs materially in shape from the old styles and gives women a long, slender waist, which is absolutely necessary to the proper wearing of the latest autumn modes. The latest wrinkle in this make of corsets is the Nemo flattening front, which reduces the prominence below the waist line, and, in addition to the clasps, has inserted two oar-shaped plates of aluminum. This material is very light, and while giving the proper flattening effect to that part of the body, does so without any perceptible pressure or any additional weight. The pressure of the clasp in front, which in the straight-front corset has often proved annoying, has been overcome by the whip-steel clasp.

The "self-reducing system" of the Nemo corset gives fleshy women a small and long, slender waist without violating the laws of hygiene or causing discomfort. On the other hand, the "figure-building system" supplies slim women with those curves which have been deprived them by nature.

JURY'S VERDICT IN BROWN CASE

Says Some Person or Persons Gave Poison to the Late City Recorder.

BUT MURDER IS NOT INFERRED

Verdict Exonerates the Deceased from Suspicion of Suicide—Imputes no Evil Motive to Any One—Jury Was in Session Four Hours.

That the late city recorder, Joseph O. Brown, died from poison administered by somebody else, and not from poison taken with suicidal intent, was the verdict brought in yesterday by the coroner's jury.

Coroner Jesse M. McGeary says he is through with the case; that further action, if any is taken, must come from the district attorney. District Attorney John C. Haymaker said:

"I would presume, from the verdict of the coroner's jury, that the jury had some evidence justifying its verdict. The district attorney is not bound, however, to assume that the jury's verdict was correct; therefore it is my duty to read the testimony and to judge therefrom whether any action should be taken. If I so judge, I will take the proper action; if I should judge that the evidence does not warrant action, I will take none."

James R. P. Brown, Recorder Brown's brother, had no comment to make.

"Are you going back to your ranch in Nebraska?" he was asked.

"Not now," he replied.

"Will you abandon the case, or will you stick to it?"

"I will stick to it."

The inquest was finished on Wednesday and yesterday afternoon Coroner McGeary assembled the jury in the court room in the morgue and delivered his charge. He said the death certificate furnished by the doctors was false, as proved by the evidence; that the jury was to decide whether poison caused death, and, if so, whether it was taken accidentally or intentionally by Brown, or administered by accident or with intention by other persons. The charge leaned away from the suicide theory.

The jury retired at 3:25 o'clock and was in session until 6:45. At 6 o'clock a meal was sent in. The verdict was as follows:

We, the jury, find that Joseph owen Brown, aged 67 years 2 months and 1 days, married and by occupation city recorder and residing at 508 McKee place, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, came to his death suddenly at above residence on Sunday, March 15, 1903, about 4:05 o'clock p. m., from poison, said poison having been administered by some unknown person or persons, and from the evidence and post-mortem examination made and also the chemical analysis made of his vital organs, we find his death was due to above cause.

W. M. Anthony, one of the jurors, had his attention called to the fact that the verdict omitted the words "with felonious intent," and was asked if that was an oversight.

"No," he replied. "The jury first discussed the question of suicide and decided that Mr. Brown had not taken poison himself, either accidentally or with suicidal intent. Then we discussed the question whether somebody else had administered it. We decided that some person or persons had given him poison, but we did not know whether it was done accidentally or on purpose. The testimony, we think, justified us in believing that somebody had administered the poison, but not in determining that murder was committed. If the testimony was not clear on that point, it was not more clear concerning the identity of the person or persons giving the poison."

The jury was composed of William M. Fivahaval, Thomas C. Graham, Uriah Venning, Eli Benner, William M. Anthony and William S. Graham.

Prices Reduced for the First Time.

*For two good reasons, during all the many successive sales held in these rooms, we never offered any rugs at less than regular prices. First, our regular prices were never so high as to admit of any such reduction. Second, our collection was ever choice and rare. Some of the pieces could never be duplicated. We had no "dead stock" to be got rid of at any price. These two reasons still exist, but exceptional circumstances have compelled us to deviate for once from our hitherto iron-bound rule, and for the first time in the history of our sale to offer each and every piece of our unique collection of Orientals at substantially reduced prices. ## The Originality of Phipps & Atchison Hats.

All women will agree that the thing about a hat that most charms is its originality. The fussy hat conjured by fussy fingers ends generally in grotesque incongruities. ## Women's Finest Apparel for Reduced Prices.

Too much dust flying around the second floor, where an army of carpenters are at work, to think of saving the handsome Wraps, Costumes, etc., from being smirched, and so we today advise that

Our finest imported Wraps, Costumes, Waists, etc., are reduced very heavily, in some instances fully one-half. When we say imported garments the makers' name is in all instances on the garment offered.

And that is not all—our handsome Tailored Suits of both American and foreign make are on racks exposed to the dangers of dust, etc., and to reduce the very large number of garments we have made prices that will put them in the hands of new owners quickly. Specimens:

$14.75 for $20.00 Suits in long-coat effects—zibellines and other fabrics. Now these suits were low in price at the first figure of $20.00.

$19.00 for $25.00 Suits—Cheviots, mixtures, tweeds and other materials, pleated or plain long-coat models, black, brown, blue.

$23.50 for $30.00 Suits in fine panne cheviots and other fabrics, black and all colors. Newest models embodying every smart feature in the most recent designs.

$35.00 for $50.00 Suits. This group comprises a great many one-of-a-kind garments, bought as samples from our best makers, and offered to our customers at the same concessions.

NOTE—Every suit offered in this special sale is the product of this season and the most recent results of the designer's art. Not a passe garment is offered in order to make price the motive for the sale.

Friday, October 30, 1903.

Andrew Carnegie has arrived at quarantine on the good ship Cedric and today will step again upon American soil. The American people hail the event and expect, according to custom, to hear wisdom from the lips of the great retired manufacturer. Mr. Carnegie has an interesting theme before him. Since he was last at home in New York there have been parlous times in Wall street, and the disturbance has spread to the interior and is still spreading. Cannot Mr. Carnegie tell what Wall street and the remainder of the country may do to be saved? He will be given a more willing hearing in New York than has been accorded to Dowie.

A verdict was finally rendered in the J. O. Brown inquest yesterday to the effect that the former recorder came to his death from poison administered by some person or persons unknown to the jury. It is a tame ending to a sensational case that was needlessly protracted. Apparent efforts were made during the inquiry to frighten somebody into a breakdown or an incriminating move, but if there was expectation of any such result it was disappointed. The case might have been discontinued long ago with advantage to the public, as the first sessions brought out the only real information obtained. After that stage further proceedings might well have been at private expense.

Sudden death in the Santa Fe railroad wreck removed a brilliant figure from the field of effort for the reclamation of the fallen. Mrs. Booth-Tucker was practically the head of the Salvation Army movement in America, succeeding to the place of her brother, Ballington Booth, now in this city, who founded the American Volunteers rather than obey his father's order to leave America for other fields. The Salvation Army has some methods that are often criticised, but there is no room for question about the good it has accomplished in various parts of the world. Mrs. Booth-Tucker was an ardent worker and a competent director of the rescue work done by the "Army" in the United States.

"Sam" Parks, the New York walking delegate, who was convicted of levying blackmail and is now being tried again, admitted on the witness stand yesterday that he got the money. He adopted an air of bravado and declared a good many of the things testified to by other witnesses were true. The real workingmen who suffered loss of employment on this fellow's account are probably asking themselves serious questions by this time as to whether or not it is worth while to have a union if they cannot be sure it will be honestly managed. The inordinate demands made by Parks and others tied up the building trades in New York last spring and contributed the first active impulse to the slump that is now threatening serious consequences all around.

The Leader, which is in a position to speak with authority of the intentions of our present rulers, notifies the Baltimore & Ohio railroad that if the ring carries the election it will have to smart for the conduct of its representatives in exposing the hold-up. It says that "the position of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in relation to our city government will be decidedly unpleasant. A corporation avowedly hostile to the municipal administration cannot with a good grace insist upon concessions from that quarter." All of which being interpreted means that corporations might as well submit quietly to being plugged or it will be worse for them in the end. This has been pretty plainly intimated before, but has never been so frankly stated as it is now by the Leader.

There are signs of general upheaval in Spain. At present riots are going on at Bilbao, where great destruction has been effected by the mob and many people have been killed or wounded in conflicts with the troops. The rioters are using dynamite to blow up buildings and destroy railroad tracks so as to suspend train service. Barricades are thrown up in the street and the fighting is more persistent and systematic than occurs in ordinary riots. While constituted authority is thus assailed by mob uprising its foundations are being undermined by the spread of political disaffections. There is a strong growth of revolutionary sentiment, aiming at the overthrow of the throne. Salmeron, the leader of the Republican party, recently issued a statement that the policy favored by the young king was opposed to the interests of the country and that they had resolved on immediate action. The declaration is full of grim significance and portends activities whose ordinary result is a period of disorder, followed by the establishment of a military dictatorship.

The letter of Mr. M. F. Tighe to one of the Orphans upon their efforts for good government well expresses a widespread sentiment when he says: "It is actions such as these that inspire confidence in the minds of those whose conception of public office rises above the common example set by some of our public servants, viz., that public office should be administered for private gain or loot." Mr. Tighe, who is assistant secretary of the Amalgamated association, is a representative of the class of the community who are the more direct and immediate sufferers from the conversion of official opportunities into the instrument of private gain. The hold-up carried on by the air-tight combine has prevented improvements that would have caused the disbursement of many millions in the Pittsburgh district that in various ways would have gone direct to labor. The only positive achievement which the present system of boss rule can point to of special concern to labor interests is the maintenance of the typhoid fever epidemic. Both in what it has done and in what it has not done, every man who lives by his labor has a just grievance against the ring now running the city government for its own advantage.

The "Orphans'" Future.

The term "Orphans," originally applied in derision to Mr. William H. Stevenson and his followers in common council, bids fair to be worn as a decoration of honor. If these honest men carry out their declared intent and organize a campaign to elect men like themselves to councils in February, they can find no better or more popular party name than that with which their enemies have so contemptuously christened them.

We cannot refrain from reminding Mr. Stevenson and his associates that the stand they now take is precisely the same as the one which The Gazette took 10 months ago. We saw then, as they see now, that the leaders of the Citizens party had abandoned all intention of carrying out the promises of reform so freely made when the party was founded, and we felt that we could not bear the responsibility involved in further advocating its claims. We therefore chose the only course that was left us and urged the election of the Republican candidate for mayor. We have never for a moment regretted this action. We would rather go down to defeat a hundred times than be responsible in the slightest degree for the present city administration, with its record of infamy and dishonor. That the "Orphans" do not go to the extent of advising in express terms the support of the Republican candidates is of little importance. They have cut the chains which bound them to the Citizens organization and it is their duty and the duty of every voter who shares their aims and ideas of citizenship to do everything in their power to weaken that organization and prevent its proprietors from tightening their grip on the public throat so that it can never be loosened. But whatever they do in this election we hope they will persevere in their intent to organize an independent, non-partisan movement for the control of councils in direct and distinct opposition to the present city machine, but with no responsibility to any bosses, leaders or to anybody except to the people whom they serve.

If the "Orphans" take this step we would strongly advise the Republican organizations in the various wards to indorse their candidates and assist in electing them. The Republican party of New York city is at this time acting in union with other reform organizations, endeavoring to continue in power the reform administration of Mayor Low and save the city from Tammany control. There is no reason why the Republican party of Pittsburgh should not follow the same course. If the "Orphans" put up good men for councils the Republicans ought to indorse them.

It must be borne in mind that some of the signers of the "Orphans" manifesto are by no means above suspicion, and their declaration of independence may be taken in a Pickwickian sense. The majority, however, are undoubtedly honest, well-meaning men, and their efforts at better government should receive the countenance and support of all good citizens.

A Foolish Policy.

A great hullabaloo is being raised on the ground that the action of the state board of health with regard to Allegheny city is a political maneuver, conceived with the intention of discrediting the administration of Mayor Wyman. There is nothing whatever to sustain this assumption. If politics inspired the proceedings why is not Pittsburgh included? The municipal administration is of the same political complexion, and if the prevalence of smallpox is being turned to account for political purposes, Pittsburgh would be a more inviting mark than Allegheny city. The only theory that agrees with the facts is that the state board of health is dealing with sanitary conditions as it finds them, and that its treatment of Allegheny is the result of convictions of duty. Its action may be injudicious or unwarrantable, but there is no trace of any political purpose in it.

The disease got a start in Pittsburgh which it would not have had under good management, but since the false economy which crippled the work of the health bureau has been renounced, measures taken to stop the spread of the disease meet the approval of the state board of health, so that there is no reason for its interference. In Allegheny a contrary policy has been pursued. An attitude of defiance was assumed; it was said that the city authorities would attend to their business in their own way and the agent of the state board was pointedly advised to go about his business. He was told that he would be better employed in looking after cases occurring in camps about the county than in poking into the affairs of Allegheny city. This policy ignored the fact that in going about its business the state board could proclaim the very quarantine over which there is now such an outcry.

The heated declarations about appealing to the courts to reverse the action of the state board of health ignore the fact that the proceeding will in all probability involve the investigation which is now denounced as a thing outrageous to propose. In order to show that the action of the state board is unwarranted evidence of the actual condition of affairs would have to be introduced. The state board certainly has not acted except upon reports which made a case for the exercise of its authority, and the publication of those reports will hardly be advantageous to Allegheny. Ordinary prudence would suggest that instead of injecting politics into the case and exhibiting the local health authorities in an attitude of defiance of regulations deemed necessary for the public health by state authorities entrusted with the responsibility, the sensible course to pursue would be to entertain courteously any suggestions as to bettering methods of suppressing the disease. The energy wasted in resenting an interference which, whether wise or not, has official authority to sustain it, would be much better employed in the work of sanitation.

The Pivot of Local Politics.

Mr. Thomas M. Brown brings forward an argument against the Orphans which to his mind appears conclusive. He says he has always been friendly with the Orphans. Hence, they "should have adopted a neutral policy. If they did not care to help me nothing should have been done that would mar my prospects."

This convicts the Orphans of error in imagining that the responsibility of a party organization is to be measured by the way in which it discharges its obligations to the public. They have been under the impression that the neglect of duty and betrayal of pledges by the Citizens organization was the chief matter of public concern when passing upon a party application for the bestowal of additional official trusts, whereas the true pivot of the campaign is the prospects of Thomas M. Brown. If the course taken by the Orphans may mar those prospects they stand condemned in the opinion of Thomas M. Brown.

The paramount importance of this issue gives an explanation of the public career of Thomas M. Brown, which the Voters' Civic league overlooked in making up their report. They criticize his course in councils as having been "characterized by an apparent tendency toward evading important issues at critical moments;" and they speak of his record as chairman of the committee on filtration as "one of indifference, dilatoriness and neglect." The justification of his conduct, which he has to offer, is that had he acted otherwise it might have marred the prospects of Thomas M. Brown. What if neglect of water purification sustains a typhoid fever epidemic which claimed 612 victims during the 15 months Mr. Thomas M. Brown successfully avoided action! There were interests favoring delay, disregard of which might have marred the prospects of Thomas M. Brown.

This disposes of the Orphans manifesto in Mr. Brown's opinion. The consideration which should influence voters in casting their ballots is not the record of party treachery and dishonesty set forth by the Orphans' manifesto, nor the record of violated trusteeship displayed in Mr. Brown's own career, but it is how action will help or hurt Mr. Brown's prospects. No matter what the case may be, it is inconceivable to him how it can be right to do anything to mar his prospects, and this is the great principle of conduct which if elected he will carry into the sheriff's office.

Logic of Facts.

Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the treasury department makes a good speech. He is not so much given to oratorical effects as to plain and logical thinking. His Boston address of last night is a case in point. Without wasting words in building up a theory he marshaled the facts of trade between this country and England which show at a glance the effect of free trade on the one and of a protective tariff on the other. The facts cannot be denied. Our Democratic friends may try to dodge them, but the stolid British people, wedded to their idols, are beginning to contemplate the destruction of those idols.

Passing to the general movement of commerce and the advantage of direct lines of communication Secretary Shaw was no less logical. Commerce follows lines of least resistance. It is a natural law. Our foreign trade will increase when we have lines of direct communication under American control. Those lines can be established only by the application of protection as it is employed by Great Britain, Germany and the other commercial nations of Europe. That is by the payment of subsidies. As Mr. Shaw says, the word subsidy is a bogey word and one that scares the children. But there is nothing terrible about it except the name.

An appropriation for the encouragement of the merchant marine engaged in our foreign commerce is just as proper, pertinent and logical as a subsidy for the improvement of a harbor on Lake Erie or the building of a lock on the Ohio river. A harbor appropriation for the port of Philadelphia or for repairs to the Delaware breakwater is just as much a subsidy for marine encouragement as a payment direct to a steamer that carries American products to market in a foreign port. This country needs nothing at the hands of its government more than a subsidy to encourage the building and operation of American merchant ships.

Fleas on the Rat.

Bubonic plague was discussed before the national board of health at Washington yesterday and some interesting data supplied, mainly by Surgeon General Wyman. Of course the public is pretty well aware that rats are accused of spreading this contagion. The surgeon general after several years of inquiry into the subject, through quarantine officers and others on the Pacific coast, in Hawaii and in the Philippines, declares positively that the connection between rats and the bubonic plague has been established. In consequence he proposes to prevent its spread by a system of fumigation of all ships that will destroy the rats. He says this fumigation should be conducted as soon as cargo has been discharged and before the rats have time to escape on shore.

It developed during the discussion that the sanitary scientists have not determined just how the rats communicate the contagion, or just what is their office in spreading it. As a possible explanation a careful investigation is to be made of the rat flea, on the theory that the plague germ may be matured in the flea as the malarial germ is said to be matured in the anopheles mosquito, and that it is similarly transferred to the human body by the bite of the flea. This investigation can certainly do no harm to the public, and it is for the scientists to see to it that the fleas do no harm to them. Meantime, pending the inquiry into the possible guilt of the flea, the broad interests of humanity may be served by destroying the rats and their fleas by the same process. The rat is of no known utility and can be better spared than the English sparrow, which infests the city streets. In any event thorough fumigation at the end of each voyage will be a good thing for the ships, whether they have bubonic plague on board or not. Frequent and thorough fumigation is never amiss on sea or on land. Cleanliness is next to godliness and is safe.

Mme. Melba, who sang to Pittsburgh the night before last, and Mme. Patti, whose engagement has been canceled, with other singers who have no Pittsburgh dates, are so adept in transforming their notes into United States currency that it is a wonder it hasn't occurred to some orator at a packer's convention to suggest that the true way to relieve the financial stringency is to cage a whole flock of these songbirds and place them where they can do the most good. It ought to make the rubber money propaganda look like 30 cents.

Louis Kempner, the recently dismissed superintendent of the registry division of the treasury, in defending himself in court from a charge of general inefficiency, submits an original copy of a letter of recommendation from Roosevelt, written August 5, 1890, when the president was governor of New York, to Charles Emory Smith, postmaster general. Mr. Kempner is, however, on trial for his conduct in office subsequent to the date of the letter, and not for what he may have been or have done.

The recent marriage of Senator Stewart and the marriage a short time previously of Senator Platt, the one aged 78 and the other 70, continue to be treated as somewhat surprising occurrences. But surely the senators were old enough to wed.

Perhaps it is the easier feeling in financial circles that caused the weather man to sidetrack his winter samples until there is an actual demand for snowballs as a diet. However, it is reassuring to know that he has them in stock.

As all the wicked people in New York are associated with the fortunes of Tammany hall, how could Prophet Dowie expect to reform them just when they are working to get a fresh grip on the flesh pots?

It is one of the amusing features of the county campaign to see the Dispatch with its sand filtration record, singling out for support Candidate Thomas M. Brown with his unsavory slum water record.

A Cleveland woman who was blinded by a vitriol thrower is now trying to save him from punishment because he is willing to marry her. Some people do not know when they have trouble enough.

Candidate Thomas M. Brown is grieved because the Orphans didn't mention him. However, the Voters' Civic league gave him some publicity the other day, which ought to count for something.

If our Canadian cousins once absorbed the idea that England doesn't care very much whether they secede or not there may not be the same eagerness for independence.

The Democratic-Citizens machine threatens that it won't let the Baltimore & Ohio run its trains in Pittsburgh after a while. But just wait till the seashore season opens.

Chauncey Depew, who has been married much longer than Senators Platt and Stewart, is said to refer to them affably as his "young friends."

According to Mr. Johns McCleave, Mr. Murry Verner is acquiring a reputation in Pittsburgh equal to that which he gained in Indianapolis.

Mr. McCleave has passed the question, he says, Mr. Verner asked him up to the people. Answer due next Tuesday.

The ill health of Allegheny city continues to be attended to by its own bureau of health.

WE HAVE BEEN FRIENDS.

We have been friends together,
In sunshine and in shade;
Since first beneath the chestnut trees
In infancy we played.
But coldness dwells within thy heart,
A cloud is on thy brow;
We have been friends together—
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been gay together;
We have laughed at little jests;
For the fount of hope was gushing
Warm and joyous in our breasts.
But laughter now hath fled thy lip,
And sullen grows thy brow;
We have been gay together—
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been sad together,
We have wept with bitter tears,
O'er the grass-grown graves, where slumbered
The hopes of early years.
The voices which are silent there
Would bid thee clear thy brow;
We have been sad together—
Oh! what shall part us now?

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

We talk about "the good times"
And long for days to come,
While they are blooming in the rose,
Or hiding 'neath the bun!
—F. L. Stanton.

What a lot of kickers there are in this world. It is gratifying, however, to be able, once in a while, to find a fellow mortal who thinks the times in which he lives are about good enough, all things considered.

What is the matter with the times, anyway? Suppose the kickers write out an indictment against them, specifying wherein they are not good. That is the way to get at the facts.

* * * * *

Dollars to dimes that the chief specification in the indictment will be the difficulty in getting money.

What do we want money for?

Merely to spend. There are some, of course, who want it just for the sake of having it, but the average individual wants it to spend. He thinks he wants to live high and fine and be sporty.

What has been the fate of the average young man who has had all the money he wanted to spend?

A full pocket generally leads to a pace that kills.

Only those who have earned their money know how to care for it, and to use it to the best advantage.

This is the best world there is for human beings. There may be better ones for spirits or other forms of life, but none better for spirits encumbered with the mortal coil.

This world may have been made for rum, or he may be nothing more than one of the incidents of creation. There is much that leads to the latter conclusion. None of the various phenomena of nature show him the least respect. The lightnings smite him, storms regard him not at all, seasons come and go just as if he were not here and he is not consulted about anything. If he cannot get enough to eat he must starve, and if he doesn't provide against cold he will freeze.

* * * * *

The simple plain truth of the matter is this: Man was placed here because he was fitted to the conditions existing on the earth. He was given a body containing all the appliances necessary to live here for a limited time.

In addition to a body adapted to drawing vitality from the products of the earth, man was given certain organs of intelligence, by means of which he can adapt himself to the conditions that surround him. There is everything within his reach that is possible for him to enjoy, and he has but to put forth the necessary energy, directed by proper intelligence, in order to secure the utmost comfort and pleasure that it is possible for a human being to enjoy.

You may be inclined to doubt this, but suppose you sit down and formulate your objections, and see what they amount to.

If you want food and raiment, it is at your command. Of course, the food is not brought to you in a hamper, nor the raiment in a Saratoga trunk, but it is yours in exchange for a reasonable amount of well-directed energy.

Do you want wealth?

There is just as much of it on the earth as there ever was, and you are as much entitled to it as any other living creature. It will not be poured into your boots while you steep, but if you direct your energies aright it will come to you as certainly as light comes with the rising of the sun.

Light is a product of solar energy, wealth is a product of intellectual energy.

"Will you be kind enough to tell us what we may eat and drink safely? You have been impressing it upon our minds that health depends very largely on food. No one can give advice that will be more readily accepted than yourself."

Thus writes a New Brighton gentleman who professes to be in search of good health. He says he once was strong and healthy and could eat anything that was edible, but now he has difficulty in finding anything that he can eat with comfort, or that does him good after it is eaten.

He is fair enough to admit that he was imprudent in his eating and drinking, and he accepts the punishment with as good grace as possible.

* * * * *

A student of health who has been giving especial attention to the values of different articles of food has kindly written a short article relative to foods fit for any season of the year, from which these extracts are taken:

"Food may be hot or cold. It is important to remember that warm foods are not necessarily heating and cold ones are not necessarily cooling. Green vegetables and fruits, whether raw or cooked, are apt to be cooling, while even cold meat and chicken are heating. So is rich milk and cream, even though they may be served at freezing temperature.

"Iced drinks as doctors proclaim annually, are extremely injurious. The only proper way of cooling water is to place the water bottle in the refrigerator next to the ice compartment. Lemonade and milk cooled in this way are also better than when they are cooled by having ice dropped into them. Bouillon, to be served cold, should be treated in the same way, as well as wine or other drinks. None of these, however, should be taken in large quantities. They do not allay thirst and play havoc with the digestive apparatus. If one is able to indulge in the luxury of a lawn wrapper and retirement after the noon meal, a cup of hot liquid is the best thing for thirst. It has the effect of a Turkish bath, however, and therefore is not to be commended to those who cannot seclude themselves temporarily.

"The proper luncheon for a warm day does not consist of a sandwich, iced tea and lemon ice, the common practice of women to the contrary notwithstanding. Neither is it prudent to consume unlimited glasses of iced lemonade, ginger ale and sarsaparilla between luncheon and dinner.

"The woman whose proud privilege it is to lunch at home has no excuse whatever for having anything but an eminently sensible meal at noonday. It may be as hot or as cold as she pleases. It may be light or heavy according to her appetite and her afternoon's work. If she has any mental work to do she will be wise if she avoids heavy dishes. The greatest amount of nourishment she can obtain in light form is best for her. If she has no more serious duties than playing tennis and dozing to employ her time she may eat as heavy a luncheon as she wants."

Don't nibble and sip.

If you are thirsty take a drink of cool water—not ice water—and exercise enough to promote free perspiration.

If you are hungry eat some bread and meat, but don't nibble at cookies and nicnacs between meals.

This desire to nibble and sip is an indication of nervous irritability of the throat or stomach, probably the former. A dry throat is very apt to produce these symptoms. If they are constant it will be well to have something done for it. A slight cold affecting the air passages is one of the most prolific causes of this condition. Remove the cold and the throat will get well.

Russo-American Friendship.

Today Manchuria is Russian ethnically, and treaty stipulations are redundant or superfluous. Nor has this country anything to fear from the reported treaty. The concessions respecting American trade made with equal cordiality by Russia and China severally will be unquestionably maintained by them jointly. The ancient friendship of Russia for the United States has been so practical, so faithful and so rational that any interruption of their commercial amity is not conceivable. Russian material progress has been largely accomplished with the aid of American mind and American materials. The people of the United States have for more reason to look with confidence to increasing Russian power in the east than to expect extensive gains to civilization through reluctant and niggardly concessions by China, which is impotent to maintain its own order.—Chicago Tribune.

Protect the President.

The life of an American president is at least as well worth safeguarding as that of a foreign royal ruler. Our old pleasant theory that it was sufficiently safeguarded by our form of government and the regard of our free democracy for laws and executives of its own making and choosing does not square with experience and hard fact. We want and need no such elaborate and unrepublican precautions as are taken in Russia or Germany. Such a system would be ridiculous and superfluous in this country, and would invite the danger it is meant to avert. But we do want measures, and it will be the urgent duty of congress to provide them, operating to minimize the danger from crankism and anarchism by detecting and heading off special cases of it well in advance.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Gen. Greene, commissioner of police, has given Tammany Hall a shock by saying that he will stay in the office for three years longer no matter how the election may go. It is an article of faith with the Tiger that to the victor belongs the spoils, regardless of civil service rules or anything else. It has been the supposition of the commonalties that if by any chance Low should be defeated next month there will be a police commissionership to be handed over to some favored follower of C. F. Murphy. Commissioner Greene has a different idea. He says he cannot be displaced save to serve the public interests and that a mayor who turned him out for political reason would find himself in a bad position. Greene is a soldier and a man of determination. If he has made up his mind to be police commissioner until the end of his term, three years hence, the probability is that he will do it. It would be a difficulty for Tammany Hall to have a man as commissioner who could not be handled by the manipulators of office, graft and so on. The record of the commissioner is clean and he is not likely to be swerved from what he regards as the proper course to please Tammany, no matter how hard might be the pressure brought to bear upon him.

The revised charter of the city to support him had he will stand on that. But, after all, it is not likely that an issue between him and Tammany will come up, for indictions of Fusion victory grow stronger day by day.

Hushing Up a Murder.

It is said that an attempt will be made to hush up the murder committed at an uptown hotel last night. New Yorkers remember that this is the second murder by frequenters of that hotel within a few months. The former affair was the killing of a man with a blow of an umbrella by someone who was supposed to be a prominent New Yorker. The two had been in the hotel, although the assault took place on the sidewalk outside in Broadway. There is supposed to be political power behind the hotel which is strong enough to turn the police away when they begin an investigation. In the present case the assailant is supposed to be under arrest, although the victim refused to accuse him just before he died.

Color Will Help Tammany.

Rhinelander S. Color has plunged into the active work of the campaign as an orator for Tammany. He has swallowed the whole ticket, Grout and all. He will make his first speech tomorrow night at a meeting on the West Side and the Tammany managers are delighted. Color has been holding back and Tammany did not know whether they could get his help or not. Now that he has come out flat-footed for the ticket there is rejoicing in Fourteenth street.

Courage Is Necessary in Orators.

As the campaign progresses physical demonstrations against speakers are becoming more numerous. Bad eggs and vegetables are used so frequently that hired speakers from cart tails are talking of demanding a raise of wages to help them pay for the damage to their clothing and feelings. In Devery's district yesterday one of the chief's spellbinders was attacked, while on the East Side it is a downright heroic undertaking to preach Fusion, especially in "de Ate," or some other district where the Tammany leader is regarded as only a little lower than the angels.

The Advertising Automaton.

There is in the window of a clothing store in upper Broadway a curious entertainment. A young man stands in the show window holding a large card in his hand. He is perfectly motionless, not even winking for 10 minutes at a time, except that he turns the card in his fingers with a spasmodic jerk every few seconds, so that either side may be read alternately. About the time that the crowd outside makes up its mind that he is a wax figure he relaxes, puts down the card and picks up another, which announces that certain clothing is cheap and good at that store, and smiles as the assemblage outside melts away. He gets a good salary, no doubt, for persons of this kind are hard to procure. The nervous strain tells on them in course of time and they become physical if not mental wrecks before they have had time to earn many hundreds of dollars. Many Pittsburghers will remember the cavalryman who used to stand motionless in the United States exhibit of arms, with a wooden horse by his side, the bridle hanging over his arm. He would stand thus for half an hour at a stretch.

Calling on the Arabic.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Smith of Pittsburgh are among those who will sail for Liverpool tomorrow on the White Star liner Arabic.

Sorrow for Mrs. Booth-Tucker's Death.

Mourning for Mrs. Booth-Tucker will be worn by many New Yorkers who knew and loved the earnest Salvation Army worker. It is understood that the body will be brought to New York and that memorial services will be held at Salvation Army headquarters in West Fourteenth street. That there will be an immense assemblage there can be no doubt and the hall is sure to be filled to overflowing. It is possible that some other place of greater capacity will be chosen for the exercises. In all probability the interment will be in England in the family tomb of the Booths. Mrs. Booth-Tucker is perhaps better known in New York than anywhere else in America, most of her work having been done in this city, and grief is general as well as sincere. Flags are at half mast over the headquarters building as well as at many other places where the deceased is held in tender memory.

Parks' Hope Is in Osborne.

James W. Osborne, ex-assistant district attorney, now counsel for Sam Parks, is making a desperate fight for his client. Parks has great faith in Osborne, believing that if there is any chance at all for him to escape Sing Sing it will be made the most of by his lawyer. Osborne is a fighter, as Parks is, and will surely dispute every inch of the way if his client should have to go up the river again. When Osborne is in court in the middle of a case he dominates everything. He did it when he was on the prosecutor's side of the table and is doing it now that he is on the defensive.

Restoration Host Disheartened.

It is intended that the restoration host shall go back to Zion City on Monday in special trains. Dowie himself intends to stay over for a few meetings in Carnegie hall, it is announced. He recognizes the fact that he has failed in New York, but told his followers today to save their money for another crusade, which he intends to begin as soon as he can make arrangements. He may intend to conduct a crusade again, but it is safe to say that it will not be in New York.

Flat Iron's Rival Rising.

The Flatiron's rival in the shape of the building at Longacre Square is rising above the surface. The steel frame is up several stories. When the edifice is completed it will look down Broadway, while the original Flatiron faces uptown. Persons on the top floors of the two buildings will be able to look into each others' faces with the aid of telescopes.

Cauada's Future.

Our Canadian neighbors should not worry themselves to throw more than 50 fits over anything that ex-Captain Barlow, of this country, has said or may say on the subject of their country and its right to expansion, whether speaking from his own professional conviction or from that of his uncle, Jesse Grant. He has no message which need disturb for a moment the good people across the border. Representative American sentiment is in no degree truculent, or even uncivil, toward Canada at this time about anything. Quite the reverse. The disposition is to be patient while Canada's kicking spell continues, and then, when it has spent itself, to take up with a friendly order of things. The visitor to an important contest can afford to be both patient and polite.

Annexation is an old theme. Some sentiment in favor of the policy has existed for years on both sides of the line. There has never been a test as to its strength. Whether, ultimately, it will be the stronger for this boundary controversy in question. The United States, it may be said, can get along much better without Canada than Canada can without the United States. But, as a matter of fact, both countries are borrowing. Canada is so inviting a field that American farmers in numbers are crossing over and buying lands and settling there. On the other hand, a great many Canadians have crossed over to us, to enjoy what they consider superior advantages of this side. The situation is such, upon the whole, that annexation may very well be left to take care of itself. There is something to be said on both sides.—Washington Star.

+ + + +

Canada is feeling a bit put out with Great Britain because of the Alaska boundary outcome. For the moment the imperial ties are indge. Now is the time for Uncle Sam to catch the snow lady's heart on the rebound. By making himself indispensable at this particular moment he can do much to bring to a final consummation that marriage which all their friends say would be the best thing in the world for them both. In other words, let America offer Canada trade advantages, and let the offer be made now. A close trade friendship will eventual lead to political union in the case of Canada and the United States. The time to make this alliance is now, for Joseph Chamberlain across the water is busily preaching the imperial solipsism, and if Uncle Sam waits too long he is apt to see Miss Canada turn her engagement, with old John Bull into marriage.—Chicago Tribune.

+ + + +

The word "treason" is cast into the air, and there are serious threats of what dire things will happen to the Canadians if they so much as attempt to break away from the mother country. Of course, Sir Wilfred represents a large part of the Canadian sentiment, though perhaps not the major part of it, but certainly a very respectable element, for the idea of the press in the province of Ontario and on the Pacific coast is worse in lower Canada, further than Canada for judgment in this affair. The principal conclusion to be drawn from the study of the situation is that if Canada attempted to break away from the British empire she would have a war on her hands in very short order, and in all likelihood she might feel compelled to appeal to the United States for assistance to gain her independence. However, that may be, the assumption of a mere bond of sentiment as that which holds Canada to the British empire must be dismissed. At least that is not the British thought, and it would be stoutly denied by any British statesman if made in his presence. The decision in the Alaska boundary case has so angered the Canadians, and made it so clear to every mind that they are not independent in any true sense, that talk of separation is becoming more common than has been known since the Durham act.—Buffalo News.

In independence of England lies the political future of Canada as an alternative to Chamberlain's nebulous scheme of imperial federation, with its customs union and its demands for military contributions. Independence may be only the anticipation of ultimate annexation to the United States. To the American people the annexation of this neighbor of kindred institutions and language is, of course, far more desirable in every respect than the possession of remote tropical islands swarming with semi-savage or degenerate inhabitants. The American farmers who are pouring into the great wheat-growing region are developing its unmeasurable wealth will make annexation easy and natural in due course of time. Meanwhile this vast domain of unsurpassing fertility in the northwest contains sources of prosperity for which the Canadians would vainly search in the frozen rivers of Alaska.

Reciprocal free trade would give to the United States and Canada all the commercial and material advantages that could be derived from political union. But on both sides of the St. Lawrence river there is a strange and apparently an invincible notion that a tariff is necessary for the protection of each against the trade encroachments of the other. Political annexation, then, will have to precede reciprocal free trade, instead of free trade preceding annexation. For Canada the successive steps are political independence and annexation to the United States. What, in comparison with the perspective which this opens to both countries, is all the gold that frost-bitten fingers can dig out of the forbidding soil of Alaska.—Philadelphia Record.

+ + + +

It would be entirely erroneous to conclude from some opinions reported to have been expressed in Canada that there is a disposition to seek annexation with the United States. A great majority of the American people would welcome Canadian annexation, but it is doubtful if any man now in middle life will see the accomplishment of such a union. Canada will remain, as it has been for many years, loyal to the British empire in all things.—Denver Republican.

No Ground for Comparison.

Occasionally there are efforts to draw a parallel between business conditions now and those that existed in 1893, the temptation being found in this year's great shrinkage in stock values. But it cannot be done. In the nine months preceding October, the aggregate liabilities of firms, corporations and individuals that were forced into insolvency this year were about $88,800,000, while in the corresponding portion of 1893 the total of such liabilities was no less than $327,000,000. That is, the amount involved 10 years ago was nearly four times the figures of this year. Besides, while in 1893 our credit abroad was practically destroyed, because of Europe's fear that we were about to go on a silver basis, and gold was being hoarded and withdrawn from the country, now we are on a reasonably permanent gold basis, we possess the largest gold supply of any nation in the world and our credit abroad is perhaps better than it ever was before.—Providence Journal.

The Sunday Gazette a Model.

The Pittsburgh Gazette's Sunday edition is a model of its class and demonstrates the fact that a large and interesting paper can be printed without resort to a sickly "yellow" feature. The editorial part of The Sunday Gazette, printed in magazine form, is especially interesting and well written. The home journal magazine part is about the best of its class that reaches this office.—Johnstown Tribune.

QUAY PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK

Predicts a Big Off Year Majority at the Election in This State Next Tuesday.

SAW PENROSE YESTERDAY

Beaver Senator Spent the Day in Conference With Republican State Chairman and Insurance Commissioner Durham.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building. PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 29.

Senator M. S. Quay arrived here this morning. Senator Boies Penrose, Insurance Commissioner Israel W. Durham and Secretary W. B. Andrews spent the forenoon with Col. Quay and the four had dinner together at the Hotel Walton. Col. Quay said he would probably leave for Beaver tonight.

"I came to Philadelphia on private business," said Senator Quay to The Gazette correspondent. "There is nothing more I can say, politically, which will illumine the situation. The reports received by Chairman Penrose are more than encouraging and I feel certain the Republican state ticket will poll a very good off-year majority."

Chairman Penrose, after his talk with Senator Quay, said:

"Senator Quay came to town today to talk with some of us regarding affairs in the state generally, and he expressed himself as well pleased with what we told him. Senator Quay is watching the situation in every county in the state, and I know from what he said today, that he is satisfied that the Republican ticket will be well supported everywhere next week. The senator is naturally interested in the counties in which there are close fights, and I know that he is looking forward to gratifying news when the vote is counted on next Tuesday.

"As the Republican state chairman, I have no hesitancy in saying that the Republican state ticket this year will poll a larger vote than has ever been cast for a state ticket in an off year in Pennsylvania. It is no exaggeration to say that in some districts the interest being taken in the coming election closely resembles that of a big campaign. The Republicans in every part of the state seem to have taken off their coats for the ticket and that means, of course, a good turnout at the polls for our candidates on election day."

It was not denied that the vacancy on the supreme court bench was discussed at yesterday's conference, but it was authoritatively stated that the situation is no nearer a solution than it was two weeks ago.

The impression prevailing in political circles is that Lyman D. Gilbert of Harrisburg or Superior Court Judge Rice will eventually be appointed, but that the appointment will not be announced until after the election next week.

MOVING A LARGE TANK.

The Atlantic Refining Company Transferring Oil Receptacle by Land and Water.

The last of the large tanks which were on the ground of the Atlantic Refining Company's dismantled refinery above the Sharpsburg bridge is being moved to the company's works at Fifty-seventh street and the Allegheny Valley railroad. It is 25 feet high, 240 feet in circumference, weighs 180 tons and has a capacity of 35,000 barrels. The tank was originally 350 feet from the bank of the Allegheny river, and it was decided that the removal from the intersection of Butler street extension and the Morningside road to the foot of Fifty-seventh street could best be done by water.

The work was started by making two large excavations under the tanks, into which were placed 50-foot timbers after the tank had been jacked up. Rollers were placed under the tank, rope and tackle were attached to the base, and a windlass whose power came from one horse began to creak and the tank started to move. Most trouble was expected in crossing the Allegheny Valley railroad tracks, but this was done on Sunday in 40 minutes, when no trains were passing. Telegraph wires had to be cut to allow the crossing.

This tank moves about seven feet a day. It is now about 35 feet from the river and it will be taken to within 20 feet of the water, when it will be loaded on five special barges preparatory to its trip down the stream. The transfer to the barges is expected to take place Sunday. It is thought the work will cost about $3,000.

CLERKS HAVING TROUBLE.

Storekeepers Slow in Signing the Scale That Calls for Shorter Hours.

Local assembly No. 4907, K. of L., made up of clerks, is having a hard time in getting next year's working agreement arranged. The present agreement expires November 9, but the local assembly generally has the matter settled before the last of October. The present scale is to start work at 7:30 a. m. and to close at 6:30 p. m., the first five days in each week and at 10 o'clock Saturday evenings. The new scale called for starting at 8 o'clock five days in the week and stopping at 6 o'clock the first five evenings and 8 o'clock Saturday evenings.

Many merchants refused to sign the new agreement. The large stores open at 7:30 and close at 5 o'clock the first five evenings and on Saturdays at 6:30. This caused the assembly to change its demands to provide for closing at 7 o'clock Saturday evenings instead of 8 o'clock. Yesterday a committe headed by Secretary S. L. Coleman canvassed the various merchants recognizing the union, securing signatures to the new agreement. The committee will report to the next assembly meeting Wednesday evening.

XMAS EISTEDDFOD.

Cambrian Singers Will Hold a Memorial Meeting in This City.

The Welsh residents of Pittsburgh have arranged a memorial eisteddfod to be held in Pittsburgh on Christmas day as a tribute to the late Dr. Joseph Parry, the famous Cambrian composer whose death occurred in Cardiff, Wales, last February. Afternoon and evening sessions will be held and the morning will be devoted to the reception of visitors and to the qualifying examination of contestants. Fifteen prizes will be offered, amounting to $225.

T. J. Davies, conductor of the Pittsburgh Choral union, which won the first prize at the National eisteddfod in Pittsburgh last May and who was an old pupil of Dr. Parry, is chairman of the music committee. Prof. H. W. Owens, musical instructor of the Ohio Normal university, will award the musical prizes and E. S. Griffiths of Cleveland will adjudicate the declamatory contests. W. C. Jones of Scranton will make the poetical awards. The principal prize will be $100 for the best mixed chorus of 30 or 40 voices, with a gold medal to the conductor.

HOLLIDAY ASKS FOR MORE HELP AND ROOM

Pittsburgh Postmaster Lays His Case Before the Federal Officials.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Postmaster George L. Holliday today asked the postoffice department for more help and more room, both of which requests were made necessary by increase in business of the Pittsburgh office. The question of additional room is one that is pressing hard and will have to be heeded soon. About the only way to meet it, according to the ideas of Postmaster Holliday, is to move some of the offices upstairs in the federal building, possibly the postmaster's office and the office of the cashier. This would give temporary relief, but the matter has been left to the decision of the department officials. Mr. Holliday asked for 10 additional clerks and the readjustment of some salaries and the increase of others.

Supt. Waters of the devision of salaries and allowances was not in the city today, so that a definite reply to these requests could not be obtained, but it is likely that they will be granted.

IN Regal Shoes the toe cap is put on, right over a solid one-piece vamp. It gives double strength to the toe—keeps it shapely. Nearly all other shoes have "pieced vamps"—that is, they simply sew the edge of the cap onto the edge of the vamp—they save a piece of vamp as big as the tip. But where does the wearer come in?

The maker has saved a few cents. The dealer makes just as much. But the wearer as usual "gets the hot end of the stick."

Funny thing, the way most shoe manufacturers figure. They study and scheme and work and stew, to see how much they can take out of a shoe and still have it hold together. Now we've always tried to see how much we could crowd into shoes. And yet there are shoemakers who can't understand why their business lags while ours booms.

Our system of selling direct from tanner to wearer is so economical that, at $3.50 a pair, the best leather and plenty of it can be used in greater pittsburgh

The Amalgamation of Allegheny, Pittsburgh and surrounding territory into one municipality appears to languish, but they grow closer together every day in thought, feeling and interest.

Allegheny and Pittsburgh are practically one city.

Whatever affects one, affects the other, likewise.

There has been talk of a Quarantine that might prevent communication between the people of the two sides of the river, but that is decidedly improbable.

Some other measures may be taken by the authorities to enforce certain regulations, but no one need hesitate to cross from Pittsburgh to Allegheny, or Allegheny to Pittsburgh, at any time, or to come to Pittsburgh or Allegheny from other points.

There is no epidemic—but there is a clash of authority—which will, no doubt, soon reach a settlement without recourse to such stringent measures.

Large Assortment of Choice Goods at Small Profit Prices give this store its prestige.

We don't believe in talking reductions all the the time—most people want Choice Things—which we make it our business to have and That Kind of goods Don't Have to be Marked Down.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT TO BE DEDICATED

First Link in Chain of Libraries in New York Ready for Service.

NINE MORE ARE BEING BUILT

Formal Opening of the Chatham Square Branch Will Take Place November 2 With Appropriate Ceremonies—City Will Furnish Money for Its Support.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

The new building to be occupied by the Chatham square branch of the New York public library at No. 33 East Broadway is to be opened to the public with appropriate exercises on November 2 at 5 o'clock. President Cantor of the borough of Manhattan will preside and addresses will be made by Judge Greenbaum of the supreme court, representing the board of library trustees, and others.

This building is the second of the branch library buildings provided for by the $5,000,000 gift of Andrew Carnegie in accordance with the provisions of the contract made between the city and the library to carry out the purposes of the gift. It has been erected by the library on land purchased by the city and will be maintained as a branch of the New York public library, the city furnishing an annual sum for its support.

The Chatham square building stands in East Broadway, between Catherine and Market streets. It has three full stories with a basement, and a half story on the roof for the janitor. In the basement is an assembly room capable of holding 250 persons. The first floor is occupied by the children's circulating and reading rooms, and the second floor by the circulating department for adults. This arrangement is the reverse of that usually followed in the branch libraries in this city, the children having generally been placed on the second floor. The Chatham square branch is used by a large number of young persons. The third floor is given up to a general periodical and reading room. The front of the building is of granite and Indiana limestone.

It has not been necessary to organize a new branch library to occupy the building, because the Chatham square branch of the public library has already been in operation since the summer of 1896 in a rented building nearly opposite. This branch, with its books and staff, will simply be moved across the street to the new building, where the circulation of books will begin on the morning after the opening. This library has now on its shelves 125,000 books and several thousand more will be added in the new building.

The opening of the new branch library buildings will now proceed, it is expected, with considerable rapidity. Nine more of these are now in various stages of construction and some are approaching completion. The next to be opened will be the Harlem branch in East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

NIGHT OF MELODY IN CARNEGIE HALL

Art Society Gives the First Entertainment of the Winter Season.

FIVE ARTISTS ARE WELCOMED

Schumann's Spanish Love Songs Rendered With Splendid Finish and Expression—Other Numbers Enthusiastically Appreciated—Work of Soloists.

The 298th reception of the Art society was held last evening in Carnegie Music hall, inaugurating the winter's entertainments of this excellent organization. It was in the form of a thoroughly enjoyable concert given by five artists who are great favorites here—Mrs. Seabury Ford, soprano; Miss Marguerite Hall, contralto; Paul Dufault, tenor; Herbert Witherspoon, bass, and Miss Adelia Prentiss, accompanist.

All of these musicians have appeared here previously, and all were here as recently as last season, save Miss Hall. That they were rewelcomed enthusiastically goes without saying. Each is the possessor of a distinctive style and an individuality of charm which made the quartet work marvelously satisfactory. The voices seemed perfectly balanced and blended with extraordinary sympathy.

The first part of the program was given up to Schumann's "Spanish Love Songs," a group of nine melodies, which run the gamut of the tender passion. These have never before been sung in this city and they were heard with a truly appreciative interest. It would be hard to say that any one of these was especially marked, for all were given with a splendid finish and expression. The tenor solo "Confession," and the tenor and soprano duet, "In the Night," seemed to please the audience perhaps a little more than any of the others, though the added song, for bass, "The Contrabandist," made a great hit.

Witherspoon appeared alone to sing a series of songs which were chosen seemingly to bring out the values of contrast. There was Loewe's delicious "Heinlichkeit," an 18th century Wekerlin ballad, and two Irish airs which were gems of graceful simplicity. Witherspoon is always an accomplished artist, singing with a finish and an interpretative power which is most convincing. Added to this, he has one of the most purely lyric bass voices now before the public. He never disappoints—save when he refuses to sing an encore after repeated recalls, as he did last evening. There was genuine insistence on the part of the audience, but he was unmoved by the appeal.

A new "Song Cycle" by Arthur Somerville closed the program, and again Mr. Witherspoon distinguished himself by his charming solo work. This cycle also gave opportunity to hear Miss Hall's beautiful voice alone. It is to be regretted that there could not have been more contralto solo numbers, for Miss Hall has a voice of much richness and power. Mrs. Ford sang several numbers alone, to the gratification of her admirers, but in her duets with contralto and tenor she achieved her best success. Mr. Dufault has improved noticeably, both in tone color and volume since his last appearance here. He always has sung with very sympathetic feeling, but his voice seems to have a purer, sweeter tone than ever before. His solo part in "High Over the Breakers" was well nigh flawless. Miss Prentiss proved herself again to be a thoroughly satisfactory accompanist.

SOCIETY

EARLY in the winter season little entertaining is done for the debutantes of the year before the newcomers and the brides absorbing almost the entire attention of society. Mrs. Eugene Welling Fargny of Westminster place, Shadyside, however, has remembered them and will entertain next Wednesday afternoon at her home in honor of Mrs. T. Reed McKnight of Wheeling and Miss Patty Gregg, a niece of Miss Kate C. McKnight. For this occasion Mrs. Pargny has invited the debutantes of last winter to assist her and Mrs. will form an interesting group about the hostess and her guests of honor. Mrs. McKnight was a bride some months ago and on her own side and through her husband's family is related to a large number of the most prominent families in Pittsburgh society. She is a kinswoman of Miss Patty Gregg, who is a recent comer into social circles in this city.

Mrs. Pargny will receive from 3 o'clock until 6 and her assistants will include Miss Laura Smith, Miss Anne Burgwin, Miss Rebecca Friend, Miss Louise Rogers, Miss Alice Pennock, Miss Ethel Grange, Miss Ethel Byram, Miss Jeannette Lupton, Miss Elizabeth Marshall, Miss Rebecca Jennings, Miss McKay and Mrs. Augustus Gross MacConnell, Mrs. T. Reed McKnight, who was Miss Lydia M. McMechen of Wheeling, W. Va., before her marriage, will arrive in Pittsburgh on Tuesday and will be Mrs. Pargny's house guest for some time.

Mrs. Stenger's Reception.

The chief event among yesterday's society happenings was the reception which Mrs. James Bernard Steuer gave for her daughter, Mrs. James I. Rees, a bride of the early summer. The affair was the first to be given for Mrs. Rees since the opening of the social season. Mr. and Mrs. Rees since returning from their wedding trip, have been making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Stenger in Forbes and Murdoch avenues.

Mrs. Thomas M. Rees, mother-in-law of the honor guest, and Miss Beatrice Schoellkopf of Niagara, received yesterday afternoon with the hostess and her daughter. The assistants were Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Margaret Chalfant, Miss Edna Little, Miss Eleanor Watt, Miss Marsh Reed, Miss Louise Duncan and Mrs. James Duncan of Washington, Pa. Mrs. George Watt, Mrs. Frank H. Murdoch, Mrs. Springer Cunningham and Mrs. James D. Rose, Mrs. Rees' sister, in a wedding gown of white satin with bodice of rose point lace. The hostess was gowned in white mull, with lace trimmings. Mrs. Thomas Rees and Miss Schoellkopf, the latter of whom was maid of honor at the wedding of Mrs. Rees, appeared in light costumes, and the assistants also wore modish autumn gowns.

The hours were from 3 until 6 o'clock, and the guest list numbered about 250. Chrysanthemums were the favored flower in the decorative scheme. In the large central hall, finished in oak, and with dark green hanging, asparagus formed an archway at the foot of the broad staircase, while at the newell post stood a brass jardiniere of asparagus and white chrysanthemums. The round electric globes were also decked in white blooms. In the French drawing room, a gold and pink apartment, an effective grouping of pink flowers and asparagus almost hid the high chandeliers. A beautiful vase held a large bunch of gilded chrysanthemums and the clusters of smaller lights on the walls were decorated with the same. In the library vases of white chrysanthemums were placed on cabinets, tables and mantels. The mantel shelf carved in oak lent artistic touch to the room, in that it extends on both sides over two mahogany bookcases, which with the fireplace occupy one side of the apartment. Yellow was the following color in this room, with its black wood and adornment of yellow chrysanthemums. The flowers with asparagus formed a centerpiece on the tea table, almost hiding the flowers. Smaller flowers, in couples, shaded the single lights studding the walls.

Luncheon for Brides-Elect.

Miss Nettie Robinson and Miss Annie Robinson of Pacific avenue gave a daintily appointed luncheon yesterday in honor of two brides-elect, Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Mary Henderson. Miss Pearl Cropsey, Miss Lydia Murdock, Miss Virginia Robinson and Miss Mary Johns, whose engagement to J. Lindsay Kirkpatrick of Murtland avenue was announced at the luncheon. The decorations for the affair were unique. In the center of the table was a train of toy cars. In the luggage cars were six small trunks filled with bonbons and tied with white ribbons. These were distributed to the honor guests as favors. A good luck shoe of pink roses was another pretty feature of the decorations and from the chandeliers hung a shower of pink roses. Cut glass vases were handpainted American Beauties, and the favors to the other guests were little pink baskets of bonbons. Covers were laid for 16, including the honor guests, the two hostesses, Miss Elizabeth Dorchester, Miss Jane Murdock, Miss Helen Holoban and Miss Emily Holoban of Lancaster, house guests of Miss Henderson; Miss Carrie Fricke, who is Miss Cropsey's maid of honor; Mrs. William Farrar, Mrs. C. F. McMurray and Mrs. J. G. Robinson.

This evening Mrs. Stephen R. Johnston will give a dance for Miss Henderson.

Hallowe'en Festivities for the Class.

Miss Nancy Blair of Atlantic avenue, East End, gave a delightful little Hallowe'en party last evening for the members of the class of '04, Pennsylvania college for women and a few other young girls. The guests included Miss Anna McIver, Miss Lyda Patterson, Miss Anna Eggers, Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, Miss Helen Thomas and Miss Jessie Gray of 1904, and Miss Anne Houston, Miss Elsie Brown, Miss Margaret McClelland, Miss Ellis, Pullow, Miss Helen Sherrard and Miss Mary McIntire. The large roomy house gave ample space and opportunity for the many games indulged in by the girls. Yellow and white were mainly the dining room, where these class colors prevailed. A large cake with 12 yellow candles occupied one end of the table, while in the center was an arrangement of yellow dahlias, and on a large central candlestick was a shade of yellow daisies, the class flower. From the chandelier hung four little jack-o'-lanterns. The class is planning a tea to be held early next week, when the new senior parlors will be opened.

Paisley—McKim.

Miss Sarah Paisley, daughter of Mrs. Alexander McKim of Hawkins station, was married last evening at 7:30 o'clock to Matthew McKim, son of Alexander McKim, step-father of the bride. It was a large home ceremony performed by the Rev. George E. Hawes, pastor of the Parker avenue United Presbyterian church, Braddock, in which both young people have been active workers for a number of years. About 140 guests were present. The bride wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with Duchesse lace, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Lillian Beth McKim, a sister of the bridegroom, who wore a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Samuel McKim. The home was decorated with palms, roses and corpsanthemums. Mr. McKim holds a position with the Duquesne Forge Company of Rankin. His bride was a teacher in the primary department of the Rankin schools for several years. After an eastern honeymoon they will reside in Hawkins.

Mrs. Taylor Entertained.

From 4 until 6 o'clock were the hours in which Mrs. Frank Taylor of Penn avenue received her guests yesterday afternoon. With a long line of assistants Mrs. Taylor welcomed about 100 guests. Assisting here were Mrs. J. J. Donnell, Mrs. W. W. Blackburn, Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Mrs. W. D. Moore, Mrs. C. F. Scott, Mrs. Frank Wilcox, Mrs. H. T. Morris, Mrs. Arthur Hartwell, Mrs. C. S. Holland, Mrs. H. L. Barton and Miss Georgia Allison.

Pink and white were the prevailing colors, with chrysanthemums predominating in the decorations. Pink in the dining and the drawing rooms and white in the hall. Vases of the magnificent flowers were placed in the different apartments. Asparagus adorned the chandeliers and smilax was used in profusion. Mrs. Taylor was gowned in gray moire silk, and her aids were handsome afternoon costumes.

Miss Mary Guffey will issue invitations tomorrow for a luncheon on Wednesday, November 11. The affair has been planned for Miss Katherine Paul of La Crosse, Wis., who will come to Pittsburgh next week to visit Miss Guffey for a couple of weeks. The guests will include a number of this year's debutantes. It is probable that several entertainments will be given for Miss Paul during her stay in the city. Although nothing special will be given for Miss Guffey, she is numbered among the buds of this season and the luncheon will bring together the debutante set.

The drill corps, Tancred commandery, Knights Templar, will give an elaborate series of receptions and dances this season, commencing on Wednesday evening, November 4, in the South Highland auditorium. # WOMEN'S CLUBS

Day Nursery Crowded.

The managers of the Oakland Day nursery held a delightful and informal reception yesterday afternoon at the nursery in Atwood street, Oakland. The nursery is crowded with little children and babies almost every day in the year, and the capacity of 50 with 35 the mark frequently reached. The managers are considering the necessity of increasing the capacity of the home in a short time, though the work could not be taken up at this time. About a year ago the board purchased the lot adjoining the present site, thus affording room for an addition which will be erected within a short time. Each member of the board is working to increase the building fund. A progressive euchre will be given in a couple of weeks by Mrs. William Lazarus at her home in Stanton avenue, the proceeds of which will be for the benefit of the day nursery.

At the reception yesterday afternoon, conducted from 2 o'clock until 6, some generous donations were made for the maintenance of the nursery, which during the last year has cared for 3,000 little ones. The donations included money in large checks and smaller cash contributions, clothing, furniture, provisions and groceries. Miss Mary McKee is president of the board of managers, Mrs. William Thaw Edwards secretary and Miss Beulah Little, treasurer. The home is a very handsome building in size, formerly consisting of 12 members, but now including 24.

By a unanimous vote yesterday the union decided to accept the offer of the physicians' association, provided it would be converted into a hospital. The physicians' society is in favor of accepting the gift, provided the people of Carnegie help in the work of raising $10,000 to maintain the hospital. The hall is situated in Creek avenue, Carnegie, and what the property is worth $10,000. The physicians state that it will take several thousand dollars to convert it into a hospital and are in hope of raising this amount in Carnegie. A committee has been appointed by the Women's Christian Temperance union to confer with the physicians' society on the subject.

Conveyances were in waiting to carry the visitors yesterday afternoon from the street cars to the Infants' Home and Maternity hospital on Stanton avenue extension. The reception continued from 2 o'clock until 6, and the visitors were guided through the building, which was thrown open for their inspection. Mrs. Marie Bishop is president of the board of managers, to other members including: Mrs. Laura G. ## PERSONALS

Albert J. Clemson of Sharon is in the city on business. While in the lobby of the Colonial during the night he had this to say: "The shutting down of many of the Sharon mills has not been fully felt by the citizens as yet. A mill has to be out of operation over a month before the merchants feel the effect. It is rumored that the mills will open again in ten days, at least some of them. South Sharon has developed very rapidly during its short existence and the promoters will not see the town drop into oblivion."

Judge Harry White of Indiana spent yesterday in the city. Before leaving he said that the action of the government in going to the rescue of the St. Louis banking institutions would have a good effect in stimulating business. "Many banks are ruined through lack of confidence," said he.

J. H. Jones of Donora spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. Before boarding his train for home he said: "Real estate in Donora dropped 25 per cent in value when it became known that the United States Steel Corporation would not purchase the works. Few new buildings are in course of erection and many that were contemplated will not be commenced.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Wilson Anderson and the bridesmaid, Miss Rosalie Dumenil. Little Miss Louise Kolb, a niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and the ushers were Fred Kolb and George Rose, brothers of the bride and bridegroom. White stuff served for the frock of the little flower girl, the matron of honor wore green silk crepe and the bridesmaid, a gown of white. Both carried white chrysanthemums, the flower girl having valley lilies. Holding white satin ribbons in their hands an aisle was formed for the bridal party by Miss Clara Smith, Miss Lillian Johnston, Miss Julia Marquis and Miss Elizabeth Metzger, all of whom were in white. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Rose of Fremont street, Allegheny, at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. William L. # FUMIGATE MAILS THE FIRST STEP

All the Quaratine Restrictions Will Be Enforced Eventually, Says Dr. Batt.

ONE WAY OUT OF DIFFICULTY

Official Says State Board of Health Has Issued Its Ultimatum and Allegheny Bureau Must Show Results to Stay the Procedure.

Dr. Wilmer R. Batt, state quarantine officer-at-large, returned to this city yesterday fresh from a conference with Dr. Benjamin Lee, secretary and executive officer of the state board of health. Dr. Batt stated that the restrictions in Allegheny City outlined in the letter sent by the state board under date of October 19, to Supt. J. A. McLaughlin of the Allegheny health bureau would be carried out. Preparations, he said, were being made to carry into effect each of the restrictions in the order named in the communication.

Dr. Lee, however, has received a reply from Mr. McLaughlin in which the latter says the bureau is successfully coping with the smallpox existing in Allegheny. This letter was shown Dr. Batt in Washington on Wednesday by Dr. Lee, for it was there the two conferred. And Dr. Milton A. Embick of Boiling Springs, a member of the state board of health, was also present.

"Should Mr. McLaughlin prove to the entire satisfaction of the state board of health," said Dr. Batt last night, "that proper means and methods are being employed to fight the disease, I am empowered to say the quarrantine restrictions will not be carried out by the board. In the meantime I am instructed to proceed toward the carrying out of the restrictions.

"Supt. Bradley of the railway mail service nearby this time received the notice from the state board of health in regard to the fumigation of the mails of the city of Allegheny. It will require at least a day for Mr. Bradley to prepare the proper form of order to the postmaster of Allegheny, and as soon as this is received by the Allegheny postoffice the fumigating of the mails will begin.

"Within the past few days all the members of the state board of health have been communicated with, and they again say that there must be no deviation from the carrying out of the restrictions outlined in the communication sent Mr. McLaughlin. It will take some time to carry out all the restrictions, but they will be carried out unless the state board receives the aforesaid proof from the Allegheny bureau. I am at present engaged on the work of sending out the necessary communications to the express companies and the banks in Western Pennsylvania, which will contain the state board's order to them.

"The state board has issued its ultimatum to Allegheny. It has not been unduly precipitated and there is no possible way of avoiding the restrictions outlined by the board, save by the Allegheny health bureau getting down to business and showing the state board of health results."

...ONY DEPARTMENT IS BEING PROJECTED

...lk in Washington of Adding Another Portfolio to President's Cabinet.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—There is talk of a new cabinet office being established, a department of insular affairs. It is possible that in the coming session of congress this matter may be up for discussion, although there is little probability of action being taken at this time.

If such a portfolio is established it will correspond to the English secretary of state for the colonies. It seems odd to talk of such a place in our cabinet, but things have changed in the past few years and the rush of events has so overthrown former ideas that a department of insular affairs is fast becoming a necessity. The bureau of insular affairs is now connected with the war department in charge of Col. Clarence R. Edwards and has a staff of 100 clerks. Should a department be provided to look after our colonies, it would probably exercise supervision over Alaska as well and probably over Hawaii, although the latter has a territorial form of government.

LIFE HELD CHEAP AT CHARLESTON

Commander of Marine Corps Asks for Additional Guard for Navy Yard.

WOMAN SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD

Gen. Heywood Also Recommends Increase of Salaries for Marine Band to Make Them Independent of Labor Unions Who Bar Them Out.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.

Lawlessness and disregard of human life at the Charleston, S. C., navy yard, has been stringently dealt with by the marine corps. In his annual report for 1903 Major General Heywood says:

"It appears from the attached letter of the commandant of the navy yard at Charleston that there exists at that yard a state of lawlessness which one would hardly expect to find even in the Philippines. According to the report of the commandant, a party of drunken men armed with shotguns barricaded themselves in the yard and announced their intention of holding their position against all comers, and a woman passing through the yard was murdered in broad daylight when the yard was full of workmen. That such wanton disregard of the law could prevail in the locality mentioned is almost inconceivable, yet the undersigned is not in position to doubt that the commandant at Charleston was in full possession of all the facts bearing on the subject when he made the attached report.

"In consideration of the condition referred to above, it is respectfully recommended that a marine guard consisting of one officer and 30 enlisted men be detailed for duty at the navy yard with authority to carry revolvers and to use them when necessary. As will be seen by the first indorsement hereon, by the quartermaster of the United States marine corps, this guard can be quartered in tents until such time as barracks can be erected."

General Heywood favors striking back at the labor unions who have tried to boycott the Marine band's appearance at the celebrations where otherwise union bands might be employed. Gen. Heywood says:

"The Marine band continues in a high state of efficiency under the instruction of the leader, Santalmann, and is acknowledged by all who hear the music rendered by it to be the leading military band of the United States.

"In order to keep up the standard of the organization the best musical talent in the country should be secured, but on account of the constant troubles with the various musical unions of the country it is difficult to get first-class men to enlist for the pay now given to musicians of the band, and as fast as their terms expire the best musicians decline to re-enlist on account of the fact that they are afraid they will not be allowed to accept outside engagements, which would make their pay correspond with the amount they could earn in civil life. I earnestly recommend that the pay of the musicians be increased as follows: To the leader, the pay and allowances of a captain; to the second leader, the pay and allowances of a second lieutenant; to first-class musicians, $100 per month; to second-class musicians, $75 per month."

About $1,000 has been raised for the fund to erect a monument at Arlington over the grave of Captain Austin R. Davis, who was killed at Tien-Tsin, China, July 18, 1900, and who is the only officer of the marine corps killed in actual battle since the civil war.

PROMINENT DRUGGIST BECOMES INCENDIARY

Commits Suicide After a Futile Attempt to Destroy Y. M. C. A. Building.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 29.—An attempt to blow up the Young Men's Christian Association building at Lestershire with an infernal machine, and the suicide of the incendiary after his arrest, is the sensation of the day. Smoke was found issuing from the drug store of Truman W. Wheeler in the Y. M. C. A. building this morning. The door was forced and in the rear room was found a double-burner oil stove on which was a kettle of sealing wax just coming to the boiling point and a mixture of glycerin and nitric acid in another kettle.

Surrounding the stove was a pile of excelsior, and near it a pile of paper surmounted by a large can of benzine. The boiling of the sealing wax would have caused an explosion and fire which would have blown up the building and cost many lives. The stove was turned so high that it was smoking, and this led to the discovery of the plot. Wheeler was arrested on an arson charge, waived examination, was held for the grand jury and brought to Binghamton jail and placed in a cell.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon he was found dead, having taken prussic acid, which he had secreted in his clothes. Wheeler has been a prominent druggist for years and no explanation, save from insanity, can be given for his crime.

HAD HARD WORK TO GET A NAME

Employers' Conference Had to Adjourn to Prevent Good Sized Rumpus.

ONE SPEAKER WAS HISSED

Conservative Delegates Prevented an Open Rupture Between Two Factions. Matter Was Subsequently Harmoniously Adjusted by a Compromise.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]
CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Unable to decide upon a name for the organization, the conference for the purpose of forming a national federation of employers' associations to cope with labor problems, which began here today, was compelled temporarily to adjourn amid the uproar and hisses of the assembled delegates.

The convention reassembled tonight and harmony was restored and it was voted unanimously to adopt the name "Citizens Industrial Association of America." The organization will include both employers and alliances.

A number of the delegates who represent that the body should not have the words trade organizations of the country insisted "citizens alliance" or "alliance" in its title, while those representing the citizens alliances, composed of employers and employes, were firm in desiring recognition.

Previous to the discussion over the matter the rules and regulations committee had reported in harmony to the convention, and the credentials committee announced that 900 delegates, representing many national trade organizations and from nearly every state in the union, were present.

The convention, which was in executive session, then took up the matter of constitution and by-laws, and the debate over the name of the proposed organization began. The question was put to a vote several times, but all was confusion, and before a decision could be arrived at a motion to adjourn was made by the more conservative delegates and carried. At this juncture S. T. Ballard of Louisville, an alliance delegate, mounted a chair and denounced the convention for wasting time. He was hissed and the uproar continued until most of the delegates left the hall.

Among those who spoke on the matter was former United States Senator Saunders of Montana, J. Kirby, jr., president of the Employers' association of Dayton, O.; the Rev. W. J. H. Boetcker of Shelbyville, Ind.; C. N. Chadwick of Brooklyn, and Phillip R. Toll of Kansas City, president of the Employers' association. The addresses of the delegates were conservative and showed a disposition of the manufacturers to uphold what they believe to be their right in the labor problem and to treat labor fairly.

A large fund, it is said, to be raised by per capita assessment, will be used to extend the work of organization of the movement throughout the country. Representatives of state, national, city and interstate organizations, as well as specific crafts, were represented at today's gatherings. It is expected that officers will be elected tomorrow.

TAMMANY'S HEART BARED BY FRIEND OF CROKER

Inside Workings of the Big Machine Divulged in a Work of Fiction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Alfred Henry Lewis, who was on friendly terms with Richard Croker several years ago, and who wrote a biography of Mr. Croker, is the writer of "The Boss and How He Came to Rule New York," which will be published tomorrow by A. S. Barnes & Co.

The book is supposed to be an exposition, based on "An inside" view of certain alleged methods practiced in municipal government under the rule of Tammany hall. Every year, according to the author, there was made a whole valuation of personal property of $9,000,000,000 in round numbers. Within three months of making this valuation it would be reduced to less than $1,000,000,000 "on the word of individuals who made the law-required oaths" and it is intimated that those whose tax bills were thus reduced contributed in proportion to the "welfare of the machine."

The writer enumerates faro banks, pool rooms and disorderly resorts where on the monthly charge for each ran from $50 to $2,000, giving an annual return of $4,000,000. Saloons, each of which met a draft of $20, monthly; great companies suing for favor and about 1,000 small concerns and private persons contributing no less than $1,000,000. Charges for appointment on the police force ranged from $400 for a patrolman to $20,000 for the making of a captain.

W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, will issue a bulletin within a few days defining the concessions made to the trainmen east of Pittsburgh, at the request of their grievance committee. The chief request of the men, that for a shorter working day, has been refused. The company has also declined to enter into any contract with the trainmen, such as the Baltimore & Ohio railroad recently granted its disgruntled employes.

The concessions are of minor importance, although they will aid in making the trainmen's lot more pleasant. They were secured from the company by the sub-committee of the general committee of 56, which held numerous conferences with Mr. Atterbury last wek and the week previous.

Although disappointed at not securing fewer hours, the men, 12,000 in number, are content. Their leaders declare that their relations with the company are entirely harmonious and that the "strike talk" heard several weeks ago had no foundation in fact.

It is said the committee of trainmen called Mr. Atterbury's attention to what it alleged was discrimination against certain men on the part of the division superintendents. They declared, it is said, that superintendents were discharging men who had grown gray in the service of the company, releasing them at a time when they were almost ready to go upon the pension list.

To this, Mr. Atterbury replied that he knew nothing personally of the truth or falsity of the accusations. In the presence of the committee he dictated a letter to the various superintendents. In it he recited the charges made by the trainmen. He instructed such superintendents to look carefully into the matter, and if they found a man had been discharged under the circumstances asserted, immediately to reinstate them.

Mr. Atterbury, it is said, then told the committee that if any men were discharged under like circumstances in the future, they were to notify him. "Send one man, not a committee," the general manager is said to have added, "with proofs that this order has been disobeyed and I will at once ask for the resignation of the superintendent. I will not have men under me who do not implicitly obey my orders."

OCTOBER PROFITS SHOW A DECREASE

Steel Corporation Earnings for Month Estimated at Over $10,100,000.

INDICATIONS FOR THE YEAR

Figures for the 10 Months of 1903 Show That $120,000,000 Is a Conservative Estimate of the Earnings for the Year.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

The estimated net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the month of October are $10,000,000 which compares with $12,852,797 in October, 1902, and $12,805,774 in October, 1901. This would indicate a net loss for the month, as compared with the last October of $2,852,797, which is not considered excessive, because of the numerous shutdowns of various subsidiary companies caused by poor business and efforts to reduce operating expenses.

The estimate of $10,100,000 is made by an official of the corporation. It is probably conservative. If the figures are approximately correct, the Steel Corporation's business will have to increase materially during November and December for its net earnings for the calendar year to exceed $120,000,000.

Last year the corporation had net earnings of $168,900,000 in round numbers. The official figures for nine months of this year are $94,013,336. Adding to them the unofficial estimate of $10,100,000 net earnings for October and the total for 10 months is $104,113,836.

In the first 10 calendar months of 1902, the net earnings were $113,975,811, so that the corporation's loss in net earnings thus far during the year is $9,861,975. It is thus shown that if the Steel Corporation's net earnings for November and December are exactly equal to those of 1902 for the corresponding months, its net return for the year cannot exceed $123,138,025. In November last year the net earnings were $10,685,966 and in December $5,846,145, a total for the last 60 days of the year of $16,532,052.

SOLDIER FIGHTS ALONE IN JUNGLE

His Foe Is Not the Filipino Rebel, but Grief for Dead Sweetheart.

DROWNS HIS SORROW IN VINO

Native Drink That Drives Men Crazy Is the Refuge of Private John H. Eglinton, Mourned by His Comrades as Though He Were Dead.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

Home from the Philippines came 108 marines to the New York marine barracks today. Mourned by a few of the rich, one comrade was left behind, a deserter, demented, in a native village, made mad, say his comrades, by a love romance that began in Chicago eight years ago and ended in a grave in Brooklyn. There were sweethearts and sisters to welcome the returned soldiers. There will be a little wreath sent to Greenwood in memory of Private John H. Eglinton.

Eglinton was a Chicago man, and the girl was Miss Laura Henson, a schoolteacher, a native of Brooklyn, who went west eight years ago to teach. The two met and fell in love. The wedding had been talked of when a tiff arose, and Eglinton, in a fit of desperation enlisted in the marines and was sent to the Philippines. Always reticent as to his former life, he made few friends. Secretly he pined for his far-away sweetheart. But he was too proud to write. He became known for his recklessness. He drank heavily of native beverages that soldiers say lead to madness.

One of his few friends at length learned Eglinton's story. He wrote, on a chance address, to the girl in Chicago. Three months later Eglinton's face was a blaze of happiness. He did not explain to his comrades the reason of his gaiety, but one of them stalled quietly. Eglinton quit "vino" drinking. He began to take a pride in himself. Regularly every mail came letters, written by a woman. Last February the letters stopped. The last one received hinted that the girl had a little touch of lung trouble. As months went on and no letters came from her Eglinton grew despondent. One still and hot afternoon a black-bordered letter came to the barracks addressed to Eglinton. It never reached him, for a friendly marine, in his rough way of doing a kindness, stole it. They never told Eglinton that his pretty school-teacher had died of consumption in Brooklyn. Everybody tried to make friends with him after that. He took again to "vino" drinking. His frantic efforts in the hot sweltering air to ward off the doubts that were besieging him were pitiable.

"John H. Eglinton" was shouted in vain at roll call one morning. He was entered as a deserter. But the marines say he is still to be seen in a native village. Mad, they say, he became a native, living as one of them. He knows nothing of his past. He wears the native dress.

"Take him home? No, sir; he is best out there. The officers do not know. We had not the heart." And that was Eglinton's epitaph from a comrade.

WENT TO SCAFFOLD WITHOUT A TREMOR

William Hays Was Executed at Uniontown in Presence of 500 Persons.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 29.—In the presence of about 500 prisoners William Hays, the murderer of another negro, Edward Perkins, at Masontown, last November, this morning ascended the scaffold without a tremor, and died in the cool manner which he perserved throughout his imprisonment. Last night he slept soundly and arose at 6 a. m., partaking of a hearty breakfast.

To his spiritual advisers he was as cheerful as ever, and as the door of the cell was opening he was told by Adjutant Trevitt of the Salvation Army: "Hays, you are now to pass into eternity. What is your last message?"

Hays replied: "I killed Perkins in self-defense, but I could not make the court believe it. But I feel that it is God's will that I should die. I was a wayward and Godless man, and if God takes this way to save me, I am perfectly resigned."

District Attorney Jones and D. W. Henderson and S. P. Boyd, who were attorneys for the defense at the trial of Hays, visited the condemned man in his cell and remained about two hours. Hays said that if the jail doors were opened and all the prisoners allowed to go free, he would stay and be executed, as he had made his peace with his Maker, and was ready to go. He asked them all to come to the execution, and see how happily a man could die. He asked that they bring in the suit he was to wear at the hanging and these clothes he displayed with as much pride as if they were his wedding suit.

DISTURBED THE FUNERAL

Trolley Car Ran Into Procession Nearly Causing a Riot as the Result.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—A riot was narrowly averted today in consequence of a Pittsburgh & Charleroi motorman's alleged attempt to force his car through a funeral procession. The funeral was that of Victor Pezzoni, formerly a leader among Italians of the valley. Pezzoni conducted a grocery store here.

When his car overtook the long funeral procession the motorman rang his gong almost continuously and it is claimed, ran his car into carriages to make them open a path. His actions aroused indignation and in a few minutes the car was surrounded by scores of angry men, who demanded that the motorman desist. The latter was defiant. Just as there were threats of boarding the car Chief of Police Grasinger and Policeman Logan arrived. The officers quieted the disturbance by compelling the motorman to hold his car until the procession reached the cemetery.

No announcement of their coming was given and no Cantonian was at the tomb to greet the soldier dead. When Mr. Morgan simply told the soldier on guard who he was and gained permission for the party to go beyond the usual guard line to the gate. The trip to and from the cemetery was made by trolley car.

ONCE PROMINENT LAWYER CONVICTED OF ROBBERY

He Pleaded in Vain for the Jury to Save Him from Serving a Term in Jail.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

AKRON, O., Oct. 29.—Far away from friends and kindred and too proud to appeal to them for aid, Albert McLaughlin appealed to the jury in the common pleas court here, which was hearing his case of highway robbery, in a very dramatic manner, begging the jurors to refrain from taking action which would place him behind the bars. McLaughlin was formerly assistant corporation counsel of New York city and was one of the brightest and best known attorneys of that city. He told of the days before his dissipation, when he was respected and had a bright future before him, and then begged the jurors to give him another chance.

"If you will only give me a chance," he pleaded, "I will reform, and will never do anything for which I may be censured. Don't send me to prison, and make a convict of me. Think well before you take action which will blight my entire life." I have learned a lesson during the past four months, and if you will only act favorably in my case, I will go out into the world and strive as man never before strove to make a man of myself and to regain the proud position which I once held."

The jury was out two hours and reported a verdict of guilty. McLaughlin will endeavor to secure a new trial, and a motion for one may be filed at once. McLaughlin may be sentenced from one to 15 years for his offense.

LIGHT TURNED ON IN CHICAGO LEVEE DENS

Horrible Depths of Depravity Sounded by the Investigating Committee.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Members of the council graft committee today probed so deep into corruption in the Levee district that they stand appalled at the result. In the mass of evidence before the committee is the fact proved to the satisfaction of the members that a criminal traffic in human beings exists with the knowledge and under the protection of the police. The investigators have before them the statement that girls and boys are stolen, sold into slavery, stripped and held prisoners in rooms until they have been led to lives of crime. Evidence in hand is said to show the evil is not confined to a few cases, but that it has been reduced to a business. The traffic, according to the information in the hands of the committee, has existed for years.

Chairman Harriman of the graft committee said today that this was only one of the various hideous conditions of the Levee district that the committee is endeavoring to make public. Several high police officials are involved, as well as the officers on the beat who winked at the crime and the system by which tribute is levied upon abandoned women and criminals.

PRESIDENT WILL AID JEWISH CITIZENS

Conference to Be Held to Adopt Plans for Relief of Those in Europe.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Further efforts are to be made by the Jews of America to better the condition of their countrymen in other lands. Simon Wolf of this city states that he has arranged for conferences between the president and Secretary Hay and the board of Delegates of Civil and Religious Rights, which meets here early in November, to consider a number of important international questions affecting the Jews. For the present, he added, "nothing more will be done regarding the Kishineff matter.

"It is understood that this whole question will be taken up by the board of delegates and also that of the refusal of Russia to accord the same rights to Jewish citizens of the United States that other Americans in Russia enjoy."

Mr. Wolf was at the state department today and spent some time with Secretary Hay. He has arranged for the formal presentation on October 31 of the Kishineff petition which has now been completed and bound and will be placed among the state department records. The petition is signed by more than 50,000 Jews.

TWO APPEALS RUSHED IN M'GINNIS CASES

Record-Breaking Time Made to Get Amalgamated Injunctions to Supreme Court.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTTE, MONT., Oct. 29.—Two appeals to the supreme court in the MacGinnis injunction suits against the Boston & Montana company have been perfected in record breaking time. The injunction orders were made by Judge Clancy last Friday, and today, by stipulation of the attorneys on both sides two big records, each consisting of nearly 400 pages of typewritten matter, were settled. The transcripts, consisting of the evidence and depositions in the case, were submitted to Judge Clancy at his residence tonight, and the transcripts were approved and signed. By this means the perfecting of the appeals was expedited by a month as regards the statutory time that is allowed in such cases.

It is believed that in view of the urgency of the situation and the magnitude of the interests involved in this state and elsewhere the supreme court will grant the motion to advance the case on its calendar.

The formal notice of appeal by the Boston & Montana company and the bond of appeal, in the sum of $200, were filed in the district court today. The transcript and briefs in each of the three cases will be almost the same and the judgment of the supreme court in any one of the cases will govern in all three of them.

BUTTE MONT., Oct. 29.—A telegram from Great Falls says: J. J. Hill is there on his way to Butte where he will meet United States Senator Paris Gibson, Senator W. A. This request will be backed by the influence of the unions of Montana by the Western Federation of Miners.

The Amalgamated Copper Company today issued another statement denying that the suspension was a scheme to boost its stock in Wall street, but is the result of adverse ruling of the court in connection with the Boston & Montana mines.

COLORED GLADIATORS HAD A FIERCE ARGUMENT ON THE GRIDIRON

COLORED TEAM'S STRONG BATTLE

East End Eleven Defeated the Parkersburg Team in a Contest Filled With Fun.

LIVELY SCENES ON THE FIELD

In certain sections of the East End last night bonfires were burning, red fire was being touched off at the rate of a pan a minute, and men, women and children were tooting horns, ringing cowbells and making all manner of noise. The passersby stopped to inquire if there was a wedding or a prize fight among the colored voters, but they were informed that the celebration marked a more joyful occasion than either things mentioned. The demonstration was in honor of the East Liberty A. C. football eleven, which had yesterday afternoon demonstrated its superiority over an eleven hailing from Parkersburg, W. Va.

The contest between these colored elevens was played at Friendship park, and the occasion was a gala one among the colored residents of the East End, who turned out in large numbers, all decorated with fancy colored ribbons and each one loaded with a tin horn or a noise-making instrument of some kind. A large delegation of white folks who had in some way learned that colored gladiators were to do battle on the gridiron were on hand because they expected fun, and in this they were not mistaken, because there was more fun and less football than was ever crowded into one afternoon. Those who went out for the fun of the thing got what they went after and then some.

The teams were scheduled to start things going at 3 o'clock, but it was nearly an hour before the officials could get the game started, and the only thing that put an end to play was darkness, for had there been a light or two scattered over the park the teams would be playing yet, at least the Parkersburg team would, because the players disputed the timer's whistle and wanted to keep on playing despite the darkness and the ruling of the officials. The captain of the West Virginians had an idea that the assembled populace did not think his players were game, and was willing to prove that they were even if he had to keep them playing all night.

When the teams assembled on the field for action there was a conglomeration of colors that would have put to rout even the rainbow. No two players were dressed alike, and how the officials could distinguish one side from the other was a mystery to those on the side lines, in fact it was to the players themselves, and at least on one occasion one of the West Virginians tackled a fellowplayer and brought him down with a crash, thinking he was the opposing player. The visiting eleven was the stylish one, and the players made a great hit with the female spectators, as almost everyone of them wore a headdress and looked the thing as they paraded about the field. The players who participated rather tried to play, center for the visitors was a wonder. He was as tall as a lamp post and wore over his left shoulder for protection something that looked like the shell of a turtle.

It was a good thing that the man on the gate announced to each spectator on entering the park that it was a football game that was to be played, otherwise the folks who paid the cash would have had the crowd arrested for false pretenses. It may be that the colored elevens have established rules of their own for the playing of the game, but one thing is certain, and that is that the article put up yesterday was no more football than a mouse is an elephant. It was a free-for-all scramble, where each player headed for the man with the ball if he was lucky enough to hold to it the other fellows kept pushing him until the officials ordered them to stop. When one player was seen to have the ball the rest of the crowd would make a wild dash for him and pile on top of the unfortunate one and remain there until the officials or their captains pulled them apart.

The East End crowd managed to score a touchdown in the first half, and this achievement was greeted with an outburst of enthusiasm that delayed the game for fully 10 minutes. The West Virginians in their joy insisted on invading the playing field and embracing everyone of their players. Hill, the halfback, who had carried the ball over, was the center of attraction, and finally he was carried down the field on the shoulders of enthusiastic rooters. The first half ended 6 to 0 in favor of the East Enders. The second half was a repetition of the first, the East End eleven scoring again, and once more Hill carried the ball over. This time the enthusiasts not only carried Hill down the field on their shoulders, but the man who kicked both goals, was included in the reception.

The West Virginians played with a desperation born of despair and might have avoided the disgrace of a shutout but for an accident to the tall center, whose duty it was to center the ball. A trick play was tried and it worked at right, the entire East End eleven piling on top of one of the West Virginia halfbacks. This left an open field for the tall man to whom the ball had been passed, but at the auspicious moment the tall fellow's nose guard got twisted in such a way as to obscure his vision, and though he made a gallant effort he could not locate the ball, and when he finally did get a peek at it the other fellows had discovered the trick and swooped down on the unfortunate like an avalanche and smothered and buried him in the ground. That was a death blow to the hopes of the gallant Parkersburg crew, and the roasting that the big fellow got from his fellow-players was something awful.

The East End eleven really won the game on its merits and deserved the victory, which was properly celebrated last night. The star player of the afternoon was Hill, the left halfback of the East End team, who scored both touchdowns for his team and whose work all through the game was the one redeeming point in the contest. ## HAS MANY PROBLEMS.

Getting to Weight and Securing a Sparring Partner Bothers Fitzsimmons.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Robert Fitzsimmons is encountering all sorts of difficulties in his training for his fight with George Gardner. The first and most serious problem that Fitz is endeavoring to solve is the weight question. Fitz at present weighs 180 pounds, 12 pounds more than the required figure at which he is to do the beam on the day for the fight.

He has the greatest confidence, however, that he will be able to make the weight. Fitz finds great difficulty in getting a good sparring partner with whom he can do his daily work. Bob will probably get Al Weinig and McVey to help him out in a couple of days, for the afternoons boxing and indoor work take up most of Fitz's time.

ENGLISH LAD'S RACE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Carrying top weight of 122 pounds, English lad won the Chicago Ridge Handicap at Worth today, covering the mile in 1:40 1-5, which, under such a heavy burden, is beyond question the best race run by a 2-year-old in the west this year. Sloyans was second, half a length back and two lengths in front of Badger Girl. The latter finished a neck in front of Flo Bob for third place. Dick Bernard, the heavily backed favorite, was hopelessly out of the weights pole and had no chance thereafter. English had run a wonderful race, being last at the first of 10 down the back stretch. Just before the Turn into the half-mile pole, however, he began to move up and fairly ran over his field. He turned for home in fifth place, then under a strong ride forged to the front gradually and finally going away, with half a length to spare. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—Formaster, 107, R. Williams, 13 to 5, won; King Ellsworth, 107, D. Austin, 6 to 1, second; Amazing, 103, Davidson, 60 to 1, third. Time 1:13 2-5.

Second race, mile and 100 yards—Attila, 104, Powers, 9 to 1, won; Ivernia, 104, L. Wilson, 4 to 1, second; Louisville, 103, Ferrell, 7 to 2, third. Time 1:46 4-5.

Third race, 1 mile, Chicago Ridge handicap—English Lad, 124, Dominick, 11 to 5, won; Sloyans, 106, R. Phillips, 6 to 1, second; Badger Girl, 96, J. Booker, 20 to 1, third. Time 1:40 1-5.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles—Hugash, 86, J. Shelhyre, 30 to 1, won; St. Tammany, 96, Gilbert, 12 to 1, second; Grand Opera, 115, J. Gray, 12 to 5, third. Time 1:46 1-5.

Fifth race, 5 furlongs—Golden Rule, 125, Adkins, 17 to 10, won; Stewardess, 86, Ferrell, 5 to 1, second; Leola Wagner, 100, Phillips, 12 to 1, third. Time 1:00.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Gleanice, 102, H. Phillips, 3 to 5, won; Martio, 97, Oliphant, 5 to 1, second; Cheyenne, 92, L. Wilson, 8 to 5, third. Time 1:40 3-5.

YALE PRACTICES DEFENSE WORK

The Blue Eleven Is Preparing to Meet Columbia's Style of Play on Saturday.

THE OTHER COLLEGE TEAMS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 29.—Fifteen men were played on the scrubs today by Trainer Murphy in order to severely try the varsity defense. Several times in succession the varsity stemmed the attack and held for downs, but the rules were disregarded and the attack renewed with fresh men every few minutes. Several times three men were pitted against first Hogan and then Rimey, because the coaches anticipate that style of attack in the Columbia game. Both tackles broke up the attacks so well that the crowd of coaches and students gave them cheers.

Bloomer, whose shoulder injury will only permit him to run, met with another accident today. He fell headlong on his wrenched shoulder and had to leave the field.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—There was another day of terribly shiftless practice by the Harvard team today and a definite eleven seems to be farther than ever away.

All of the men are in condition to go into the line-up, yet the men are changed about from day to day, and there is no fixed order on either the varsity or the second team.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Twelve hundred Cornell students marched to Percy Field today behind the university band and cheered the varsity football team to the echo. President Schurman was also along the side lines. The demonstration was greater than anything ever seen here before. The varsity did not indulge in a scrimmage today, but devoted more than two hours to fast signal work. Tonight the team, including the managers, rubbers, trainer and coaches left for Princeton. A great delegation will leave Ithaca tomorrow night to cheer on the team.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—All of Pennsylvania's varsity are in playing condition and for the first time since the Franklin and Marshall game the entire varsity was out for practice. The Quakers are well on in form as the Bucknell team is a heavy, strong and fast aggregation, and just the kind to rush the play should a cog slip in Penn's mechanism. Today's practice was secret and not only were the scrubs not required to all except the players in uniform were excluded. Much time was devoted to signal practice, Corson keeping the linemen opening imaginary holes and the backs running through the entire offensive formations now known by them.

Boston Retains Golf Cup.

OCEAN YACHT RACE IS NOW A CERTAINTY

Emperor William Will Give the Cup and There Will Be an American Yacht Ready.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Commodore Tod of the Atlantic Yacht club today confirmed the cabled statement that Emperor William of Germany will offer a cup for an ocean yacht race from the Sandy Hook lightship to the other side next year. At the request of the emperor, Sir Thomas Lipton has arranged with the Atlantic Yacht club to withdraw his offer of a permanent trophy for an open race, and the way is now clear for his majesty to present his cup. Commodore Tod said:

"His majesty, the emperor of Germany, has through Lord Lonsdale intimated to Sir Thomas Lipton and the yacht clubs his desire to present the cup for next year's ocean race, and Sir Thomas has, at his majesty's request, arranged with the Atlantic Yacht club to withdraw his splendid offer of a permanent trophy.

"The way is now clear for his majesty's offer, and as soon as his ambassador has arranged matters with the Atlantic Yacht club and the New York Yacht club for their joint acceptance of his majesty's cup and joint management of the race, the details will be announced. The essential fact is that it will be an ocean race for a cup.

The kaiser has always been most friendly to American yachtsmen, and has taken special care in making them welcome to the German regattas, in which American yachts have scored many victories. The German emperor's own racing yacht, the Meteor, is an American-built boat, and with it he has won a large number of races.

There has been much speculation on what boats would enter such a race from this side. Of course, there are the boats of the Atlantic Yacht club, which have participated in a number of long-distance races—the Eudymion, the Thistle and others—and the New York Yacht club includes in its sailing list several vessels fitted for a long-distance race. But there is little doubt that a couple of boats, one or more yachts which have not yet been launched will compete. In all probability an American craft will be built especially for the event. An American win would certainly reflect great credit on American designers who have had to bear the charge that their boats are mere racing machines, without seaworthy qualities.

The New York Yacht club has a number of vessels in its fleet which would make a good showing in an ocean race—for instance, the Resolute, the Ingomar, the Hildegarde, the Atlantic and others.

SIR THOMAS' STORY.

Gave Way to Please Emperor William and May Enter a Yacht.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Sir Thomas, in an interview with a representative of The Associated Press today said:

"The reason I telegraphed to Emperor William was that, on my arrival at Queenstown, I received a cable message from the commodore of the Atlantic Yacht club, stating that Emperor William had made an offer. That was the first I had heard of it. Knowing the emperor took such a great interest in an ocean racer and seemed to have set his heart on giving a cup for 1904, I could scarcely do less than retire and give him the chance he evidently so keenly desired, a course of action which, I am sure, all my friends in America will understand. I feel certain it will be a great race. Several British boats will enter. I hope to be able to enter a boat myself, but that is not quite decided. If I did, nothing would give me greater pleasure than to sail in her myself."

George L. Watson had declined the commission of the prominent Clyde yachtsmen (previously referred to as contemplating challenging for the America's cup) to design a cup challenger on the ground that it is hopeless for British or other ocean challengers to continue to contest for the trophy under the measurement rule by which challengers have been rated.

DICK WELLES FAILED FOR WORLD'S RECORD

Rome Repress' Gallant Horse Could Do No Better Than Break Track Record.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29.—Dick Welles, carrying 107 pounds, ridden by Tommy Knight, made the circuit of the Latonia track this afternoon in 1:38, clipping one and three-quarter seconds off the record for this course. The weather conditions were almost perfect for a record-breaking performance, the track being a slow one at its best and was a trifle dusty.

The trial was the fourth event on the card and was billed as an effort to break the world's record for a mile, which Dick Welles' Rompe Respess' speedy colt. He was sent away by Starter Holtman to a running start and was accompanied by Hardolph for the first five-eighths of the journey. The time of :24 4-5 was flashed for the first quarter, :48 for the half, when Dick Welles had put a large streak of daylight between himself and his pacemaker.

After passing the five-eighths pole he was joined by Janet Ponso, ridden by Tommy Carter, which laid alongside of him to the wire. Knight urged Dick Welles all through the last eighth, and by this time it was evident that a new track mark had been made. As the horse came back to the stand there was another round of cheering, and the turf champion was apparently little the worse for his mighty effort. ### LAST PRACTICE WORK.

Wash-Jeff Is Now Ready For the Ohio Meds.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The last hard practice of the week by the W. and J. football players was without doubt the best of the week, and one of the best of the year at College park. From 3:30 until dark did the coaches keep the men at it, and when time was called a tired lot of players filed up the college gymnasium. The coaches evidently are determined to get the men into shape for the game with the Ohio Medical university Saturday by all means. McCleary was absent from his position at left guard, but will be able to play Saturday.

A regular game was played and the college team scored one touchdown on the strong scrub. The latter team was then given the ball on the varsity 3-yard line and told to take it over. The plan back and forth got into the rushes like demons and gradually forced the scrub which had the ball, back to the 25-yard line.

THE RAVENNA RACING TURNS MANY SURPRISES

The Victory of Billy J. in the 2:16 Pace Was a Sad Blow to the Talent.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

RAVENNA, O., Oct. 29.—Billy J., an outsider, burned up tons of money for the talent today, who were backing Donald Wilkes, in 2:18 pace, and the favorite finished absolutely last. ### WILL BE FINE GAME.

W. U. P. Has Strengthened for Game With Geneva.

An interesting game of football will be played next Saturday afternoon between the teams of Geneva college and the Western University of Pennsylvania at the Oval, Allegheny. In the last game between the two teams W. U. P. was defeated, but as this was a little early in the season they expect to redeem themselves by turning the trick for Geneva.

W. U. P. is practicing hard this week and with the addition of some new players from the Medical college and the College of Pharmacy expect to put up a strong game.

OLD TIMERS SHOW THEY STILL KNOW THE GAME

Jack Menefee Pitched the Eighty-Niners to Victory and All Scottdale Saw Game.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SCOTTDALE, PA., Oct. 29.—This was baseball's day in Scottdale. Nearly all the stores were closed during the game this afternoon and every person who could get to Lauck's park was there. The park is none too large at best but today it was packed so full of Scottdale humanity that ground rules had to be adopted, making a hit into the crowd go for two bases.

The game of ball was between the temperamente of the champions of 1880, with "Jack" Menefee on the center of attraction. The game started at 2 o'clock with Menefee and Boyd as the battery for the "Eighty-Niners" and Shaner and Palmer for the Steel Heel team, with Walter Herrington handling the indicator. The Steel Heel team seemed to be suffering from stage fright, Menefee's reputation seemed to worry them, though they got what they made as many hits on their famous opponents, they failed to play with their usual dash and were easy for the old boys.

The game put up by the Eighty-niners was a surprise to their friends, and the crowd was varied in its applause. Menefee's pitching was, of course, the star attraction, but he could not let himself out to any extent owing to Boyd's inability behind the plate. Aside from this, the features of the game were Leamon and Rhinehart's batting and the coaching of Leamon and Moore, who kept the crowd in a good humor by their chatter. Score:

DO SCRIPTURES TEACH THAT SECOND COMING OF CHRIST WILL PRECEDE MILLENIUM?

LAST BUT ONE OF BIBLICAL DEBATES BETWEEN DR. EATON AND PASTOR C. T. RUSSELL

Head of the Bible House Congregation Maintains That Object of Christ's Advents Is Blessing to All.

ATTENDANCE CONTINUES LARGE

The last but one of the series of debates on the teachings of the scriptures between Pastor C. T. Russell of the Bible House congregation and the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, took place last evening at Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, before one of the largest audiences that has ever filled that auditorium.

The interest, which has been strong in the discussion from the start, has been augmented as the series went on, and when the final proposition comes up next Sunday at 3 p. m., it is assured that the crowds of last night and former nights will be outdone, if that is possible.

The Rev. Eli Miller was the selected chairman of last evening's meeting. Before the debate started 15 minutes were given to devotional exercises.

The subject of last evening was: "The scriptures clearly teach that the second coming of Christ will precede the millennium; and that the object of both—the second coming and the millennium—is the blessing of all the families of the earth."

This was affirmed by Pastor Russell, who opened the debate with a 30-minute address. Dr. Eaton followed in the negative and then each spoke for 10 minutes in reply to the other. Pastor Russell in opening said:

Christ's Second Coming Admitted.

It will not be necessary for me to even attempt to quote the large number of Scriptures which declare that our Lord is coming again. The second coming of our Lord is well established in the Scriptures by many texts, and this is not the subject under discussion this evening. The second coming is admitted by both parties. The question is regarding the object of our Lord's coming. The claim that is present is that our Lord will come before the millennium and that the work which will follow His coming will be a great blessing to the world, through which the blessings that are promised in the Scriptures. It may not be amiss to remember a couple of texts, however, which bear upon this subject.

The apostle John writes, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that we shall be like Him, for we shall see him as He is." That is the only explanation of the Scriptures; we shall be like the Lord, as we read from First Corinthians, 15, the other evening, "We shall be changed, because flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; therefore all who will be inheritors of that kingdom, who shall be joint heirs with the Lord Jesus Christ, must first experience this resurrection, change from animal conditions, which are spiritual, to the spirit of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit," as our Redeemer declared. We must be born again, begotten of the spirit now, and the resurrection power born of the spirit, if we shall share with our Lord in the wonderful kingdom which He has promised to them that love Him, this kingdom for which you and I and all God's people for 1,800 years have been praying, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven."

Again, we remember our Lord's words, "I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also." Glorious promise! We are looking for that time, the second coming of the Lord, when we shall receive this great blessing of a share in the kingdom. Our brother has conceded the point that the Scriptures teach nothing respecting the saints of God ascending into glory before any time preceding the second coming of the Lord. "No man hath ascended up to heaven, but the son of man that come down from heaven, David is not ascended to heaven," says Peter, nor any others who have died. They are waiting in death, waiting for the awakening time, waiting for the morning, when the Lord Jesus shall appear in the flesh and in His glory, and as the sun of righteousness, with healing in His beams, shall arise, to bring blessing to all the families of the earth.

What the Scriptures Teach.

The Scriptures teach that there will be wide blessings throughout the world at the time of our Lord's second coming, that is to say, following His second advent, and that these blessings are to be to all the families of the earth, and not as during this Gospel age, confined to a special few who have ears to hear and hearts to understand. "Blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear," says our Lord; there are many who have not this sight and hearing, for, the Apostle says, "The god of this world (Satan) hath blinded the minds of them that believe not, lest the light of the goodness of God should shine unto them." But the time also is promised, according to the Prophet, "when the blind eyes shall be opened, and the deaf ears unstopped, and it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God, for an everlasting sign, that shall not be cut off." We are not preaching universal salvation. We wish to make this clear. Universalism proposes that everyone shall be saved eternally. It is not the teaching of the Scriptures; which declare that "There is no other name given under heaven or amongst men whereby we must be saved" but the name of Jesus.

To our understanding none but those who accept Him as their Redeemer, and seek for the kingdom or for any other everlasting condition of blessing that God has never promised everlasting life to any except those who do form that body of which Christ is the Head, and of faith in His Son. Our position is that the Scriptures teach that in the millennial age all shall know, in order that they may believe, as the apostle declares, that our Savior, will have all men to be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth, for there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a ransom for all to be testified in due time. "Not testified to all now, because all have not the ears to hear. Whosoever hath an ear to hear, let him hear." To not keep it back from anybody; let everybody who has a hearing ear have it, and let him be blessed; but many are not in a condition to know God's proposition at present. In due time all shall have that glorious opportunity.

Which Will Come First?

Then comes the question, Will this millennial blessing and kingdom precede the second coming of our Lord? Could it do so? That is the thought that a great many have, that God commissioned the church to convert the world, and that when the church has finished this work the Lord will come and say, "Well done, as well done as I could have done Myself." But, dear friends, nearly nineteen hundred years have passed since the gospel church was first established, nineteen hundred years since Pentecost, and what do we see? Evidently that the church could convert the world? We answer, no. Thank God, there is some little reason for looking upon the world as not all bad. As our Lord said, we are light in the world, and the light reproves the darkness and has a little effect here and there; but the number on the Lord's side is comparatively small; the number of saints is still very much of a minority, and if you and I have any hope that anything we could do to bring in the millenium, it is because we have not examined the subject properly.

Consider how many are converted every year, and then tell me how far we shall be off in thousands of millions of years from the world's conversion. The number of heathen in the world is away out of proportion to the number of converts. The births, according to the flesh, keep right along, but the births according to the spirit is limited and cannot be transmitted from father to son. Even after nineteen hundred years we have no encouragement that the church is able to bring in the conditions for which we are praying. The kingdom come. The church is the kingdom in embryo, the class which God is taking out as a people for His name, and this church, when glorified with full kingdom power and honor, shall bless the families of the earth, when it is all gathered out.

It is the seed of Abraham, as Paul declared in Galatians 3. All. "Then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." What was the promise? The promise was that the seed should bless all the families of the earth. The seed is not yet complete; therefore, the blessing of the families of the earth is not begun. The glorification of this class is first necessary, then the knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth as the waters cover the deep; then the kingdom shall have come, and the Lord's will begun to be accomplished on earth as in heaven.

Allegheny Morally Good.

But let me suggest that if the whole heathen world were converted to as good a condition as this city of Allegheny—and from my standpoint of judgment Allegheny is one of the most moral and religious cities in the world—how far would it be from that condition which the Lord declares shall obtain? You haven't any hope of turning the whole world in the present time to any better condition than we have here, and no man has the power to produce any better condition now. Well, then, is God's will done in Allegheny as it is done in heaven? No, most assuredly. Then it is necessary for the Kingdom to crush out the various evils in the world, to bind Satan, that he shall deceive the nations no more, before the promised blessings shall fill the whole earth and bring the intended restitution.

In one of these parables the Lord speaks of pulling over cities. Where are they? The thought is that those who are the Lord's servants in this gospel age, if they use their talents, in due time, when His returns, having received the investiture of His kingdom, He shall establish His kingdom, and these faithful ones shall be associated in it for the advancement of the world. As the Scriptures express it, "They shall be kings and priests unto God, and shall reign with Him a thousand years."

Error About Judgment Day.

That brings us to the thought that the Scriptures speak of this work during the millennial age as a judgment work. Unfortunately a very serious error has crept into the minds of many, and they speak of the day of judgment as though it were a day of damnation. They take a great many unscriptural ideas concerning it. As Brother Talmage described it—that Christ would descend in glory and sit upon the rim of a cloud, and the earth would turn upon its axis and a few here and there would come to Him, while to the world in general He would say, "Damn you! Damn you!" An awful picture for a Christian minister to present to his hearers! There are very hazy ideas in the minds of people in general concerning this day of judgment. The Scriptural view is that it is the whole millennial age, the thousand-year judgment day, for "a day with the world is a thousand years." During the thousand-year day from the whole world is to be judged; not judged in the way that Brother Talmage thought, but with righteous judgment. We use the word judge in the sense of trial—that is what the word judge means in the text.

One must be tried before being sentenced, and this thought is contained in the Scriptural text of the word judgment. During the gospel age all of God's people are on trial, on judgment; there is the judgment day before the Lord, and we shall be required to give an account. The reckoning will be totaled up at the end of this trial, and sentence passed. It is very much the same about God and being a child instantly, but even in the Methodist church they have a few months' probation before a person will be received into that earthly church. (Laughter and applause.)

How about receiving a man into the glorified church? Do you not think that it will take time for each individual to develop character in order to become members of the little flock? Will it not need some probationary experience first? Does the Lord judge us in these various trials and difficulties under a process of preparation, to make us "meet for the inheritance of the saints in light," as the apostle says?

Past Sins Do Not Count.

When you started on your trial, when all Christians started on their trial, were they tried for the sins that are passed? Are they being tried now for the sins that are passed? No. God mercifully forgives your sins; they were committed in ignorance and weakness before you knew Him. They are not counted against you at all. As the apostle speaks of the blessing of God concerning the "sins that are past through His forbearance." You are forgiven the Lord's mercy is exercised toward you, and you hear of His pardon: "Blessed is the man whose sins are forgiven, whose transgression is covered!" Then how will it be with the world? He is the same God. He is no respecter of persons, that He should forgive your sins that are past, and should thrash all the others for their sins.

If you believe God exercised mercy toward you, and forgave you your sins, then believe also that the Lord has a similar arrangement for the world. I am not speaking of wilful sinning, understand, that is dangerous; wilful sinning will receive punishment to the extent of the wilfulness, but sins that are committed in ignorance and blindness will be forgiven because of the ransom sacrifice. Brother Talmage says of those who crucified the Lord: "I wot that in ignorance ye did it, as did also your rulers." God was able to forgive them, and our Lord's prayer was: "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do." That is the kind of a God we love; that is the God of the Scriptures, and that is the reason we have confidence in and worship Him. He is a merciful God, that He should be reverenced, as the Psalmist says. (Applause.)

The world, then, is not going to be on judgment for the sins that are past. To a certain extent every sin that everyone commits has its effect upon the individual at the time. You know how weaknesses and sins of youth have been entailed by many down to their gray hairs. You know they have suffered more or less, although they had the forgiveness of the Lord. So with the whole world. The world, in general, have degraded themselves, have in themselves the punishment for their sins, a certain degradation, and during the millennial age, when they come to the great uplifting time that God has promised through Jesus, those degraded ones will have to have much more of a journey to go before they shall get back to that justified, perfect condition which must be attained before they will be approved in God's sight.

Restitution Requires Time.

Restitution will require that time and effort on their part be expended, and this throughout all their judgment-trial time they will be required to overcome the weaknesses and imperfections until they have attained the end of the millennial age. The Scriptures refer to this day of judgment in a very different way than that which most people today regard it. The proper thought is that God is going to offer to the world eternal life, if when they come to a knowledge of Him they obey Him to render obedience to Him. Knowledge is the first pre-requisite; no man shall be saved in ignorance.

When he comes to the knowledge of the truth, and is obedient to it, in that proportion he may have divine favor. This principle is applicable now, to all who hear, and will be in operation upon the world when they shall come to know God as He really is, to know that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, to realize God's mercy, and I believe it will reach many of their hearts, and when they rightly divine between truth and error, light and darkness, the majority of people will want to choose the right! (Loud applause.)

Nothing in the Scriptures tells us what will be the proportion of those who will finally reject and how many will finally accept, but we do know that "The gift of God is eternal life" only for those who love and serve and obey Him, and those who will not have this King to reign over them shall eventually die the second death, from which there is no recovery. That was the case in the parable. After the nobleman had dealt with his servants he turned to his enemies: "Bring hither mine enemies, and slay them." Of course, we will be hundreds and thousands of millions, nearly the whole world, in this attitude of opposition toward God, for comparatively few, a little flock, are the Lord's servants. And when they are brought up in the millennial age they will be given the opportunity to decide whether they are enemies of Him or not. Then we shall find the sword of the Lord, the word of truth, slaying them; it shall discover the secret springs of their hearts and those who realize Him as their Master and accept Him as such, will be permitted to attain the full measure of favor that Lord has promised; and those who reject and resist the opportunities will be cut off, as the prophet has declared: "A sinner that is an hundred years old shall be cut off."

The Prophecy of David.

David prophesied of the judgment day in First Chronicles, xvi:31-34. Notice how David was glad there was a judgment day. "Let the heavens be glad and the earth rejoice, and let men say among the nations, 'The Lord reigneth;' let the sea roar and the fulness thereof; let the fields rejoice, and all that is therein; then shall the trees of the wood sing at the presence of the Lord, because He cometh to judge the earth." They did not have the thought that judgment would mean the damnation of nearly everybody; they longed for the judgment time, because it signified a time of deliverance and blessing. In the olden times they had their judges, who came amongst them for deliverance and blessing, and now God has proposed to raise up the great antatypical judge, the Lord Jesus and the church His body, that this great judge shall be to all the people with the wise government that is necessary for their uplift.

So we read again that "God hath appointed a day"—a future day—"in the which He will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom He hath ordained"—and the word righteousness here signifies equitable, just, in accord with the foundation principles of God's character, which He guarantees that the ransom through Jesus Christ will be made fully applicable to every member of the race of mankind. The world needs this great trial to set them right, they are not believing nearly as much as their fathers did of God, His power and His character. Again, the words of the apostle, "Evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived." He is speaking of seduction from the faith of the gospel. Higher criticism is seducing in our day, and various delusions are drawing aside from the faith. The apostle points to this as evidence of conditions at the end of the age. He writes to Timothy, "In the last days (of the age) perilous times shall come"—not the world converted and everybody on the Lord's side.

The Parable of the Talents.

Our Lord pictured how it would be in the end of the age. The parable of the talents and the parable of the pounds. The nobleman distributed his possessions to his servants and went into a far country. What did he go into a far country for? "To receive for himself a kingdom—and to return." The Lord was drawing an illustration from Herod's course, who went to Rome to be invested with authority as king; and as Herod, when he came back, rewarded those who would be faithful to him and punished those who were unfaithful, so the Lord illustrates His departure into heaven itself, leaving the talents of opportunity with His people, saying, "Occupy till I come." Then He tells us about the nobleman's return, and the calling of the servants—not the world—and reckoning with them.

I trust many of you are servants of the Lord, who have received pounds and talents of the truth, who are occupying and using these to serve His cause, and that when the Lord shall reckon with us we shall prove ourselves faithful servants, having profited by the stewardship, and may thus receive the Lord's commendation: "Well, done, good and faithful servant; enter into the joy of thy Lord. Thou hast been faithful over a few things. I will make thee ruler over many things." What will be the what? Some one says everything is to be destroyed. Not so. The world will be to rule over, to be brought into harmony with God. The knowledge of the Lord is to be made to fill the whole earth, and God is going to use instruments in accomplishing this work.

In one of these parables the Lord speaks of ruling over cities. Where are they? The thought is that those who are the Lord's servants in this gospel age, if they use their talents, in due time, when His returns, having received the investiture of His kingdom, He shall establish His kingdom, and these faithful ones shall be associated in it for the advancement of the world. As the Scriptures express it, "They shall be kings and priests unto God, and shall reign with Him a thousand years."

BOULDEN FACES HIS ACCUSERS

"Buck" Saunders' Life Depends on the Result of Markoff Murder Trial.

BOTH MEN ARE IDENTIFIED

Bridgeville Witnesses Point Out Boulden, While Others Say Saunders Fired the Fatal Shots—Bellaire Woman Tells an Alleged Confession.

The trial of William Boulden, charged with the murder of John Markoff, near Bridgeville on June 15, 1902, began yesterday morning in criminal court. Judge John D. Shafer presiding. "Buck" Saunders, the man convicted of the crime, was brought into the room on an order from court, as one witness at the morning session said positively that Boulden was not the man who fired the shots.

When Saunders was placed in the prisoners' box he was hardly known to some of the witnesses who testified at the first trial, so haggard and careworn did he look. His face was pale, and dark rings below his eyes showed that his confinement was fast telling on him. During the day's trial he sat in the box looking out of the window, and at times became very nervous.

Boulden sat behind his counsel. J. W. Holmes, seemingly satisfied with the way the trial was proceeding.

Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., who is the prosecuting attorney, sat with County Detectives Reed and McMillen, the men who arrested both Saunders and Boulden.

The testimony given by several of the witnesses was conflicting, some positively identifying Boulden as the murderer and others saying they saw Saunders fire shots.

The drawing of the jury developed a new feature. One of the first men called told the court that he had talked the matter over with other jurors, and they had hoped the trial would go over. He knew nothing of the case except what he learned in discussing it in the jury room. Another juror, after the court, when he said he had formed an opinion, that he was telling an untruth to escape service, and a third under similar circumstances was told he was not fit to serve on the jury.

Mrs. Natalia Zahar of Borland said she would know the man who shot Markoff if she met him and she was positive Boulden was not the man. Her description of the man who did the shooting in a measure indicated Saunders.

John Zackcroft related the positions of the two men, the murderer and Markoff, when the shooting occurred. When asked if he could identify the murderer he said he could. Boulden stood up at his counsel's request, and the witness said positively that he was not the man who did the shooting. When asked if he saw the man who did the shooting he said he did, and pointed to Saunders. He identified him, he said, by burns on his face.

William Walker, colored, said that on the day of the shooting about 40 white and colored people were driving to a picnic, when a shot started. Boulden, he said, rushed past him and began firing at Markoff. He said he was positive Boulden did the shooting. Before he left the stand Attorney Holmes had him pretty well mixed up, and some of his testimony was conflicting. He said he saw his friend Saunders arrested, but did not tell the officer or anyone else that Boulden did the shooting. On the date had been fixed for Saunders' execution, he said he told District Attorney John C. Heymaker that Saunders was innocent.

Calvin Winchell, colored, said he was in the crowd when the murder occurred, and that a man there said to a woman with him, "Hold my coat, I'll settle this," and gave the woman his coat. He then fired three or four shots at Markoff. He said that man was Boulden. He did not see Saunders until about five minutes later, when he saw him walking toward his home in company with William and Joseph Walker. Boulden, he said, was seen running away later with his coat on his arm.

Bessie Campbell said Boulden had come to her house and said that "he might be the man who shot Markoff."

Lillian Glover of Bellaire said that Boulden had come to her house and told her that he had shot Markoff.

John Lawton, white, said he was positive Boulden had shot Markoff. William Blunt, colored, said he saw Boulden draw shot, but did not know whether he had shot Markoff.

George Markoff, a nephew of the murdered man, said the man who shot his uncle was a light complexioned man. When asked to identify that man he pointed to Saunders.

Attorney Boyle pointed to Boulden and said, "Is this not the man?" and he replied, "No; I don't know him." He said he had known Saunders two months previous to the murder, but never knew Boulden.

Supreme Court Arguments.

Arguments were heard in the supreme court in the cases of the Iron City National Bank, E. F. Rafferty and J. P. Cappeau, appellants, an action on a note in which the bank recovered a verdict of $5,942 50; appeal of Attorney A. Leo Weil from the quarter sessions court in the case of Martha B. Morgan for legal services; John Jordon, Jr., vs. W. E. Patrick & Company, appeal on non-suit; E. R. Sullivan and wife against Jones & Laughlin, involving the dirt nuisance in Oakland; James McNeil & Brother Company against the Crucible Steel Company, an action for damages because of a boiler explosion, in which McNeil & Company got a verdict for $47,146 94; appeal of D. F. Geary, in case of O'Rorke vs. Geary, an action on a contract. An appeal was taken by Lem M. Breck against C. B. Lawton et al, a dispute over a partnership. Mrs. Sarah E. Brosher was in court yesterday. Her appeal in the suit brought against the Rev. J. M. Thomas comes up, but she has secured no attorney nor has she filed her paper book as required by the rules.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A decree of divorce on the grounds of desertion has been made in the case of Frank Hahn against Mary Hahn.

Libels in divorce were entered by Cora B. Kohl against Albert L. Kohl, alleging indignities to person, and by Mamie Benson vs. George W. Benson, alleging desertion.

The county commissioners at a meeting yesterday ordered the revised location of the Mahoy road variation in Bethel township and the Foster and Versailles roads to be permanently improved.

GETTYSBURG IS FAVORED.

National Guard Officers Have Inspected Site for Permanent Camp for Troops.

Gettysburg is likely to be chosen for the permanent camp of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, the state having appropriated $35,000 for the purpose of purchasing one large camp, so that all of the soldiers will gather in one place yearly instead of having one camp for each of the three brigades. Maj. Gen. Charles Miller of Franklin, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, passed through Pittsburgh yesterday on his way home after an inspection of the Gettysburg site. Others in the inspection party were Adjt. Gen. Thomas J. Stewart, Brigadier Generals John A. Wiley, J. P. S. Gobin and J. W. Schall, Maj. Louis E. Beitler, Division Quartermaster W. F. Richardson and State Treasurer W. H. Harris, and all seemed to be favorably impressed with the place.

About 500 acres are needed for the purpose, although there are only 350 acres at Gettysburg, but it is thought that enough adjoining property can be secured to make up the deficiency. It is the opinion that if the $35,000 appropriation is not enough the state government will appropriate sufficient additional money to secure a suitable property.

South Siders Made Matters Lively.

Philip Kerry and Walter Young of the South Side went into a pool room at Wylie avenue and High street yesterday morning and an altercation with the proprietor became a fight in a few minutes. Policeman Thomas Costello appeared, but the South Siders were too much for him, and he called for help. A large crowd gathered and word was sent to police headquarters that a riot was going on. Two detectives, a special officer and another policeman hurried to the scene and arrested the belligerents. Costello was beaten up considerably during the trouble.

DEBATE BY DR. EATON AND PASTOR RUSSELL.

No. To the Jewish nation, to whom God had promised that it should be the kingdom if it accepted the offer. But, as John said, "He came to His own, and His own received him not." Then the Lord said to them "The kingdom that was for you shall be taken from you and given to another people (interrupted with great applause), bring forth the fruits of it." What people is God going to give the kingdom to? Those whom He has been taking out of the Gentiles for it.

Dr. Eaton concluded the debate for the evening as follows:

That last attempt to destroy the force of the tremendous texts I give loses itself entirely when we remember that what the Jews refused passed right on to the Gentiles. It was the same kingdom. If the Jews had it given to them in Jerusalem, we have the same kingdom, the same gospel, the same Holy Ghost and the same kind of preaching. (Applause.) The fact is, the kingdom of heaven is a spiritual kingdom. The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. (General applause.) Ye shall not say, Lo, here, or Lo, there, for the kingdom of God is within you.

It is perfect folly to talk about Jesus Christ, a Spiritual Prince, reigning anywhere in any other sense than He now reigns in the hearts of those who love Him. The kingdom of God is not in meat and drink, "not forms and ceremonies," but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost." If there is to be an earthly kingdom there must be a commercial system about it. He will have to be here personally, visibly, and to be supported by the results of this earth, for they will have to hoe potatoes and corn, and grow cabbage, for their own and His subsistence.

Millennium Not Mentioned.

I have been reading today the Rev. A. B. Simpson's book, "The Gospel of the Kingdom," and he finds 15 Psalms and 51 chapters of the old testament altogether that do not mean anything but the millennium. I say that this is simply stupid nonsense. Why not take a shovel and throw your whole thing into the millennium? Why didn't Dr. Simpson take the second chapter of Joel and put that into the millennium? The only reason he and other millennialists don't take the second chapter of Joel is that Peter put his hands on it and applied it to Pentecost.

The Brother is going to put the entire human family on this earth. He has calculated there might be a population of 262,000,000,000 or a quarter of a trillion. That is a tremendous population, but it isn't large enough. If one calculates according to the present rate of increase the population would not be less than ninety-eight trillions, ninety-eight billions, three hundred millions, and that divided over fifty-two million square miles of the earth's surface would give each man a piece of land about four feet square—the whole earth covered with people almost as thick as they sit in their seats here! And yet people in a material world must be supported, and I cannot tell how, but they must be, for a thousand years! I don't want to go into a millennium where there is no food for a thousand years. (Laughter and applause.)

Many Other Solar Systems.

If a man knows anything he knows that this planet is one of seven or eight, and that there and others that have been or are now or will be inhabited. There are 600,000,000 of solar systems like ours, and Jesus Christ is declared in the Word to be the Saviour made all things. Do you suppose He will come down on the grain of sand of ours, and reign here, where with no eternal good could be accomplished by His doing so much thing? My Christ is too great in dignity and power for any performances of that kind. If it was necessary for Jesus Christ to go to the earth or any planet to die to save it He would go at any cost or sacrifice, but He will not go and set up a throne and be a little Napoleon or kaiser and jump around on the earth for 1,000 years. (Laughter.)

God help us to get some ideas better than these. Bring down the great Creator of the universe, the second person in the glorious trinity, and put him on a little planet like this? It was all right in the days of the early church to have such ideas, because they didn't know of any such planet. They thought that was the place were everything centered and made up their minds this was where Christ was going to reign. But when men's ideas begin to increase and they get to understand how small our earth is, and how great the universe is, they simply said: O pshaw, your millennium! Believe it if you can! I can't do it! (Applause.)

PLENTY OF FREEDOM FOR MASQUERADERS

Police Will Be Lenient With the Hallowe'en Revelers—Some Restrictions Imposed.

Three hundred policemen and special officers will act as censors on the antics of Hallowe'en pranksters tomorrow night in the downtown district. The order has been given out that everything that does not give offense to decency or degenerate to riot will "go," and between the hours of 6:30 p. m. and midnight the revelers will have the freedom of the city. With fair weather probably 10,000 masqueraders will take possession of the streets and more than 10 times that number will enjoy the fun from the sidewalks.

Preparations are being made by the Pittsburgh Railways Company to handle a larger crowd than thronged the business section last year, and extra cars will be operated until after 12 o'clock if need be. The fact that Hallowe'en falls on Saturday night, the usual night that the crowd will be a record-breaker.

The celebration will be spontaneous and merriment will run riot, but the demand for masks and grotesque costumes gives warning that the carnival spirit is even more generous than in previous years. Bean shooters, confetti, rattles, "jack-in-the-lanters" and slap-sticks have never before been in greater demand.

No objection will be made by the police to men masquerading in women's costumes or vice versa. Last year many arrests were made for this imagined abomination and much ill-feeling was engendered. Any costume which does not offend good morals will be allowed. All the maskers must remain in the middle of the street and must get through with their fun before midnight. There is a general demand this year for animal masks and some ludicrous scenes will be enacted.

NEW WABASH ROUTE.

McKees Rocks People Hear Rumors of a Change of Plans.

McKees Rocks is excited by a rumor that the Wabash Railroad Company at a recent secret meeting adopted conclusively the Chartiers Creek route for a branch from the main line to McKees Rocks and Neville Island. This route is designated by a line of stakes entering the borough near Chartiers township, crossing the creek and following it down on the McKees Rocks side to the creek mouth. Hence parallel to the Ohio river to the vicinity of the old mound and to Neville island.

A projected route, supposed to have been abandoned by the adoption of this line was one which cut across Stowe township.

MUDD WAS DESERTED BY RACE TRACK MEN

Richard Sylvester, superintendent of police in Washington, asked the police in a letter yesterday to make inquiry here for a boy named Mudd, who was abandoned here on October 19 by a party of race horse men, with whom he was traveling. The boy is 16 years old and wore a black sweater and black cap.

GERMAN STEELMAKERS PLAN IMMENSE MERGER

Hope to Compete With United States Steel Corporation by Imitating Them.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Wall Street Journal says: The progress of the scheme for a hard and fast combination of all the German iron and steel works into one corporation is being closely followed by American steel interests because of the probable effect upon our steel export trade.

Through the organization, which is called the German Steel Works association, German steel producers hope to so firmly entrench themselves that they will be able to meet the competition of the United States Steel Corporation and its independent competitors. The German concern is to embrace the entire home production of the steel works of Bessemer, open hearth, crucible or any other process, the entire purchase by steel works of steel and puddled bars and rolled intermediate products; the entire home production of blooms, billets, slabs, sheet bars, rails, railroad ties, I beams, channels and Z bars; the entire home productions of bars, wire rods, plates, sheets, tubes, axles, wheels, and tires, forgings and steel castings and steel rolls.

Each member is to participate in the distribution to the different groups according to capacity

MARKETS INTERESTING, BUT TRADING LIGHT

Tightening Money Market Discourages Speculation in New York—Pittsburgh Coal a Local Feature. Brokers Have Time to Listen to Rumors.

Inactivity marked the stock exchanges, though plenty of interest attaches to the maneuvering for position. Further shipments of money from New York were reported and the call loan rate advanced to 5 per cent. To many the money market indicated demand for crop movement, which has been belated, but others ascribed the withdrawals wholly to the desire of interior banks to get their money in hand. The troubles at Baltimore, Pittsburgh and St. Louis have reminded interior bankers who have been keeping deposits in New York, that there is nothing like an abundance of cash in vault and on counters to prevent senseless panic, or run for deposits. Their withdrawals will cause a decrease in deposits of the associated banks of New York and a decrease in reserves, but if accompanied by a decrease in loans, which is probable, this feature at worst can only be regarded as a discouragement to increase of speculation. Allowing for withdrawals the actual reserves in New York will hardly fall below this time last year and the surplus reserve will remain larger.

The tightening of the New York money market and advance in rates is more due to anticipated possible demands from the interior than to actual withdrawals. There remain loanable funds in the metropolis and the higher rates tend to keep them there. There was talk yesterday of gold imports in case present conditions continue, there being no change in the Bank of England rate.

There was pretty free selling by the bears in New York in anticipation of an unfavorable bank statement, though the opinion was entertained by some that this work might easily be overdone and result in a squeeze of the shorts. As has been noted many times recently, the leading stocks are strongly held. On Wednesday there was apparent buying by the strongest interests which are least affected by temporary bank rates, so that even an unfavorable bank statement is no guarantee of a material decline in market quotations.

More genuine discouragement was found in industrial rumors than in money conditions. Continued suspension of men by the railroads, particularly of shopmen, was construed as an indication of diminishing activity. There was a report that the Lorain works of the United States Steel Corporation will shut down very soon and that the Edgar Thomson works at Braddock will close on Saturday for the repair of engines and machinery. By some these reports were interpreted to mean a further diminution of orders and probable protracted idleness, while in well-informed quarters it was said that repairs are needed badly after continuous runs of unprecedented duration and when these are made the mills will resume in full. The Iron Age report for the week was discussed considerably on account of its less hopeful tone. But these things, like the bank statement, cannot force strong holders to let go their stocks and it must be remembered they have already been pretty thoroughly discounted in the decline of stock market values.

Trading on the New York board was comparatively light without decisive changes in quotations. Amalgamated Copper was, as usual, the most active, covering a range of 1¼ points and closing ¼ below the preceding day. Copper gossip, too, occupies much of the attention of traders and the speculative public, casting up the probabilities of compromise or settlement of the litigation in Montana. The most serious aspect of the matter is found in Judge Clancy's decision that Amalgamated has no right to hold the stocks of Boston & Montana, which, when pursued to its logical conclusions means that it is debarred from ownership of the stocks of any Montana mine. It applies with equal force against United Copper, the Heinze concern, which is also a New Jersey holding corporation, though the law has not been invoked against its right. In short, the decision questions the right of these corporations to exist, in much the same manner as the decision of the United States circuit court in the case of the Northern Securities company. This consideration, however, does not indicate that Amalgamated insiders are going to permit the stock to be hammered down. On the contrary, the tip was out yesterday to buy the stock on all dips.

The news included good reports for September from Canadian Pacific, Reading and Lehigh Valley, all of which show increases in net earnings. Canadian Pacific lost nearly a point in face of the report. Reading lost a point from the opening which was fractionally higher than the close of the evening before.

The local market was also quiet, but with a firm undertone. The most active stocks were Pittsburgh Coal, Manufacturers Light and Heat, Westinghouse Electric and Brewing. Pittsburgh Coal common sold at 19⅝@20 and the preferred at 64@64½, a shade stronger than the day before. Manufacturers Light and Heat sold from 27¾@28¼, one 5-share lot going at 27½ early in the day. Electric sold down on New York pressure and Brewing shaded off fractionally on both issues, last sales being 24½ on common and 41 on preferred. Total sales were larger than on Wednesday.

During the lull a good many propositions have been discussed by the brokers informally. One has been some means to secure uniform quotations, that is, to prevent selling at one end of the ring at a different price from that prevailing at the other end. This is an old topic with which the exchanges have long been familiar and no device has ever been found to prevent discrepancies in an excited market. In fact such things are only talked about when trading is light. One old-time oil exchange broker said it reminded him of a time when a conference of the oil exchange was called in New York to consider better regulations of the trading. The market was inactive. The speaker was sent as a delegate from the Pittsburgh exchange and was called on for remarks. He said: "Gentlemen, as I understand it, we have met to devise rules that may encourage more trading. We haven't killed the goose that laid the golden eggs, but something has happened to the durned thing. It don't produce. As I understand it we have met to do something that, if possible, will start her laying again." After a great deal of talk the Pittsburgh view was accepted, but no one present could prescribe a better remedy for the goose than to permit her to rest awhile. There is probably no better treatment now.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Reading net earnings for September, all companies, show an increase of $1,108,000 over the same month last year. Lehigh Valley September net increase $1,000,000. Lehigh Valley shows a surplus of $671,400 for the month, as against a deficit of $634,000 last September. In the case of both companies the comparison is with the closing period of the great anthracite strike last year, which accounts for the enormous gains. Nevertheless, the reports are good.

There has been some response in local oil and gas stocks to the latest advances in the crude oil market, though it has not been as decisive as holders might have wished. If they have patience, however, they may find the desired improvement in dividend account, provided some ambitious director does not soon "strike it rich" somewhere.

Canadian Pacific net earnings for September show an increase of $205,000, which is good when it is remembered that Canadian Pacific was at high tide a year ago.

Cotton bills were reported in free supply at New York and the outward movement of grain heavy.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows a gain in gold of nearly $4,000,000. The week's movement of the Bank of France shows a decrease in gold of $2,000,000, while its loan account has been expanded during the week over $20,000,000.

There have been persistent rumors for the past two days that 95 is offered for Federal National Bank stock. The last sales before the bank went into the receiver's hands were at 80, and a day after the doors were closed an offer of $2,000 for $2,500 of the stock was made, this offer being likewise on the basis of $80 a share. If buying at 95 is being tried it is thought it must be by "insiders," who believe that the report of the receiver will show a settlement exceeding $100 for each share of the stock. It has been predicted by those interested in the bank that the settlement will be between 100 and 120, the last being the price at which the stock was issued. Another explanation offered for the buying is that some particular interest is trying to secure larger holdings of the stock in anticipation of the bank resuming business. All the sales are "cash" transactions, as the stock is not quoted on change now.

Pennsylvania railroad stocks have been stronger this week than last, the vestige of doubt as to the payment of the regular 8 per cent dividend having ceased to disturb anyone. The November dividend will go to over 5,000 more stockholders than that of May, 1900. At that time there were 84,389 shareowners on the books of the company. At the first of this month there were 90,485 and it is probable that the opening of the year will see this increased to 40,000. The Pennsylvania has paid dividends on its stock every year since 1850, its charter having been granted in 1846. Up to and including 1900 the regular dividend was 5 per cent. In both 1900 and 1901 the May dividend was 2½ per cent, with the regular November dividend of the same size, but each year an extra dividend of 1 per cent was declared. Last year, however, and again in May this year, the dividend was made 2 per cent, semi-annually, thus placing the stock on a 6 per cent basis.

Maryland Steel Company has added 1,000 men to its working force. This is a fair offset to reports about diminishing orders and closing of works. The Maryland manufacturers declare they never were more busy or prosperous.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The weekly report from Supt. Larsen of the Gold Development Company's gold-bearing domain denotes most gratifying progress on avenues that are being driven. The Log Cabin tunnel has now advanced 200 feet into the zone with a solid stream of mineralized quartz on the face and everything indicative of results for which it is being driven.

Operations at the copper sheet mill of the Tamarack-Osceola Copper Manufacturing Company at Dollar Bay will be resumed in a short time. The mill has been closed down for five years. It has a maximum capacity of 25,000 pounds of sheet copy per day, and a force of 60 men will be employed.

F. S. Colton & Co. of Boston have issued a circular devoted exclusively to American Smelting & Refining. The points made by them during the past year do not indicate on the part of the public, according to a telephone message from there yesterday, the ore being identical with that which, under assay, showed from 500 to 600 ounces silver per ton.

The Denver Mining Reporter commenting on the movement in silver says: Silver prices continue to advance steadily, quotations for bar silver at this writing being above 60 cents per ounce. Within the past year shipments of silver from London to India, China and the Straits Settlements were of the value of $25,000,000, which was a considerable increase over those of the previous year. The coinage of silver by our own government during the month of September, 1903, represents $1,807,408. The coinages for the Philippines for the same month were $700,000 against $300,000 a smaller sum.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: While the local copper producer is not so heartless as to openly rhapsodize over targets that promise to materially enhance the value of his own property, that metal he can't but handle, he timely congratulate himself that the shutting down of the mines and the suspension of the Amalgamated Company's Montana holdings is a most wholesome thing for his own pocketbook. It is quite generally conceded by authorities, indeed, that the supply of copper bullion was never before reduced to a level as low that the consumer, all the while hammering the price of the metal, has been paying a long town head to supply, notwithstanding this increased use of it, and that the withdrawal of the Amalgamated product may convolve a famine that shall there be market price of copper toward a new record.

NEW YORK TRADERS DISCOUNT TROUBLES

Heavy Shipments of Money Expected to Adversely Affect Banks.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Oct. 30.

The Herald this (Friday) morning says: The rank and file in Wall street would not or could not yesterday reconcile the report of the greatly improved situation in St. Louis with the heavy currency transfers, which amounted to $1,878,000, to western and southern points. Business was very much restricted in consequence and prices melted away on selling for both accounts.

There was nothing sensational about the market of the day. The professional selling was not aggressive and appeared to be nothing more than discounting the bank statement, of Saturday, which traders expect to be unfavorable in consequence of the very extensive loss of cash by the banks.

Speculative sentiment appeared to be somewhat more bearishly inclined, and this drift of opinion became more pronounced as the session drew toward a close. A period of intense dullness and contracting business such as has been witnessed in the market for several days past is always regarded as foreshadowing one turning point, and traders appear to believe that one is again at hand. Had it not been for the trust company failures in Baltimore, the bank collapses in Pittsburgh and the runs on the St. Louis trust companies, with the turn it has given to the money market, the traders are certain that prices would have been 10 points higher.

Steel stocks were heavy throughout the day. The selling was said to be on the side by liquidators of a large loan, in which the shares played an important part. The statement of the company to the stock exchange in the listing of $303,000,000 was not generally liked on account of the fact that for the first quarter it covered only slightly more than $2,500,000 in cash as a result of the big stock conversion scheme.

BOULEVARD PLOT SOLD FOR $29,000

John M. Bruce Property in the Twenty-Second Ward Goes to Tube Works Official.

REALTY FIRM REORGANIZED

Exchange Deal of $30,000 in East End. Two McKeesport Sales — Beautiful Cemetery to Be Marketed—Building Projects on the Boards.

The articles of agreement have been signed in the sale of the John M. Bruce property in the west side of Beechwood boulevard, near Homewood avenue, and at the head of Linden avenue, Twenty-second ward. The buyer is a prominent official of the National tube works at McKeesport, and the consideration reported is $28,000. The property has a boulevard frontage of 415 feet, with a depth of 300 feet to Denniston avenue, and comprises about 3.7 acres. It adjoins the John P. Ober property and is directly across the boulevard from the extensive holdings of George Hafler. A short distance up Linden avenue is the new Twenty-second ward school house and five squares away is "Lyndhurst," the beautiful Thaw home. A part of the Grace lot had been used for years as an ice pond which is now drained. This depression will be filled and the property plotted for residence lots.

Linden avenue is to be extended through the middle of the property, giving it a frontage on four streets. Frontage on the boulevard nearby is valued at from $40 to $100 a foot, and higher prices are asked for property only a short distance away on other streets.

Firm With 25 Years' Record.

Unusual interest will attach to the announcement that the old real estate firm of Samuel W. Black & Co. has been reorganized and Neville B. Dilworth, who has been associated with Mr. Black 10 years in the business, has been taken in as an active partner. The firm name will remain the same as now, and the new firm will take charge of the business November 2.

Mr. Black is a pioneer in the real estate business, having started at No. 311 Fourth avenue in 1878. For 25 years, or until last spring, he remained within 100 feet of his first location. Then the firm moved into the Farmers' Bank building, where it occupies a handsome suite of six rooms on the 12th floor. Both Mr. Black and Mr. Dilworth have a large circle of business and social friends, and by giving their individual attention to their clients' affairs for a quarter of a century in the buying, selling, leasing and managing of real estate, they have built up a firmly established reputation for thorough, reliable dealing. When the old firm began business Fourth avenue frontage was worth $400 a foot and Fifth avenue property with a depth of 240 feet $2,000 a front foot, about one-eighth what it is held at now. Among the largest transactions put through by the old firm before the purchase of $1,000,000 worth of property for the Farmers' bank and the sale of $500,000 worth of property for the same institution, the sale of the Bank of Commerce building on Fifth avenue, and the purchase of the extensive Phipps holdings in and near Sixth street.

Two Good Sales Closed.

The final details were arranged yesterday in the sale of the two-story front brick houses at Nos. 238 and 240 Emerson street, Twentieth ward. They belonged to Joseph F. Reed and they were sold to Charles M. Robinson for $19,000. The latter immediately paid $5,000 part payment Mrs. Robinson tendered a lot 110x240 feet on the west side of North Highland avenue between Hampton and Bryant streets, which was valued at $14,000, and not $22,500 as reported lately.

Another sale closed yesterday was that of the former McGrew property, 48x56 feet, on the south side of Cedar avenue, Old Allegheny, Eighth ward. Through the agency of the Sachs Real Estate Company J. Guy McCandless sold the property to Isaac Sachs for $21,000, or $438 a front foot. The lot is improved with six brick houses.

James L. Doverty has sold for William A. Kelly of Duquesne 16 a local investor a three-story frame hotel of 12 rooms with lot 40x160 feet in Christy park, McKeesport, for $7,000. He also sold to the same buyer three frame houses, lot 35x160 feet, in Seventh street near Market street, McKeesport, for $6,000.

"Woodlawn" Ready for the Market.

The Real Estate Trust Company, which is fiscal agent for the Woodlawn Cemetery Company, will open an office for the latter company today in the First National bank building, Wilkinsburg, with W. A. Avey in charge. Since the purchase of 160 acres of land in Penn avenue extension was consummated last spring, over 8,000 cemetery lots have been laid out and a good number already sold. The company has adopted a unique feature in the cemetery bond by which the purchaser of a lot pays 15 per cent on the delivery of the bond and gets a deed when full payment is made. If the buyer dies the lot goes to his heirs without further payment, and if he defaults in payment the company reserves the right to remove the bodies that may have been interred to some other part of the cemetery. The entrance and lodge will be completed in a few days and several hundred trees have been placed on the property.

Sub bids are being taken on the plant of the Pittsburgh Stove & Range Company to be erected in Preble avenue, Allegheny. The building will be of the slow burning type, six stories high and 66x216 feet in dimensions. Architect W. Wyle Thaiman is taking bids on the water pipes and steam fitting for the brewery of the Beaver Valley Brewing Company at Rochester. The estimated cost of the plant is $350,000.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points on a fair demand from Wall street and other sources, which was encouraged by recent private Brazilian advices predicting still smaller receipts. The European cables were hardly up to expectations, and after the opening there was enough realizing to close the market quite slightly, but losses were recovered later, however, as shorts showed a disposition to cover, and the market toward the close ruled steady on a fair to good bull support. The close was steady net 5 to 10 points higher and sales were 110,750 bags, including November at 5.30@5.35c, December at 5.30@5.50c, January at 5.50@5.60c, March at 5.70@5.80c, May at 5.85@5.90c, July at 5.95@6.00c and September at 6.05@6.10c. Sugar—Raw was steady; fair refining, 3½c; centrifugal, 96 degrees test, 3.5c; molasses sugar, 3c; refined steady; crushed, 5.35c; powdered, 4.85c; granulated, 4.75c.

PRODUCE AFFECTED BIG MONEY MARKET

Consumers Are Believed to Be Practicing Economy—The Grocery Trade Better.

Produce merchants attribute the quietness of trade to the conditions which have affected the stock market lately, and believe retrenchment is being practiced by consumers, to the extent that retail dealers have been hurt, and are consequently afraid to purchase stocks with any freedom. Winter storing of potatoes has not commenced to any large quantity, nor is it generally in full swing at this time. Apples are likewise neglected, so far as any buying ahead is concerned, and so it runs through the entire list of produce. Retailers say they can notice the greater care exhibited now by their customers, who are inclined to buy more sparingly than for a month or two at the beginning of recent financial troubles, household economy having been brought into play as it has not been for several years. Buyers are hunting low-priced goods and more limited variety. For this reason there is no great effort being made on the part of commission merchants to drag consignments this way, and other markets are getting some of Pittsburgh's share. Locally prices are lower than in neighboring distributing centers, and dealers there note a tendency to send stock hitherto to other places rather than bid higher to secure it. There is enough coming to take care of demand, but receipts are not up to the average for the time of year. When the threatened necessity there would be larger receipts, for there is no lack of stuff throughout the country than could be attained, were it needed. Prices yesterday were allowed to remain unchanged, except Danish cabbage, which is higher. Grapes are not of standard quality, and are selling slowly. Very few peaches are offering.

Groceries are moving more actively than produce and jobbers report a good business. The scarcity of sugar continues to hamper trade, and arrivals are quickly taken. Coffee continues firm, with green markets strong. The messenger in the 5:10 train was confident to affect all grades of South American coffees, and Santos, Caracas and other well-known varieties are gaining in firmness. Jobbers are purchasing sparingly, and the recent advances in roasted quotations, which they believe will come before long. Canned goods are steady as quoted. Dried fruits are still quiet, although peaches show some improvement in demand.

Shelled corn is very firm and wanted, receipts having fallen off considerably of late, and prices are slightly higher, dealers asserting they would not sell No. 2 yellow for less than 52½c. Ear corn is quiet, and quotations are not changed. Hay is firmer than it was at the opening of the week, receipts for a day or two not being so heavy as they were a few weeks ago. The market has held up wonderfully well, considering the unusually large quantities of timothy that have been forced upon the amount of business done. It is estimated that this market consumes more than twice as much hay and grain as it did 10 years ago.

Butter is just about steady as quoted, while cheese is firm. Fresh eggs are scarce, and quotations are easily maintained. Poultry is unchanged.

GRAINS CLOSED LOWER; PROVISIONS HIGHER

An Anticipation of Increased Northwest Receipts Weakened Chicago Market.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—There was no important news to influence wheat prices, the only feature of any importance being the larger receipts at Minneapolis with predictions of still further increased arrivals. Opening prices were about steady. There was considerable selling early in the December option and the market started on a downward course. Trading was extremely quiet with the greater portion of business of a professional nature. The fact that the "deal" still existed at St. Louis restricted speculation and helped keep prices down. After December had reached 79¾c toward the middle of the session, there was a slight rally experienced, due mainly to reports of a fair clipping demand. Primary receipts were 1,124,000 bushels, against 1,400,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 857 cars, which with local receipts of 105 cars—one of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 962 cars, against 375 cars last week and 1,001 cars a year ago.

Corn was decidedly quiet the entire session and a weak tone prevailed. There was no export demand. The cash trade was light. Reports of yesterday, the continued fine weather having a bearish influence on traders. In the absence of any support prices declined fully 2c, December closing at 53½@53¾c. No. 1 northwestern, 56c; prime thirdly, 54c; No. 2 red, 56½c; No. 2 hard winter, 56½c; No. 2 spring, 56½c. Oats were dull and weak with the slide closing 1½ cents lower. December, 37½@37¾c; May, 39½@39¾c; short clear sides (boxed), $7 25@7 50; whisky, basis of high wines, $1 25; clover, contract grade, 12c.

PARKS ADMITS EVIDENCE'S TRUTH

Walking Delegate, However, Denied Money Received Was for Himself.

DEFENSE OUTLINES ITS CASE

Will Try to Prove That Parks Had a Right to Accept Fees from Firms in His Jurisdiction—Claims He Did Not Call the Strike at the Tiffany Studios.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The prosecution rested today in the case of "Sam" Parks, charged with extorting $500 from the Tiffany Studios Company, and the walking delegate took the stand. He flatly denied that the money was for himself, but admitted the truth of most of the statements made for the state.

Parks was sharply cross-examined by Assistant District-Attorney Rand and was protected by objection of his counsel when he was asked to explain a deposit of $11,000 made to his own account in the Garfield bank, though he testified that his sole income was $48 a week, which he received from the union.

James W. Osborne, in opening the defense, said that this was the easiest case he had ever known.

"Can any one believe," he said, "that a man about to commit a crime would sit in a bootblack chair and shout out in a loud voice: 'Send Tiffany to me; send Jerome with him?'"

The scheme of defense, as announced by Mr. Osborne, is that Parks did not call the strike, but that McCarthy did; that Parks as the accredited representative of the workmen, had the right to compel the Tiffany company to pay the "initiation" fee for the troubles they had at the Ansonia. He declared that it was a business proposition and Parks had no reason to object to the district attorney counting the money.

"Sam" Parks took the witness stand in his own behalf after the noon recess and told the jury that he was willing to have his fate with them rest on a single word. Parks admitted nearly everything that Frazee and Thackera testified to yesterday.

"But," said Parks in explanation, "I did not say that the money was for Sam Parks. I said the money went from Sam Parks to the union."

"Why," asked Mr. Osborne, "did you say that they could show the money to Mr. Jerome before they gave it to you, or that they could bring Jerome up to your house, and that you didn't care for Jerome?"

"Because," answered Parks, "it was a perfectly honest transaction."

"Did you say 'I've got those fellows muzzled,' meaning that the members of the labor union would not dare to criticise your actions, or did you mean that you had them muzzled so that they would not tell an employer the cause of a strike?"

"I meant that they were muzzled so far as their telling anything of the cause of a strike. It is the rule of the union that members must not tell an employer why they strike. The members generally do not obey the rule."

KUHN, LOEB & CO. BUY TWO P. R. R. BOND ISSUES

$20,000,000 Issued by Subsidiary Lines and Indorsed by Controlling Interests.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The announcement made this morning that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have taken over two entire issues of bonds, amounting to $10,000,000 each, of two railroads controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was significant of a returning bond market by Wall street. The issues taken over by the firm are $10,000,000 of Long Island Railroad 46-year refunding four per cent bonds guaranteed by the Pennsylvania road and $10,000,000 of 46-year first mortgage fours of Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad Company. The Long Island Railroad bonds are issued to take the place of the present unified fours, and the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington bonds are a first mortgage upon the main line of Washington, issued to defray the cost of the building of a new union depot in Washington.

The announcement of the issue of the bonds was news to the street, although the Pennsylvania report had given a hint of the issue of bonds by the subsidiary lines on their own account to finance operations local to them. Railroads and other corporations have been modest about putting out securities of any kind for some time. The news of the day was taken to show that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. believe that a better market is at hand.

TO FORM NEW COMPANY.

The Union Traction Company's Financial Troubles to Be Solved by Reorgaization.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Application was made today in Springfield for articles of incorporation of the Chicago Railways Company, which, it is said, will be the financial factor in the solution of the problem confronting the Union Traction Company and its underlying corporations.

While the capitalization of the new concern is placed nominally at $15,000,000, it is said to be the purpose of its promoters to increase it to $75,000,000 and later to a figure that will cover the amount required for the rehabilitation of the North and West Side systems.

HOUSE WAISTS—Style is everything, specially in a waist. Last year a New York store, which caters to the fashionable trade, sold us a lot of French Flannel and Albatross Waists that were beautifully made and intended originally to retail for several dollars each. A caprice of fashion killed them. We bought them for a trifle—not to sell to the fashionable folks who insist upon the latest thing out, but rather to meet the requirements of women who want something warm, neat and inexpensive to wear around the house mornings, or in the sewing room when they devote a day to the needle. These garments are well worth a dollar or more even now. Friday we will close them out for.....39c

The abatement of the flood of trade has left stranded a great many short lengths, odd pieces and single dress patterns. Friday we will dispose of this accumulation. Regular price-marks are disregarded—the prices are ignored. Some of the little pieces are suitable for fancy work, others will make pretty shirt waists, while here and there is a full dress pattern. Customers who have attended such sales hitherto will be "wise" and come early in the morning.
